Senate Passage Of Bill Predicted Without Change

Douglas Plans to Offer Amendments for Cuts — Has Outburst

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Senate leaders expected to push through today a staggering defense bill which would provide $61,103,856,030 to build up the United States' military might.

Senator Douglas (D.-Ill.), who startled the Senate with an emotional outburst yesterday, planned to offer a series of amendments to cut out from $600,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

Senator O'Mahoney (D.-Wyo.), who said he did not intend to offend Douglas, told a reporter he expects final passage of the huge bill "without substantial change."

"I do not deny there may be opportunities to save," O'Mahoney said. "I want to avoid substituting our judgment for that of the trained military experts."

Douglas Rushes Out

During warm debate on the bill yesterday, Douglas cried out as if in pain and hurried from the Senate chamber.

Silent and with flushed face, he returned about half an hour later. An office aide, Robert Wallace, told newsmen: "He may have sounded a little hysterical because he was tired."

The Senate gave tentative approval shortly later to most of the numerous changes the Senate Appropriations Committee had made in the bill, which when it passed the House carried about $56,000,000,000.

Approval was voted for the special fund of $5,000,000,000 to expand airpower of the air force and navy.

O'Mahoney told his colleagues the bill would cover "fantastic instruments by which man now conquers the atmosphere itself." He gave no clues as to their nature.

A number of other Senate committee changes in the House bill were passed over temporarily.

Before leaving the floor, Douglas had question $2,942,000,000 to expedite defense production, saying it would go to buy tools and machines for big contractors. He also criticized special flight pay for desk or administrative officers in the air force, calling this a "gravy train appropriation."

Library to Mark 75th Anniversary Of U.S. Association

The 75th anniversary of the founding of the American Library Association will be marked locally with an exhibit and "open house" at the Kingston Library on October 4.

The decision to participate in the nation-wide observance of Library Day was taken at a meeting of the board of trustees of the Kingston Library on Monday night, following receipt of a letter from Miss L. Marion Moshier of the New York State Library Association.

The trustees asked the local librarians to prepare an exhibit of the charter, treasures and outstanding volumes of the library for visitors on that day. Librarians and trustees will be hosts and hostesses to the public.

A motion was made and passed unanimously to ask the mayor to proclaim October 4 as "Library Day" in Kingston.

Other business included a report on the vacation children's story hour held weekly at the library. Nearly 100 children were entertained in the eight weeks the story hour was held. Plans were made for extending an invitation to friends of the library to become life members of the Kingston Library Association.

Two Additional Officers Are Chosen — Says Party Has Paper

At a meeting in the Ulster County courthouse, Monday night, Attorney Thomas J. Plunket of Kingston was unanimously elected chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Party, and called for a strong, vigorous campaign this fall.

Two other officers were chosen at the session attended by approximately 100 committeemen from various election districts in Ulster county, including the wards of the city of Kingston.

Attorney William A. Kelly, who has served in the post for the past eight years, was re-elected as secretary, and Holt N. Winfield, Ulster Park, was chosen treasurer to succeed James H. Betts.

A resolution of condolence on the death of Joseph Pessenar was introduced by a fellow townsman, Clarence Dunham, Jr., of Shandaken, extoling his service to the party.

Raymond McAndrew of the Fifth Ward, former city clerk, in announcing he planned a "clean, hard campaign," asked for full support in his bid for the mayorship of Kingston.

Joseph J. Carroll of Kingston was chairman of the meeting, and urged support of the party ticket.

Attorney Plunket, who has served five years, as leader, was nominated for re-election by Balthasar Vollmer of the Town of Olive, and two city committeemen added their second, Jay Fiore of the Fifth Ward and Kenneth Lang of the Seventh.

Plunket thanked the meeting for the "honor bestowed upon me," and promised to put all his efforts into the campaign.

Secretary Kelly was nominated for his post by U. Parker Decker of the Town of Lloyd and Treasurer Winfield was nominated by Wilson LeFever of the Town of Esopus.

Subscription blanks were distributed for The Kingston Daily Leader, and Chairman Plunket called for support of the newspaper, which he said would devote itself to promoting the Democratic party.

Senate Majority Leader Pays Tribute to Loyalty

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, majority leader of the New York State Senate, was again chosen county chairman at the meeting of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee organization meeting held at the court house Monday evening.

In his acceptance of the office Senator Wicks stated that while he was kept busy with state affairs and he felt that due to his health he should probably lighten his burden, still because of the loyalty which was displayed by all local Republicans he would have to put aside personal feeling and accept the duties.

Praises Loyalty

Senator Wicks in his brief talk paid high tribute to the loyalty of the Ulster county Republican organization and said that every local worker and voter had been most kind to him in the past and that he had been able to reach his present position because of the loyalty of the people of this senatorial district. He said he had felt that because of the pressure of business and his health he should lighten his burden but because of this wonderful co-operation locally he now knew that it was his duty to devote himself untiringly to see to the advancement and betterment of all of the people of his district.

Hopes Sweep in November

In conclusion Senator Wicks said that he knew he could expect a continuance of this devotion to the party and he asked for the fullest co-operation of all members of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee and he

Macy Ousted as GOP Boss; Opponent Gets Most of Votes

Port Jefferson, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP) — Former Congressman W. Kingsland Macy was formally ousted last night as Suffolk County Republican Chairman after a quarter-century reign as GOP leader of the Long Island county.

The GOP County Committee elected County Clerk R. Ford Hughes to succeed Macy.

The vote was 67,728½ for Hughes and 1,108 for Macy. Each election district cast the number of votes polled in it in the last gubernatorial election.

About 320 of the county's 420 GOP committeemen attended the meeting, and all but three of the absentees were represented by proxy votes.

The voting by individual committeemen was 408 for Hughes, nine for Macy, and three not voting. Out of the total of 69,278 votes, 441½ ballots were not cast.

Macy, long a foe of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey within Republican ranks, first was elected county chairman in 1925.

The Macy-Dewey war broke into the open during last fall's campaign in which Macy was defeated for a third term in Congress in a district that normally is heavily Republican. Macy has been under constant attack from GOP foes since that time.

Macy, who is in a New York City Hospital with a kidney ailment, sent a message to last night's meeting saying he would support Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) for President in 1952. He

San Diego Typist Swims Both Ways Of English Channel

Become First of Her Sex to Complete Two-Way Crossing — Under Male Record

Sangatte, France, Sept. 11 (AP)—California's Florence Chadwick swam across the English Channel from Britain to France in near record time today—the first woman to swim the channel both ways. She climbed ashore here as police were investigating reports she had been lost at sea.

Miss Chadwick, 32, reached France after 16 hours and 14 minutes in the water. She had started the swim from St. Margaret's Bay, near Dover, England, last night.

Crowds had been awaiting her at Cap Gris Nez, five miles to the southwest and when she failed to make an appearance, there were fears for her safety. She had started out in a dense fog and there had been no sight of her when the fog lifted. She veered somewhat from her planned course.

Mistaken for Dane

Confusion attended her arrival at Sangatte, compounded by the excitable French, who mistook her for a Danish swimmer, a woman who had not yet started the try from England.

The San Diego typist stalked out of the water and onto the isolated little Sangatte beach to the cheers of a handful of French children and thir parents.

Miss Chadwick was breathing easily. Her body was coated heavily with grease to protect her from the channel's icy temperature.

She was disappointed when told she had not broken the record set by Tom Blower of Britain—51 minutes faster than Miss Chadwick.

She boarded a motor yacht then, and was bundled into blankets and surrounded by hot water bottles. She fell asleep in no time at all, and slept all the way back across the channel to England.

She had been sick six times during the swim.

Tanker Is Afire

Key West, Fla., Sept. 11 (AP)—The 10,000 ton tanker Gulfray was reported afire off Key West today with an estimated 41 men aboard. The coast guard said they received a call for assistance at 3:15 a. m. (EST). The air-sea rescue headquarters in Miami sent two planes and the coast guard cutter Androscoggan to her assistance. Two surface craft went to her aid from the Key West Base. The coast guard said the tanker normally carried 41 men. The Gulfray was en route from Port Arthur, Tex., to Wilmington, Del. The cause and extent of the blaze were not determined immediately.

Does Some Shopping

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Frank Merrill, 95, of Glendale, Calif., who had a hankering to see New York and do a little shopping, arrived yesterday after a flight from Los Angeles—her first plane ride. "It was a wonderful trip," said Mrs. Merrill, who resides at 1246 East Acacia street, Glendale. She was met by her grandson, Robert Day, a cartoonist, of Rockville Centre, N. Y.

County Court Meets

Monday afternoon County Court met briefly but there was no civil case ready for trial and a further recess was taken until 10 o'clock today. Jurors were excused until that time. Announced as settled was No. 40, Binnewater Lake Ice Company against Knaust Brothers, Inc., an action in negligence. Harry H. Flemming for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendants.

Pilz Held for Trial

Frankfurt, Sept. 11 (AP)—Arthur Pilz, a German, was held for trial by a U. S. court today on charges of spying and sending information to Soviet-occupied East Germany on U. S. troop movements and air installations. He denied the charge and said he came here to buy auto parts for the Soviet zone police.

Two Killed In Backfire Of Scheme

Plan to Collect $20,000 Causes Blast Costing Million Dollars in Manhattan

Three Are Held

Proprietor of Business and Two Hirelings Arrested

New York, Sept. 11 (AP) — A furtive, drawn-out plot to burn a small clothing firm to collect $20,000 insurance backfired today into triple arrests after two men died in a thunderous, million-dollar blast and fire.

The victims were a city detective and one of the alleged arsonists he had trailed into a nine-story Manhattan business building last night. The structure was wrecked when 55 gallons of gasoline blew up.

Another detective was blown through a wall, and a second accused "torch" was thrown five stories down an elevator shaft, landing in the basement atop an elevator car. Both were seriously hurt.

The terrific explosion, which police said fumbling arsonists had planned as only a minor one, shattered windows for blocks around. The fire raged out of control for more than three hours.

The building was on West 18th street, just off Fifth avenue.

Charged With Homicide

Charged with homicide and arson were Al Keshner, 42-year-old president of a sports coat firm on the building's fifth floor, and two alleged hirelings, Jack Weiss, 67, and Jake Mayron, 59.

The other alleged arsonist—named as the man who set off the fuse and who died in the ensuing holocaust — was Moe Shapiro.

Assistant District Attorney Al Herman said that Keshner admitted that discouragement over loss of an account had led him to hire the gang for $1,350 to burn his plant so he could collect the insurance.

"It's one of the most unusual crimes I've seen," said Detective Chief Conrad Rothengast.

Plot Is Reconstructed

Detectives, who had been watching the four men for 40 days, reconstructed this finale of the plot:

An open drum had been filled with gasoline—far to much for burning Keshner's plant—and a fuse of cord strung out some distance from the drum.

The men apparently expected the fuse to allow them time to escape, but they failed to consider the heavy vapors escaping from the barrel of fuel.

The four men were seen entering the building. When Keshner and Mayron emerged, they were arrested. Two other detectives, Howard Phelan and James Daggett, slipped along the corridors, watching the others.

Then came the blast. Phelan said he remembered flying through a wall, and groping downstairs with his clothing afire. He managed to seize Weiss as the later tried to flee. Both were hospitalized.

The charred bodies of Daggett and Shapiro were recovered later.

Fire Marshal Martin Scott estimated damage to the building, contents, and surrounding area will exceed $1,000,000.

Broken glass and splinters of Wood littered the streets. Dense smoke shrouded the area for hours as thousands watched the roaring inferno. Thirty-five fire engines fought the blaze.

Police said the arson gang came under suspicion in early August when they first attempted the burning job. They tried again, unsuccessfully, around September 1, police said.

Will Close Troy Lock

While dredging is going on, the federal lock at Troy will be closed to navigation on September 17 and 18 between 7 a. m. and 12 noon, it has been announced by Ambrose F. Brennan, engineer in charge. The channel will be deepened at the south entrance to the lock.

Allies Drive Off Red Battalions

Adam T. Moncure Dies of Injuries

Adam Thoroughgood Moncure of Mission, Kas., and formerly of Woodstock, died yesterday in Fort Scott, Kas., of injuries suffered in a head-on automobile collision south of there Saturday morning.

Moncure, 31, was advertising and sales manager of the Muehlebach Brewing Company of Kansas City. He was previously associated with the Philippine Advertising Associates in the Philippine Islands.

In addition to his wife, Barbara Pollet Moncure, he is survived by two sons, Peter, 6, and Steven, 3; his parents, Capt. and Mrs. William P. Moncure of Shady; one brother, William P. Moncure, Jr.; one sister, Mrs. Alan Wetterau, and an aunt, Miss Gabrielle Moncure of Woodstock.

Enemy Is Chased North After Losing Key Peak

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Sept. 11 (AP)—Counterattacking allied infantrymen drove two battalions of Korean Communists off a key peak in Eastern Korea today and chased the fleeing Reds northward.

The Reds had attacked the allied troops in darkness earlier and forced a withdrawal from United Nations positions north of Inje, 25 miles inland from the Korean east coast.

The allies smashed back at daybreak and drove the Reds from fortresslike positions on the peak.

Allied troops on a limited offensive threw softening-up attacks at other Red strongpoints on the eastern front.

Traffic Diminishes

Red truck traffic in North Korea diminished Monday night after two weeks of heavy movement. In that time allied warplanes pounded Communist vehicles mercilessly and scored some of the highest damage and destruction figures of the war.

The allied attacks in the east were in the jagged mountains north and northeast of the Hwachon Reservoir and north of the Reds' old punchbowl assembly area near the Sea of Japan coast.

The Reds turned back two of the attacks. The allies broke off two others because of darkness.

Telephone Co. Is To Spend $445,000 Locally Next Year

Present Schedule Calls for Nearly 16,000 'Phones in Service Here in 1952

The New York Telephone Company announced today that its construction program for 1952 will total 180 million dollars—a 20 million dollar increase over 1951. About $445,000 are earmarked for Kingston.

Keith S. McHugh, company president, said that the program will be one of the largest in the company's history.

"It is big, and it will enable us to show real progress in bringing service to those now waiting and in satisfying present customers who want individual or two-party service," he said.

C. E. Burnett, manager of the company here, said 1952 plans for Kingston call for additional central office equipment, cable and telephone instruments. Five new switchboard positions will be added to serve 650 new customers. Approximately 15,000 miles of wire in cable will be placed. More toll circuits to White Plains, New York, Poughkeepsie and various other points, providing even faster service will be put in operation.

"Under this schedule," Burnett said, "there should be nearly 16,000 telephones in service in Kingston by the end of 1952."

McHugh pointed out that the 180 million dollar program is being undertaken on the assumption that the company's earnings will be sufficient to attract the new money necessary. "While some of the money for the work will come from sources such as sums earmarked for depreciation, most of it—nearly 100 million dollars—must be obtained in new capital," he said.

"This new money must come from people who have some savings to invest. Getting it will

Regrets Are To Be Sent On Matter

Mistake in Navigation Is Given as Reason; Disciplinary Action Is Taken

American Bomber Said to Be One Which Fired Shots

Tokyo, Sept. 11 (AP) — The United Nations command admitted tonight that one of its planes strafed the Kaesong neutral zone by mistake yesterday.

The Reds charged that the plane raked the site of the suspended Korean armistice talks before dawn Monday.

The headquarters of the Supreme Allied Commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, said Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief Allied negotiator at the truce talks will send his Communist counterpart this message tomorrow morning:

"The United Nations command regrets this violation of the agreed neutrality which resulted from the pilot's error in navigation. Appropriate disciplinary action is being initiated."

The Allied reply noted that no casualties were inflicted and only slight damage was caused.

This is the first time the UN command has admitted any basis to Red charges of neutrality zone violation. The strafing charge was the 11th by the Reds.

The Allies have denied or ignored all previous charges.

The UN command statement said a plane detected by Allied radar in the Kaesong area at the time of the Red report strafing turned out to be a U. S. bomber.

Allies Are Warned

Earlier the Communists warned the Allies to accept Red terms for resuming stalled Korean truce talks in Kaesong or "bear the full responsibility for all the consequences."

They didn't say what "the consequences" would be. But it could only mean resumption of full fighting in Korea.

The Reds want the Allies to admit that United Nations planes and troops have violated Kaesong's neutrality zone. This the UN command has refused to do. The Allied command repeatedly has denied or simply ignored Red charges that its planes bombed and strafed in the Kaesong area and that Allied troops invaded the neutral zone.

The Reds broke off armistice negotiations Aug. 23, charging that an Allied plane bombed the conference site the previous night.

The Reds' warning Tuesday came in a 3,000-word statement by their truce delegation at Kaesong. It was broadcast over the Red China's Peiping radio.

Reds Dodge Answer

It dodged answering the latest proposal of the supreme Allied Commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, that truce talks be resumed in some incident-proof location. But it hinted the suggestion was unacceptable.

The Red statement was broadcast for four and one-half hours. It said Ridgway merely was trying to "play a new trick."

The broadcast said the United Nations "should deal in a responsible manner with the series of provocative incidents created by them instead of raising the demand for changing the conference site with the aim of diverting attention from the settlement" of the Red neutrality violation charges.

"If they are not sincere in wanting the resumption of the negotiations, then their demand for transferring the conference site only serves to prove that they are creating a pretext for breaking off the negotiations."

Trying to Goad UN

Authorities here presumed the Reds were trying to goad the UN command into taking an overt step that would explode all hopes of resuming the talks.

A typical shot from the statement:

Contract Awarded For Bridge Borings

New York Concern Bids $32,803; Work Will Start at Once

A contract for making test borings and securing samples at the site of the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge was awarded on Monday by the New York State Bridge Authority to Giles Drilling Corporation, 2 Park avenue, New York.

The Giles Corporation bid of $32,803 was the lower of two bids submitted on the contract. The other bidder was Sprague and Henwood of Scranton, Pa.

The award was made at a meeting of Bridge Authority members held Monday afternoon. Work on the contract is scheduled to start immediately under the terms of the contract.

The project includes the making of test borings, securing samples "and other work incidental thereto in and adjacent to the Hudson river at the site of the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge" about three and one-half miles north of Kingston Point, the Bridge Authority stated in its advertisement for bids.

Telephone Rate Boost Hit By Federal Utilities Aide

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—A representative of the federal government contends that the New York Telephone Company's proposed rate bost of $57,000,000 is too high.

David A. Kosh, assistant to the Administration of the Public Utilities Branch of the General Services Administration, testified yesterday at a Public Service Commission hearing on the requested rates.

Kosh said he considered that a rate return between 5.25 and 5.75 per cent would be fair for the company.

Company witnesses previously testified that an eight per cent return was necessary and justified.

Kosh did not indicate what rate increase, if any, would be produced through his recommendations.

A spokesman for the company said the General Services Administration was concerned about the proposed rate boosts because of possible effects on the federal government's phone bill.

The company contends that the higher rates are needed to meet increases in wages, taxes and the cost of materias and supplies.

It petitioned the PSC last January for authority to boost rates by a total of $44,000,000, and last month asked for $13,000,000 more.

The $57,000,000 increase would add 75 cents a month to residen-

San Diego Typist Swims Both Ways Of English Channel

Become First of Her Sex to Complete Two-Way Crossing — Under Male Record

Sangatte, France, Sept. 11 (AP)—California's Florence Chadwick swam across the English Channel from Britain to France in near record time today—the first woman to swim the channel both ways. She climbed ashore here as police were investigating reports she had been lost at sea.

Miss Chadwick, 32, reached France after 16 hours and 14 minutes in the water. She had started the swim from St. Margaret's Bay, near Dover, England, last night.

Crowds had been awaiting her at Cap Gris Nez, five miles to the southwest and when she failed to make an appearance, there were fears for her safety. She had started out in a dense fog and there had been no sight of her when the fog lifted. She veered somewhat from her planned course.

Mistaken for Dane

Confusion attended her arrival at Sangatte, compounded by the excitable French, who mistook her for a Danish swimmer, a woman who had not yet started the try from England.

The San Diego typist stalked out of the water and onto the isolated little Sangatte beach to the cheers of a handful of French children and thir parents.

Miss Chadwick was breathing easily. Her body was coated heavily with grease to protect her from the channel's icy temperature.

She was disappointed when told she had not broken the record set by Tom Blower of Britain—51 minutes faster than Miss Chadwick.

She boarded a motor yacht then, and was bundled into blankets and surrounded by hot water bottles. She fell asleep in no time at all, and slept all the way back across the channel to England.

She had been sick six times during the swim.

Tanker Is Afire

Key West, Fla., Sept. 11 (AP)—The 10,000 ton tanker Gulfray was reported afire off Key West today with an estimated 41 men aboard. The coast guard said they received a call for assistance at 3:15 a. m. (EST). The air-sea rescue headquarters in Miami sent two planes and the coast guard cutter Androscoggan to her assistance. Two surface craft went to her aid from the Key West Base. The coast guard said the tanker normally carried 41 men. The Gulfray was en route from Port Arthur, Tex., to Wilmington, Del. The cause and extent of the blaze were not determined immediately.

Does Some Shopping

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Frank Merrill, 95, of Glendale, Calif., who had a hankering to see New York and do a little shopping, arrived yesterday after a flight from Los Angeles—her first plane ride. "It was a wonderful trip," said Mrs. Merrill, who resides at 1246 East Acacia street, Glendale. She was met by her grandson, Robert Day, a cartoonist, of Rockville Centre, N. Y.

Two Killed In Backfire Of Scheme

Three Are Held

Proprietor of Business and Two Hirelings Arrested

New York, Sept. 11 (AP) — A furtive, drawn-out plot to burn a small clothing firm to collect $20,000 insurance backfired today into triple arrests after two men died in a thunderous, million-dollar blast and fire.

The victims were a city detective and one of the alleged arsonists he had trailed into a nine-story Manhattan business building last night. The structure was wrecked when 55 gallons of gasoline blew up.

Another detective was blown through a wall, and a second accused "torch" was thrown five stories down an elevator shaft, landing in the basement atop an elevator car. Both were seriously hurt.

The terrific explosion, which police said fumbling arsonists had planned as only a minor one, shattered windows for blocks around. The fire raged out of control for more than three hours.

The building was on West 18th street, just off Fifth avenue.

Charged With Homicide

Charged with homicide and arson were Al Keshner, 42-year-old president of a sports coat firm on the building's fifth floor, and two alleged hirelings, Jack Weiss, 67, and Jake Mayron, 59.

The other alleged arsonist—named as the man who set off the fuse and who died in the ensuing holocaust — was Moe Shapiro.

Assistant District Attorney Al Herman said that Keshner admitted that discouragement over loss of an account had led him to hire the gang for $1,350 to burn his plant so he could collect the insurance.

"It's one of the most unusual crimes I've seen," said Detective Chief Conrad Rothengast.

Plot Is Reconstructed

Detectives, who had been watching the four men for 40 days, reconstructed this finale of the plot:

An open drum had been filled with gasoline—far to much for burning Keshner's plant—and a fuse of cord strung out some distance from the drum.

The men apparently expected the fuse to allow them time to escape, but they failed to consider the heavy vapors escaping from the barrel of fuel.

The four men were seen entering the building. When Keshner and Mayron emerged, they were arrested. Two other detectives, Howard Phelan and James Daggett, slipped along the corridors, watching the others.

Then came the blast. Phelan said he remembered flying through a wall, and groping downstairs with his clothing afire. He managed to seize Weiss as the later tried to flee. Both were hospitalized.

The charred bodies of Daggett and Shapiro were recovered later.

Fire Marshal Martin Scott estimated damage to the building, contents, and surrounding area will exceed $1,000,000.

Broken glass and splinters of Wood littered the streets. Dense smoke shrouded the area for hours as thousands watched the roaring inferno. Thirty-five fire engines fought the blaze.

Police said the arson gang came under suspicion in early August when they first attempted the burning job. They tried again, unsuccessfully, around September 1, police said.

Telephone Co. Is To Spend $445,000 Locally Next Year

Present Schedule Calls for Nearly 16,000 'Phones in Service Here in 1952

The New York Telephone Company announced today that its construction program for 1952 will total 180 million dollars—a 20 million dollar increase over 1951. About $445,000 are earmarked for Kingston.

Keith S. McHugh, company president, said that the program will be one of the largest in the company's history.

"It is big, and it will enable us to show real progress in bringing service to those now waiting and in satisfying present customers who want individual or two-party service," he said.

C. E. Burnett, manager of the company here, said 1952 plans for Kingston call for additional central office equipment, cable and telephone instruments. Five new switchboard positions will be added to serve 650 new customers. Approximately 15,000 miles of wire in cable will be placed. More toll circuits to White Plains, New York, Poughkeepsie and various other points, providing even faster service will be put in operation.

"Under this schedule," Burnett said, "there should be nearly 16,000 telephones in service in Kingston by the end of 1952."

McHugh pointed out that the 180 million dollar program is being undertaken on the assumption that the company's earnings will be sufficient to attract the new money necessary. "While some of the money for the work will come from sources such as sums earmarked for depreciation, most of it—nearly 100 million dollars—must be obtained in new capital," he said.

"This new money must come from people who have some savings to invest. Getting it will

Enemy Is Chased North After Losing Key Peak

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Sept. 11 (AP)—Counterattacking allied infantrymen drove two battalions of Korean Communists off a key peak in Eastern Korea today and chased the fleeing Reds northward.

The Reds had attacked the allied troops in darkness earlier and forced a withdrawal from United Nations positions north of Inje, 25 miles inland from the Korean east coast.

The allies smashed back at daybreak and drove the Reds from fortresslike positions on the peak.

Allied troops on a limited offensive threw softening-up attacks at other Red strongpoints on the eastern front.

Traffic Diminishes

Red truck traffic in North Korea diminished Monday night after two weeks of heavy movement. In that time allied warplanes pounded Communist vehicles mercilessly and scored some of the highest damage and destruction figures of the war.

The allied attacks in the east were in the jagged mountains north and northeast of the Hwachon Reservoir and north of the Reds' old punchbowl assembly area near the Sea of Japan coast.

The Reds turned back two of the attacks. The allies broke off two others because of darkness.

New York Concern Bids $32,803; Work Will Start at Once

A contract for making test borings and securing samples at the site of the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge was awarded on Monday by the New York State Bridge Authority to Giles Drilling Corporation, 2 Park avenue, New York.

The Giles Corporation bid of $32,803 was the lower of two bids submitted on the contract. The other bidder was Sprague and Henwood of Scranton, Pa.

The award was made at a meeting of Bridge Authority members held Monday afternoon. Work on the contract is scheduled to start immediately, under the terms of the contract.

The project includes the making of test borings, securing samples "and other work incidental thereto in and adjacent to the Hudson river at the site of the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge" about three and one-half miles north of Kingston Point, the Bridge Authority stated in its advertisement for bids.

American Bomber Said to Be One Which Fired Shots

Tokyo, Sept. 11 (AP) — The United Nations command admitted tonight that one of its planes strafed the Kaesong neutral zone by mistake yesterday.

The headquarters of the Supreme Allied Commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, said Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief Allied negotiator at the truce talks will send his Communist counterpart this message tomorrow morning:

"The United Nations command regrets this violation of the agreed neutrality which resulted from the pilot's error in navigation. Appropriate disciplinary action is being initiated."

The Allied reply noted that no casualties were inflicted and only slight damage was caused.

This is the first time the UN command has admitted any basis to Red charges of neutrality zone violation. The strafing charge was the 11th by the Reds.

The Allies have denied or ignored all previous charges.

The UN command statement said a plane detected by Allied radar in the Kaesong area at the time of the Red-report strafing turned out to be a U. S. bomber.

Allies Are Warned

Earlier the Communists warned the Allies to accept Red terms for resuming stalled Korean truce talks in Kaesong or "bear the full responsibility for all the consequences."

They didn't say what "the consequences" would be. But it could only mean resumption of full fighting in Korea.

The Reds want the Allies to admit that United Nations planes and troops have violated Kaesong's neutrality zone. This the UN command has refused to do. The Allied command repeatedly has denied or simply ignored Red charges that its planes bombed and strafed in the Kaesong area and that Allied troops invaded the neutral zone.

The Reds broke off armistice negotiations Aug. 23, charging that an Allied plane bombed the conference site the previous night.

The Reds' warning Tuesday came in a 3,000-word statement by their truce delegation at Kaesong. It was broadcast over the Red China's Peiping radio.

Reds Dodge Answer

It dodged answering the latest proposal of the supreme Allied Commander, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, that truce talks be resumed in some incident-proof location. But it hinted the suggestion was unacceptable.

The Red statement was broadcast for four and one-half hours. It said Ridgway merely was trying to "play a new trick."

The broadcast said the United Nations "should deal in a responsible manner with the series of provocative incidents created by them instead of raising the demand for changing the conference site with the aim of diverting attention from the settlement" of the Red neutrality violation charges.

"If they are not sincere in wanting the resumption of the negotiations, then their demand for transferring the conference site only serves to prove that they are creating a pretext for breaking off the negotiations."

Trying to Goad UN

Macy Ousted as GOP Boss; Opponent Gets Most of Votes

Port Jefferson, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP) — Former Congressman W. Kingsland Macy was formally ousted last night as Suffolk County Republican Chairman after a quarter-century reign as GOP leader of the Long Island county.

The GOP County Committee elected County Clerk R. Ford Hughes to succeed Macy.

The vote was 67,728½ for Hughes and 1,108 for Macy. Each election district cast the number of votes polled in it in the last gubernatorial election.

About 320 of the county's 420 GOP committeemen attended the meeting, and all but three of the absentees were represented by proxy votes.

The voting by individual committeemen was 408 for Hughes, nine for Macy, and three not voting. Out of the total of 69,278 votes, 441½ ballots were not cast.

Macy, long a foe of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey within Republican ranks, first was elected county chairman in 1925.

The Macy-Dewey war broke into the open during last fall's campaign in which Macy was defeated for a third term in Congress in a district that normally is heavily Republican. Macy has been under constant attack from GOP foes since that time.

Macy, who is in a New York City Hospital with a kidney ailment, sent a message to last night's meeting saying he would support Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) for President in 1952. He

Telephone Rate Boost Hit By Federal Utilities Aide

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—A representative of the federal government contends that the New York Telephone Company's proposed rate bost of $57,000,000 is too high.

David A. Kosh, assistant to the Administration of the Public Utilities Branch of the General Services Administration, testified yesterday at a Public Service Commission hearing on the requested rates.

Kosh said he considered that a rate return between 5.25 and 5.75 per cent would be fair for the company.

Company witnesses previously testified that an eight per cent return was necessary and justified.

Kosh did not indicate what rate increase, if any, would be produced through his recommendations.

A spokesman for the company said the General Services Administration was concerned about the proposed rate boosts because of possible effects on the federal government's phone bill.

The company contends that the higher rates are needed to meet increases in wages, taxes and the cost of materias and supplies.

It petitioned the PSC last January for authority to boost rates by a total of $44,000,000, and last month asked for $13,000,000 more.

The $57,000,000 increase would add 75 cents a month to residen-

Senate Passage Of Bill Predicted Without Change

Douglas Plans to Offer Amendments for Cuts — Has Outburst

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Senate leaders expected to push through today a staggering defense bill which would provide $61,103,856,030 to build up the United States' military might.

Senator Douglas (D.-Ill.), who startled the Senate with an emotional outburst yesterday, planned to offer a series of amendments to cut out from $600,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

Senator O'Mahoney (D.-Wyo.), who said he did not intend to offend Douglas, told a reporter he expects final passage of the huge bill "without substantial change."

"I do not deny there may be opportunities to save," O'Mahoney said. "I want to avoid substituting our judgment for that of the trained military experts."

Douglas Rushes Out

During warm debate on the bill yesterday, Douglas cried out as if in pain and hurried from the Senate chamber.

Silent and with flushed face, he returned about half an hour later. An office aide, Robert Wallace, told newsmen: "He may have sounded a little hysterical because he was tired."

The Senate gave tentative approval shortly later to most of the numerous changes the Senate Appropriations Committee had made in the bill, which when it passed the House carried about $56,000,000,000.

Approval was voted for the special fund of $5,000,000,000 to expand airpower of the air force and navy.

O'Mahoney told his colleagues the bill would cover "fantastic instruments by which man now conquers the atmosphere itself." He gave no clues as to their nature.

A number of other Senate committee changes in the House bill were passed over temporarily.

Before leaving the floor, Douglas had question $2,942,000,000 to expedite defense production, saying it would go to buy tools and machines for big contractors. He also criticized special flight pay for desk or administrative officers in the air force, calling this a "gravy train appropriation."

Library to Mark 75th Anniversary Of U.S. Association

The 75th anniversary of the founding of the American Library Association will be marked locally with an exhibit and "open house" at the Kingston Library on October 4.

The decision to participate in the nation-wide observance of Library Day was taken at a meeting of the board of trustees of the Kingston Library on Monday night, following receipt of a letter from Miss L. Marion Moshier of the New York State Library Association.

The trustees asked the local librarians to prepare an exhibit of the charter, treasures and outstanding volumes of the library for visitors on that day. Librarians and trustees will be hosts and hostesses to the public.

A motion was made and passed unanimously to ask the mayor to proclaim October 4 as "Library Day" in Kingston.

Other business included a report on the vacation children's story hour held weekly at the library. Nearly 100 children were entertained in the eight weeks the story hour was held. Plans were made for extending an invitation to friends of the library to become life members of the Kingston Library Association.

Plunket Renamed By Area Democrats

Two Additional Officers Are Chosen — Says Party Has Paper

At a meeting in the Ulster County courthouse, Monday night, Attorney Thomas J. Plunket of Kingston was unanimously elected chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Party, and called for a strong, vigorous campaign this fall.

Two other officers were chosen at the session attended by approximately 100 committeemen from various election districts in Ulster county, including the wards of the city of Kingston.

Attorney William A. Kelly, who has served in the post for the past eight years, was re-elected as secretary, and Holt N. Winfield, Ulster Park, was chosen treasurer to succeed James H. Betts.

A resolution of condolence on the death of Joseph Pessenar was introduced by a fellow townsman, Clarence Dunham, Jr., of Shandaken, extoling his service to the party.

Raymond McAndrew of the Fifth Ward, former city clerk, in announcing he planned a "clean, hard campaign," asked for full support in his bid for the mayorship of Kingston.

Joseph J. Carroll of Kingston was chairman of the meeting, and urged support of the party ticket.

Attorney Plunket, who has served five years, as leader, was nominated for re-election by Balthasar Vollmer of the Town of Olive, and two city committeemen added their second, Jay Fiore of the Fifth Ward and Kenneth Lang of the Seventh.

Plunket thanked the meeting for the "honor bestowed upon me," and promised to put all his efforts into the campaign.

Secretary Kelly was nominated for his post by U. Parker Decker of the Town of Lloyd and Treasurer Winfield was nominated by Wilson LeFever of the Town of Esopus.

Subscription blanks were distributed for The Kingston Daily Leader, and Chairman Plunket called for support of the newspaper, which he said would devote itself to promoting the Democratic party.

Senate Majority Leader Pays Tribute to Loyalty

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, majority leader of the New York State Senate, was again chosen county chairman at the meeting of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee organization meeting held at the court house Monday evening.

In his acceptance of the office Senator Wicks stated that while he was kept busy with state affairs and he felt that due to his health he should probably lighten his burden, still because of the loyalty which was displayed by all local Republicans he would have to put aside personal feeling and accept the duties.

Praises Loyalty

Senator Wicks in his brief talk paid high tribute to the loyalty of the Ulster county Republican organization and said that every local worker and voter had been most kind to him in the past and that he had been able to reach his present position because of the loyalty of the people of this senatorial district. He said he had felt that because of the pressure of business and his health he should lighten his burden but because of this wonderful co-operation locally he now knew that it was his duty to devote himself untiringly to see to the advancement and betterment of all of the people of his district.

Hopes Sweep in November

In conclusion Senator Wicks said that he knew he could expect a continuance of this devotion to the party and he asked for the fullest co-operation of all members of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee and he

Tanker Is Afire

Key West, Fla., Sept. 11 (AP)—The 10,000 ton tanker Gulfray was reported afire off Key West today with an estimated 41 men aboard. The coast guard said they received a call for assistance at 3:15 a. m. (EST). The air-sea rescue headquarters in Miami sent two planes and the coast guard cutter Androscoggan to her assistance. Two surface craft went to her aid from the Key West Base. The coast guard said the tanker normally carried 41 men. The Gulfray was en route from Port Arthur, Tex., to Wilmington, Del. The cause and extent of the blaze were not determined immediately.

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Frank Merrill, 95, of Glendale, Calif., who had a hankering to see New York and do a little shopping, arrived yesterday after a flight from Los Angeles—her first plane ride. "It was a wonderful trip," said Mrs. Merrill, who resides at 1246 East Acacia street, Glendale. She was met by her grandson, Robert Day, a cartoonist, of Rockville Centre, N. Y.

County Court Meets

Monday afternoon County Court met briefly but there was no civil case ready for trial and a further recess was taken until 10 o'clock today. Jurors were excused until that time. Announced as settled was No. 40, Binnewater Lake Ice Company against Knaust Brothers, Inc., an action in negligence. Harry H. Flemming for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendants.

Pilz Held for Trial

Frankfurt, Sept. 11 (AP)—Arthur Pilz, a German, was held for trial by a U. S. court today on charges of spying and sending information to Soviet-occupied East Germany on U. S. troop movements and air installations. He denied the charge and said he came here to buy auto parts for the Soviet zone police.

Macy Ousted as GOP Boss; Opponent Gets Most of Votes

Port Jefferson, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP) — Former Congressman W. Kingsland Macy was formally ousted last night as Suffolk County Republican Chairman after a quarter-century reign as GOP leader of the Long Island county.

The GOP County Committee elected County Clerk R. Ford Hughes to succeed Macy.

The vote was 67,728½ for Hughes and 1,108 for Macy. Each election district cast the number of votes polled in it in the last gubernatorial election.

About 320 of the county's 420 GOP committeemen attended the meeting, and all but three of the absentees were represented by proxy votes.

The voting by individual committeemen was 408 for Hughes, nine for Macy, and three not voting. Out of the total of 69,278 votes, 441½ ballots were not cast.

Macy, long a foe of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey within Republican ranks, first was elected county chairman in 1925.

The Macy-Dewey war broke into the open during last fall's campaign in which Macy was defeated for a third term in Congress in a district that normally is heavily Republican. Macy has been under constant attack from GOP foes since that time.

Macy, who is in a New York City Hospital with a kidney ailment, sent a message to last night's meeting saying he would support Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) for President in 1952. He

Telephone Co. Is To Spend $445,000 Locally Next Year

Present Schedule Calls for Nearly 16,000 'Phones in Service Here in 1952

The New York Telephone Company announced today that its construction program for 1952 will total 180 million dollars—a 20 million dollar increase over 1951. About $445,000 are earmarked for Kingston.

Keith S. McHugh, company president, said that the program will be one of the largest in the company's history.

"It is big, and it will enable us to show real progress in bringing service to those now waiting and in satisfying present customers who want individual or two-party service," he said.

C. E. Burnett, manager of the company here, said 1952 plans for Kingston call for additional central office equipment, cable and telephone instruments. Five new switchboard positions will be added to serve 650 new customers. Approximately 15,000 miles of wire in cable will be placed. More toll circuits to White Plains, New York, Poughkeepsie and various other points, providing even faster service will be put in operation.

"Under this schedule," Burnett said, "there should be nearly 16,000 telephones in service in Kingston by the end of 1952."

McHugh pointed out that the 180 million dollar program is being undertaken on the assumption that the company's earnings will be sufficient to attract the new money necessary. "While some of the money for the work will come from sources such as sums earmarked for depreciation, most of it—nearly 100 million dollars—must be obtained in new capital," he said.

"This new money must come from people who have some savings to invest. Getting it will

New York Concern Bids $32,803; Work Will Start at Once

A contract for making test borings and securing samples at the site of the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge was awarded on Monday by the New York State Bridge Authority to Giles Drilling Corporation, 2 Park avenue, New York.

The Giles Corporation bid of $32,803 was the lower of two bids submitted on the contract. The other bidder was Sprague and Henwood of Scranton, Pa.

The award was made at a meeting of Bridge Authority members held Monday afternoon. Work on the contract is scheduled to start immediately, under the terms of the contract.

The project includes the making of test borings, securing samples "and other work incidental thereto in and adjacent to the Hudson river at the site of the proposed Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge" about three and one-half miles north of Kingston Point, the Bridge Authority stated in its advertisement for bids.

Telephone Rate Boost Hit By Federal Utilities Aide

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—A representative of the federal government contends that the New York Telephone Company's proposed rate bost of $57,000,000 is too high.

David A. Kosh, assistant to the Administration of the Public Utilities Branch of the General Services Administration, testified yesterday at a Public Service Commission hearing on the requested rates.

Kosh said he considered that a rate return between 5.25 and 5.75 per cent would be fair for the company.

Company witnesses previously testified that an eight per cent return was necessary and justified.

Kosh did not indicate what rate increase, if any, would be produced through his recommendations.

A spokesman for the company said the General Services Administration was concerned about the proposed rate boosts because of possible effects on the federal government's phone bill.

The company contends that the higher rates are needed to meet increases in wages, taxes and the cost of materias and supplies.

It petitioned the PSC last January for authority to boost rates by a total of $44,000,000, and last month asked for $13,000,000 more.

The $57,000,000 increase would add 75 cents a month to residen-

60,000 Red Cells Will Go on Pin; You Have Billions

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Reporter)

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—In the last hour, the marrow in your bones produced 10-billion red blood cells.

Each is a tiny living chemical factory. You could put 60,000 on the head of a pin.

Each lives about three months, carrying oxygen, doing other jobs to keep you healthy. Then it gives way to a replacement.

Beside them ride the white cells, the disease fighters and janitors of the bloodstream. They're outnumbered by red cells 600 to 1, and each lives apparently for only a day or so.

Besides them are platelets, colorless cells that help thicken or coagulate blood after an injury.

Besides all of them, the mystery river of blood contains proteins, of many kinds, with many tasks, and many bold new uses now as separate medicines extracted from blood.

Hormones Are Carried

In your blood are carried hormones, that govern sex, growth, brain activity. Through your blood goes food, vitamins and enzymes, the chemical regulators of bodily processes. Blood contains salt, sugar, and minerals.

What else there may be, medical science doesn't know yet. It knows that blood is about 90 per cent water. Science can make the water. It's about the only thing in blood that science can make.

This miracle fluid, obtainable only from human donors, is in bigger demand every year, and in many forms.

Whole blood is the best medicine. It sees people through operations, saves wounded soldiers, the mangled from accidents, women in childbirth. It is given before operations to build up strength, or afterward to fight shock and speed recovery.

The main drawback is storage time. It can be banked only for three or four weeks. The continual death of red cells and other changes rob it of potency and and may make it unsafe for use.

But it's not wasted. Unused blood is turned into plasma.

Taken Out by Blood

Red and white cells and platelets are taken out by whirling the blood in a centrifuge. Remaining is the plasma, the fluid part of blood, with its proteins. This accounts for 55 per cent of total blood volume, and 92 per cent of it if water.

Plasma can be dried and stored for five years, or indefinitely by reprocessing it again. The five-year limit is set to avoid any chemical changes from rubber stoppers or the glass of bottles.

Plasma, mixed with sterile water, is a quick shock-fighter, to restore blood volume. It doesn't have to be matched in blood type like whole blood. You don't get nourishing red cells or disease-fighting white cells. You do get the amazing proteins carried in plasma.

These proteins can be taken out, made into distinct medicines.

New research promises ways of storing whole blood for 60 days, or even longer. White cells can be kept alive for fairly long periods. Someday they may help A-bomb victims whose own production of white cells has been knocked out temporarily by radiation, making them easier prey for infectious diseases.

The Red Cross and Department of Defense now are seeking about 4,500,000 million pints of the miracle fluid each year. It's needed for soldiers in Korea, for civilians in hospitals at home, and to create reserves of millions of units or pints of plasma for soldiers in case of a great war, and for civilians if cities, are A-bombed.

The giving is simple, safe and painless. Very quickly your own body makes up the lost pint, and all its parts. People from 18 to 59 years of age can donate, and can give up to five times a year in complete safety.

Chileans Take to City

Santiago, Chile (AP)—Six out of every 10 Chileans live in a town. This is one of the facts about Chile's population quoted in an article of the paper "Las Ultimas Noticias" of Santiago. In 1920, only 46 per cent of the Chileans lived in towns. In 1940, this had risen to 52 per cent; the paper figures the new percentage for town dwellers to be at 60 per cent. Some of the reasons for this trek to the cities are the rapidly increasing tempo of industrialization, better salaries and metropolitan attractions.

Chileans Take to City

Santiago, Chile (AP)—Six out of every 10 Chileans live in a town. This is one of the facts about Chile's population quoted in an article of the paper "Las Ultimas Noticias" of Santiago. In 1920, only 46 per cent of the Chileans lived in towns. In 1940, this had risen to 52 per cent; the paper figures the new percentage for town dwellers to be at 60 per cent. Some of the reasons for this trek to the cities are the rapidly increasing tempo of industrialization, better salaries and metropolitan attractions.

Hope Still Held For Price Controls

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Administration forces, beaten in first round efforts to knock out of the price control laws a provision denounced by President Truman, still have not lost all hope.

The Senate Banking Committee yesterday rejected 8 to 5 a move to repeal what the President termed "the terrible Capehart amendment." Senator Capehart (R.-Ind.) has defended the provision and said it actually was written by four Democrats and two Republicans, and not by him alone.

The committee, after rejecting the repealer ordered a week of public hearings to start Thursday on a compromise proposal.

At issue are the Capehart amendment, which allows sellers to pass on to consumers virtually all cost increases incurred between the start of the Korean war and last July 26, and a proposed substitute.

Capehart told a reporter he intends to fight for the amendment which bears his name. He said he believes the compromise version would "allow the President to punish his enemies and reward his friends" in setting price ceilings.

Has No Blessing

The compromise, worked out by Mr. Truman's top economic controls officials at the committee's orders, goes into the hearings unblessed by either Mr. Truman or by the controls experts who wrote it.

They described it as allowing them to be somewhat tougher in fixing price ceilings on sales by manufacturers and processors of goods than the Capehart amendment would allow.

Another subcommittee scheduled Sept. 17 for the start of hearings on a bill to repeal the existing prohibition against federally imposed livestock slaughtering quotas.

A third subcommittee was assigned to start separate hearings Thursday on the President's demand for repeal of a section of the law requiring import controls, under certain conditions, on fats, oils, dairy products, rice and peanuts.

tial phone charges upstate, except in rural areas where the boost would be $1.

The increase in the New York metropolitan area would be $1 a month for flat-rate service to residences. Business phone rates would be boosted $1.50 to $3 a month.

A telephone company spokesman said he expected the PSC hearings would end next week.

Commissioner Spencer B. Eddy of the PSC had set this week for the end of the hearings. However, he announced yesterday that it would be resumed here next Tuesday.

In New York city, meanwhile, the telephone company announced it intended to spend $180,000,000 next year on construction.

The plans provide for improved local and long distance equipment, President Keith S. McHugh said.

He added that the company also hoped to install more than 300,000 new telephones to enable it to catch up with the demand for new phones in most places.

McHugh said most of the funds for the work would come from investors.

hinge upon our success in maintaining the kind of earnings that will make investors want to put their savings in the telephone business rather than in some other enterprise.

"Getting the materials for this construction will be another of our big problems, but—subject to the needs of national defense—we intend to push ahead as hard and as fast as we can.

"In the overall, it will put us in better shape than ever before to serve the expanding needs of the armed forces and their military installations, and the vital defense industries so important in this state."

McHugh declared that "it took nearly 40 years after the invention of the telephone to build up this company's total investment in plant and facilities to the 180 million dollar mark. In fact, that amount is enough to have built more than half the plant that now serves our entire upstate territory, including such major cities as Kingston, Buffalo, Syracuse and Albany.

"If a new industry were to announce that it would spend a sum like this to establish itself in New York," he said, "it would be good news for every person and every community in the state.

"The seven years of expansion and improvement started by the company in 1946 will total $1,122,000,000 for the entire state, making it the biggest postwar construction program of any company in the state."

The company's 1952 plans provide for 49 new central offices and major additions to 69 others. The program includes 23 new buildings and sizable extensions on 16 more. About 1,600,000 miles of wire in cable will be added to the system which expects to be serving 5,770,000 telephones at the end of 1952.

Considerable amounts of new equipment will augment the state's vital long distance facilities, McHugh said, and the company's progress of dispersing long distance equipment more widely and making alternate calling routes available to safeguard service in case of war emergencies will be pushed ahead.

McHugh cited the tremendous growth of communities within the state and the importance of the state's industries in the military picture as reasons for the size of the 1952 statewide program.

"Current demands for telephone service are running 10 per cent higher than last year—itself one of our biggest years," he declared," and next year we hope to add more than 300,000 telephones.

"Our vast and continuing improvement and expansion program means a substantial increase in the value of each customer's service. Calls go through faster. Service is more dependable. Each customer can call and be called by more people, because there are so many more telephones. Today, telephone users in the average community can reach twice as many telephones without toll charges as they could 10 years ago.

Oldtimers Reach Jackson; Steamer Leads Gas Buggy

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 11 (AP)—Two auto-racing oldtimers got here safe and sound early today in their Chicago-to-New York "sprint."

Less had to be said, however, for one of their two ancient cars.

The 1911 gasoline - powered Stoddard-Dayton driven by Rube De Launty, 70, tossed a tire and rim in the darkness five miles from here last night.

While De Launty fretted, the old bus had to be towed in by a police wrecker.

De Launty was timed in at 12:40 a. m. (EST) as compared to the 12:25 of Jack Brause, 76, and his spanking Stanley Steamer, 1913 model. The steamer got here under its own power.

According to the rules of the race, the drivers have to make their own repairs. They dassn't go to garages.

So De Launty and Brause arranged to go out together this morning and find and replace the rim and tire before setting out on the 72-mile leg to Detroit.

They've become an attraction.

"My goodness," said Police Sgt. Leonard Heath as the Stanley Steamer steamed up to the headquarters, "she's a beauty. Not a mark on her.

Brause and De Launty are scheduled to reach Albany, N. Y., by Friday evening. Will they?

Agents Seize 1,600 Machines, Accessories

New Orleans, Sept. 11 (AP)—FBI agents seized 1,600 slot machines and 100 cases of accessories in raids last night on four storage points here.

J. M. Lopez, agent in charge of the New Orleans FBI office, said, the machines were shipped from Texas, which recently passed a law barring possession of gambling equipment after Sept. 7.

Lopez declined to estimate the value of the machines, but the amount may be as high as a half million dollars. A new machine usually sells for $250 to $300. It was not known whether the machines were new or used.

No arrests were made. Lopez said last night's action involved the machines only. The machines were seized under a federal law prohibiting the interstate transportation of gambling equipment.

Miss Hutchins was greeted at the post by Brig. Gen. Charles F. Craig, post commanding general. She was presented a huge bouquet of American beauty roses by Cpl. Francis C. Wallosin of (54-41 101st St.) Corona, N. Y., a Korean war veteran.

Mass Rape Story Told by Officials

Carthage, N. C., Sept. 11 (AP)—News of a mass rape of a Negro woman by six white soldiers last month during joint army-air force maneuvers in this area, came to light here yesterday.

Sheriff C. J. McDonald said the woman was attacked by the soldiers in the rear of an army truck during "Exercise Southern Pines." He identified the woman as Lula Mae Artes, 30, of New York, wife of a Negro soldier and mother of two children.

News of the mass rape had been withheld at the request of army officials in the hope that the men would be identified and arrested, McDonald said. No arrests have been made to date.

The sheriff, who said the woman was visiting relatives near here when the crime occurred, told this story:

Seven soldiers stopped the woman as she was returning with friends from church the night of Aug. 15. The soldiers forced her, another woman, and a Negro preacher's son into the back of the truck at gunpoint. The other woman escaped but while one soldier covered the Negro youth with a rifle, the remaining six soldiers raped the woman.

Another Church Theft

A further check among choir members disclosed that Betty Shipman, a member of the choir at the Old First Dutch Church, lost a wallet containing $10 and papers on Sunday morning, it was reported to police Monday afternoon. The thefts of cash, pocketbooks, wallets and papers from choir robing rooms at three local churches were reported to police following morning worship services. The churches were the First Presbyterian, the St. James Methodist and the Old First Dutch Churches.

Slide Kills Boys

Yonkers, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—An earthslide killed two boys yesterday as they hunted for treasure. The victims, Robert Smith, 15, and Arthur Lockwood, 14, were buried near a razed mansion where $58,000 was found a few months ago. The mansion had been the home of Mrs. Agnes Bigelow, a recluse who died last year. She reportedly left a $1,000,000 estate, and no will. Treasure hunters have combed the grounds. Large sums of money were found in the woodwork of the 14-room house, which was torn down. Yesterday, young Smith and Lockwood were digging with four young friends when the sandy sides of the hole collapsed. Police and firemen tried in vain to revive the two victims.

Sheriff C. J. McDonald said the woman was attacked by the soldiers in the rear of an army truck during "Exercise Southern Pines." He identified the woman as Lula Mae Artes, 30, of New York, wife of a Negro soldier and mother of two children.

News of the mass rape had been withheld at the request of army officials in the hope that the men would be identified and arrested, McDonald said. No arrests have been made to date.

The sheriff, who said the woman was visiting relatives near he. when the crime occurred, told this story:

Seven soldiers stopped the woman as she was returning with friends from church the night of Aug. 15. The soldiers forced her, another woman, and a Negro preacher's son into the back of the truck at gunpoint. The other woman escaped but while one soldier covered the Negro youth with a rifle, the remaining six soldiers raped the woman.

Another Church Theft

A further check among choir members disclosed that Betty Shipman, a member of the choir at the Old First Dutch Church, lost a wallet containing $10 and papers on Sunday morning, it was reported to police Monday afternoon. The thefts of cash, pocket books, wallets and papers from choir robing rooms at three local churches were reported to police following morning worship services. The churches were the First Presbyterian, the St. James Methodist and the Old First Dutch Churches.

Slide Kills Boys

Yonkers, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—An earthslide killed two boys yesterday as they hunted for treasure. The victims, Robert Smith, 15, and Arthur Lockwood, 14, were buried near a razed mansion where $58,000 was found a few months ago. The mansion had been the home of Mrs. Agnes Bigelow, a recluse who died last year. She reportedly left a $1,000,000 estate, and no will. Treasure hunters have combed the grounds. Large sums of money were found in the woodwork of the 14-room house, which was torn down. Yesterday, young Smith and Lockwood were digging with four young friends when the sandy sides of the hole collapsed. Police and firemen tried in vain to revive the two victims.

Hope Still Held For Price Controls

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Administration forces, beaten in first round efforts to knock out of the price control laws a provision denounced by President Truman, still have not lost all hope.

The Senate Banking Committee yesterday rejected 8 to 5 a move to repeal what the President termed "the terrible Capehart amendment." Senator Capehart (R.-Ind.) has defended the provision and said it actually was written by four Democrats and two Republicans, and not by him alone.

The committee, after rejecting the repealer ordered a week of public hearings to start Thursday on a compromise proposal.

At issue are the Capehart amendment, which allows sellers to pass on to consumers virtually all cost increases incurred between the start of the Korean war and last July 26, and a proposed substitute.

Capehart told a reporter he intends to fight for the amendment which bears his name. He said he believes the compromise version would "allow the President to punish his enemies and reward his friends" in setting price ceilings.

Has No Blessing

The compromise, worked out by Mr. Truman's top economic controls officials at the committee's orders, goes into the hearings unblessed by either Mr. Truman or by the controls experts who wrote it.

They described it as allowing them to be somewhat tougher in fixing price ceilings on sales by manufacturers and processors of goods than the Capehart amendment would allow.

Another subcommittee scheduled Sept. 17 for the start of hearings on a bill to repeal the existing prohibition against federally imposed livestock slaughtering quotas.

A third subcommittee was assigned to start separate hearings Thursday on the President's demand for repeal of a section of the law requiring import controls, under certain conditions, on fats, oils, dairy products, rice and peanuts.

Telephone Rate

tial phone charges upstate, except in rural areas where the boost would be $1.

The increase in the New York metropolitan area would be $1 a month for flat-rate service to residences. Business phone rates would be boosted $1.50 to $3 a month.

A telephone company spokesman said he expected the PSC hearings would end next week.

Commissioner Spencer B. Eddy of the PSC had set this week for the end of the hearings. However, he announced yesterday that it would be resumed here next Tuesday.

In New York city, meanwhile, the telephone company announced it intended to spend $180,000,000 next year on construction.

The plans provide for improved local and long distance equipment, President Keith S. McHugh said.

He added that the company also hoped to install more than 300,000 new telephones to enable it to catch up with the demand for new phones in most places.

McHugh said most of the funds for the work would come from investors.

Anything to Oblige

Kitchener, Ont. (AP)—A man found sleeping in an automobile in order to keep down expenses was granted a free night's lodging in the Kitchener police station.

Telephone Co. Is

hinge upon our success in maintaining the kind of earnings that will make investors want to put their savings in the telephone business rather than in some other enterprise.

"Getting the materials for this construction will be another of our big problems, but—subject to the needs of national defense—we intend to push ahead as hard and as fast as we can.

"In the overall, it will put us in better shape than ever before to serve the expanding needs of the armed forces and their military installations, and the vital defense industries so important in this state."

McHugh declared that "it took nearly 40 years after the invention of the telephone to build up this company's total investment in plant and facilities to the 180 million dollar mark. In fact, that amount is enough to have built more than half the plant that now serves our entire upstate territory, including such major cities as Kingston, Buffalo, Syracuse and Albany.

"If a new industry were to announce that it would spend a sum like this to establish itself in New York," he said, "it would be good news for every person and every community in the state.

"The seven years of expansion and improvement started by the company in 1946 will total $1,122,000,000 for the entire state, making it the biggest postwar construction program of any company in the state."

The company's 1952 plans provide for 49 new central offices and major additions to 69 others. The program includes 23 new buildings and sizable extensions on 16 more. About 1,600,000 miles of wire in cable will be added to the system which expects to be serving 5,770,000 telephones at the end of 1952.

Considerable amounts of new equipment will augment the state's vital long distance facilities, McHugh said, and the company's progress of dispersing long distance equipment more widely and making alternate calling routes available to safeguard service in case of war emergencies will be pushed ahead.

McHugh cited the tremendous growth of communities within the state and the importance of the state's industries in the military picture as reasons for the size of the 1952 statewide program.

"Current demands for telephone service are running 10 per cent higher than last year—itself one of our biggest years," he declared," and next year we hope to add more than 300,000 telephones.

"Our vast and continuing improvement and expansion program means a substantial increase in the value of each customer's service. Calls go through faster. Service is more dependable. Each customer can call and be called by more people, because there are so many more telephones. Today, telephone users in the average community can reach twice as many telephones without toll charges as they could 10 years ago.

Price Correction

In the London Youth Centre advertisement, Monday, the price of the Nitey-Nite Ski Pajamas was erroneously listed as $2.75 for sizes 10-12-14-16. The price should have been $3.50 for those sizes. The sizes 4-6-8 on the same item were correctly listed at $2.50.

Oldtimers Reach Jackson; Steamer Leads Gas Buggy

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 11 (AP)—Two auto-racing oldtimers got here safe and sound early today in their Chicago-to-New York "sprint."

Less had to be said, however, for one of their two ancient cars.

The 1911 gasoline - powered Stoddard-Dayton driven by Rube De Launty, 70, tossed a tire and rim in the darkness five miles from here last night.

While De Launty fretted, the old bus had to be towed in by a police wrecker.

De Launty was timed in at 12:40 a. m. (EST) as compared to the 12:25 of Jack Brause, 76, and his spanking Stanley Steamer, 1913 model. The steamer got here under its own power.

According to the rules of the race, the drivers have to make their own repairs. They dassn't go to garages.

So De Launty and Brause arranged to go out together this morning and find and replace the rim and tire before setting out on the 72-mile leg to Detroit.

They've become an attraction.

"My goodness," said Police Sgt. Leonard Heath as the Stanley Steamer steamed up to the headquarters, "she's a beauty. Not a mark on her.

Brause and De Launty are scheduled to reach Albany, N. Y., by Friday evening. Will they?

Agents Seize 1,600 Machines, Accessories

New Orleans, Sept. 11 (AP)—FBI agents seized 1,600 slot machines and 100 cases of accessories in raids last night on four storage points here.

J. M. Lopez, agent in charge of the New Orleans FBI office, said, the machines were shipped from Texas, which recently passed a law barring possession of gambling equipment after Sept. 7.

Lopez declined to estimate the value of the machines, but the amount may be as high as a half million dollars. A new machine usually sells for $250 to $300. It was not known whether the machines were new or used.

No arrests were made. Lopez said last night's action involved the machines only. The machines were seized under a federal law prohibiting the interstate transportation of gambling equipment.

Miss Hutchins was greeted at the post by Brig. Gen. Charles F. Craig, post commanding general. She was presented a huge bouquet of American beauty roses by Cpl. Francis C. Wallosin of (54-41 101st St.) Corona, N. Y., a Korean war veteran.

At the hospital she talked to hospitalized soldiers and autographed plaster casts.

BEING BORED BY IT ALL

A person who became bored with a monotonous job, doing the same thing over and over again as on a factory assembly line, used to get sympathy and consolation on the basis of the idea that he was too intelligent for that kind of a job. Now the American Psychological Association has received a report which refutes this idea. A study by Patricia Cain Smith, professor of psychology at Cornell University, leads to the conclusion that there is no difference in intelligence between people who get bored on repetitive jobs and those who do not. Those who get bored, however, have an underlying restlessness, and become dissatisfied with their homes, families and other things, as well.

It is pleasing to find an authoritative professional statement blasting the idea that boredom is a manifestation of intelligence. But is disappointing to find the same authority concluding that intelligence is the same among those who are bored and those who are not. Perhaps not everyone has the same definition of intelligence. If we simply agree with the dictionary definition, "the faculty of understanding," then there certainly is a relation between intelligence and boredom. The person with real intelligence doesn't have to become bored. If a job or other activity of the moment does not demand the full capacities of the mind, there are plenty of other things to do with it.

The psychologists have earned wide respect, approaching awe, by their ability to penetrate and analyze the human mind and character, and to predict on the basis of their knowledge how a person will act under given circumstances. It doesn't pay to poke fun at them, or to take their findings lightly. But we'll string along, when given a choice, with the person who doesn't get bored.

TAXING THE GAMBLERS

One tax proposal which probably will have the blessing of almost everyone is the plan to dip more deeply into the profits of organized gambling. This idea, which some think might increase the federal revenues by nearly half a billion dollars a year, will be liked by all except the organized gamblers themselves. By increasing the taxes obtained from this source, the plan would reduce the load on the rest of the taxpayers.

More important than the revenue, however, would be the possible effectiveness of the proposed tax changes in providing federal law enforcement officers with new weapons against interstate gambling and crime syndicates. Although violating all manner of state and city laws, these syndicates are usually able to keep clear of federal authorities because they can often avoid violating any federal law except the income tax law. They are generally able to satisfy income tax people, under present laws and practice, by filing a fragmentary report and paying some tax. The proposed new law would require detailed reports which would reveal the nature of their operations, and also would levy special taxes on gambling income. Both should make new difficulties for illegal operators.

In the case of most special taxes on a certain kind of business or product, the cost of the tax is simply passed on to the consumer. The patrons of organized gambling would not have to worry about that angle. Organized gambling already takes its customers for all it can get.

There has been a good deal of discussion about the need for a code of ethics for men in government and other walks of life. The idea has been promoted by revelations of questionable or downright dishonest dealings. Yet a code of behavior is available that has survived many thousands of years and is still wise and applicable to any situation today. The Ten Commandments are truths which cannot grow outdated. They are timeless statements of principle which, followed strictly, will enable any man to lead a good life.

Not everyone can be a hero, but everyone can be heroic.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

HIDDEN CENSORSHIP

John T. Flynn is a sweet-mannered, soft-spoken Irishman with a violent sense of right. And he writes books when he is impelled to do so by moral indignation—a rare quality in these easy-going days. So, he wrote a book called "The Road Ahead," designed to warn the nation of what is actually now happening.

Karl Schriftgiesser used to work for "Newsweek." He has written a book entitled "The Lobbyists," with a chapter on Flynn's "The Road Ahead," with which I would not concern myself were it not that he includes therein a letter from Franklin D. Roosevelt to Dr. Wilbur Cross, then editor of the "Yale Review"—a letter which convicts Roosevelt of hidden censorship, of secretly interfering with the free publication of man's ideas.

The "Yale Review" apparently had published an article by Flynn, entitled "Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Roosevelt"—an article I had never seen. Roosevelt did not like Flynn's article; so he wrote a quiet, personal letter to Dr. Cross, which Schriftgiesser gives as follows:

"I love controversy—whether it be in literature, in economics, in sociology or in education. To us controversy is grand. You and I have reveled in it for many decades.

"But it is your concept and mine, I think, that controversy is not merely a question of pro and con in any field of human endeavor.

"Controversy, as I take it, concerns itself primarily with problems that call for answers. It is not controversy for one side to say in such a case, 'I propose the following solution of the problem'—and to have the other side say merely, 'I am opposed to that solution.' I have watched John T. Flynn during these many years and the net answer in my mind is that he has always, with practically no exception, been a destructive rather than a constructive force.

"Therefore, Q.E.D., John T. Flynn should be barred hereafter from the columns of any presentable daily paper, monthly magazine or national quarterly, such as the 'Yale Review.'

Yours for Construction . . ."

The tricky line, Flynn has been ". . . A destructive rather than a constructive force," is as old as Adam. Those who agree are constructive; those who disagree are destructive. Those in power always desire orthodoxy; that is, a subservient acceptance that what they do is right. That would make criticism of corruption in the RFC destructive, while praise of William M. Boyle, Dean Acheson, and the forgotton lady of the mink coat is constructive. It is a kind of intellectual harlotry from which we are suffering in which the word, democracy, becomes a religious symbol and the Bible may not be read in school in consonance with the First Amendment to the Constitution.

It is the same logic, or lack of it, that permits Averell Harriman to defend the Yalta agreement, although hundreds of millions of lives have been lost or enslaved because of it. It is constructive to speak well of Yata in spite of its horrible consequences; it is destuctive to demand an explanation for its lack of historic justice or moral value.

But Mr. Roosevelt goes further. He recommends that John T. Flynn "should be barred hereafter from the columns of any presentable daily paper, monthly magazine. . . ." Mr. Roosevelt omitted the radio in this "off with his head" dictum.

Actually Mr. Roosevet's censorship was enforced not only against Flynn but many conservative writers. The book review sections of the "New York Times," "The New York Herald Tribune," and "The Saturday Review of Literature" acted, for many years, as the principal hatchetmen in lessening the marketability of conservative (that is, anti-New Deal) books.

Recently Mrs. Irene Corbally Kuhn and Ralph De Toledano have published thoroughgoing reports on the use of book reviews for partisanship. They tell an astonishing story. In the case of Flynn, although he had been a writer for more than a quarter of a century and had an excellent reputation both as a working newspaperman and an author, he could find no publisher for "The Road Ahead," until a firm of young publishers, Devin-Adair, took the book as it had taken George Morgenstern's "Pearl Harbor," the best book on the subject.

All these so-called Liberals, who are constantly making so much noise about civil liberties and who extol Mr. Roosevelt as a Libertarian, will need to justify such a letter as this one from the President of the United States to an editor. Since when is the President constitutionally a secret censor?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

WHEN MENTAL ILLNESS STRIKES FAMILY

When pneumonia or flu strikes, there may be no warning; similarly with polio (infantile paralysis). This is not usually true of mental illness. The patient himself may not be aware of any real change in his behavior but the family will notice change, small at first, from his usual habits. Some sudden occurrence may apparently be the cause but the underlying make-up of the individual was always there.

In Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 172, "When Mental Illness Strikes Your Family," by Kathleen Doyle, we read that "mental illness does not attack without warning. Tragedy, sudden change in fortune, financial reverses may bring on a breakdown. But they do not cause it. The seed from which mental illness grows is planted long before the symptoms are apparent to the untrained observer. No single crisis is ever wholly responsible for an emotional collapse. It is the trigger on a gun that is already loaded."

Now that mental illness is not considered a disgrace, it is freely discussed, as freely as pneumonia or any body ailment. Mental illness can be treated and thousands of cases cured.

The first thought is recognizing the early signs of change in the behavior of an individual formerly normal in his everyday behavior. These behavior changes occur in many of us at times but if they persist, treatment is necessary. The individual:

1. Lives in a separate world, refusing to face his problems.
2. Has a delusion that people are persecuting him.
3. Has such severe "blues" that he is unable to carry on his usual occupation.
4. Suffers agonies because he cannot make up his mind about even small matters.
5. Has moods that swing like a pendulum between exhilaration and depression.
6. Insists that he is ill although a thorough physical examination reveals nothing wrong.
7. Cannot sleep without medication.
8. Is excessively irritable, given to temper outbursts.
9. Loses interest in his appearance, his job, his family.
10. Talks feverishly, marathon-fashion, skipping from one subject to another.
11. Goes on spending sprees, far beyond his means.
12. Is incapacitated by unfounded fears.
13. Hears or sees imaginary things.

The suggestion is that if you recognize one or more of these symptoms in a member of your family, see that he gets help, starting with the family physician who can usually either give the necessary treatment or refer the individual to a psychiatrist. One or two visits may be all that is necessary to prevent serious mental illness. The pamphlet costs 20 cents. Address is Public Affairs Committee, 22 East 38th street, New York 16, N. Y.

Pressure group! Warmongers! Treasury raiders! Hoodlums!

We've been called all those names in our 33 years of life. But, as Al Smith used to say: "Let's look at the record."

Pressure group? To this one we plead guilty, all 4,000,000 legionnaires and auxiliarians. We pressured into being the spending of $87,165,759.18, raised by our own efforts, to help the nation's needy children.

We organized more than 16,500 junior baseball teams—teams that gave supervised recreation with citizenship-training for more than 1,000,000 teen-age boys every summer.

We sponsored nearly 4,000 Boy Scout troops.

We created a Boys' State program through 18,000 selected high school students who "learn by doing" the way our government operates.

We conduct an annual national oratorical contest in which 350,000 high school students write essays on the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Sure, we're a pressure group. Pressure against juvenile delinquency.

The vacationing Drew Pearson will know what it means to be called a "pressure" groupist. Throughout the years his pressure has caused fear and consternation in Fascist and Communist circles. And today his "friendship balloons" are piercing the Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia—into the very heart of communism.

Warmongers?

No, but like our great secretary of defense, Gen. George C. Marshall, we admit pressurizing for preparedness. We authored the universal military training bill and hope to see a thoroughly integrated program become law before another year has passed. Of course the Kremlin has its own slant on "warmongering" and we are proud to be No. 1 on their warmonger list.

The American Legion has been a great and constant force, at home and abroad, for godliness, for Christian philosophies, for moral backbone and for civic virtue. Perhaps some people call that warmongering.

It was the American Legion that brought to attention the Communist infiltration into our labor unions and farmer guilds. We exposed the Communist infiltration in our legal profession and in our courts. It was the Legion that exposed the way Communist teachers infiltrated our schools and we formed neighborhood groups of vigilant parents to defeat the Communist kiddie-klubs.

It was a commander of one of the 17,330 American Legion posts who started the longshoremen's refusal to load or unload Communist ships of supplies bound for Communist troops against our own soldiers.

Yes, we have fought communism with every means at our command and we intend to continue fighting communism until it no longer menaces the free world we live in.

For that we have been maligned "warmongers."

Treasury raiders? No, but we do demand that wounded and disabled service men and women get fair treatment. We were the authors of the GI bill of rights which has provided higher education and vocational training for 7,500,000 veterans of World War 2, the greatest stimulus to education in history. As a result you see no veterans of World War 2 selling apples on street corners.

Fair compensation for war wounds has always been our demand. Hospitalization and domiciliary care, yes. But in all fairness, is that treasury raiding?

Hoodlums? There never has been a city that housed the national convention of the American Legion that has not asked us back again and again. Miami, our host city this year, has invited us to make Miami the perennial convention city and according to their editorial writers and those of other cities, American Legionnaires are the best behaved of any national convention.

And why not? After all, the American Legion is America. Certainly no one else has a finer cross-section of citizens as members. We are proud of our membership comprising the President; 25 state governors; 55 U. S. senators and 237 of the congressmen. Along with them we have industrialists, labor leaders, army, navy, and air force commanders, doctors, lawyers, scientists, grocers, butchers, authors, publishers, engineers, mechanics, press and radio executives, sports celebrities, farmers, truck drivers, laborers, columnists and just about every other category known to our country.

Thrice we have been called upon to defend our country in war. Thrice we have given America victory over sinister forces. Thrice more shall we do the same if that is necessary.

We are proud that in the past two years we have collected and distributed more than 10,000,000 toys—distributed them to the underprivileged children of Europe and the Pacific.

We are proud that it was Legionnaire Drew Pearson who aided the American Legion in getting this program under way. We are proud that it was he and our past national commander, George Craig, who originated this program.

Extraordinary? Legion members think not. Just the normal efforts of the men and women who shouldered new convictions about the way American life should be, after they had shouldered arms.

That's the American Legion that has been called all those epithets over the years.

Pressure group? Treasury raiders? Warmongers? Hoodlums?

We rest our case and thank you, Drew Pearson.

Trespasser Stays Put

Liberty, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Fred White, of Cocheton Center, a nearby Sullivan county hamlet, was picking blueberries on her property which she has posted against trespassers when she was disturbed by sounds she thought were made by another picker behind the berry bushes. Indignantly, Mrs. White exclaimed: "Can't you read? Get away from those bushes and off my property!" To make her order more effective she moved around to face the violator. She found a good-sized bear standing on his hind legs eating berries. Mrs. White hastily retreated, leaving even her own pail of berries for the illiterate trespasser.

Thought Expressed MacArthur Should Wear Civilian Clothing, if He's to Make Speeches

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 11—More and more talk is being heard here urging that General MacArthur put aside his military uniform and don civilian clothes if he makes any more speeches on controversial issues with political implications.

Some members of Congress, though not questioning the right of the general to criticize the administration, think it would be in better taste if he did not wear his uniform while making speeches involving criticisms of the administration.

Many people do not realize, of course, that General MacArthur is not a retired officer in the ordinary sense. He is a lifetime General and wears his five stars by act of Congress along with General Eisenhower, Admiral Halsey, Admiral King and General Marshall. But, while a uniform is proper on formal occasions as when addressing a state Legislature or government body, it is not considered proper for General MacArthur to have worn his uniform during his speech last week in Cleveland.

There is, of course, no rule or regulation about it—the matter is one solely of individual discretion. But the feeling here is that attacks on the administration's policies, when wearing a military uniform, opens the general to criticism such as was voiced by Senator Pastore, Democrat, of Rhode Island.

The extent to which any man in uniform may engage in political discussions is covered by regulations for those on active duty. This correspondent during the pre-convention days of 1944, when General MacArthur's name was being mentioned as a possible candidate for the presidency, argued in these dispatches that military men should resign from their posts or clear the air by a public statement as to whether they were participating in political tactics.

General Eisenhower at the moment is in somewhat the same embarrassing status. Through no act of his own his name is being mentioned as a possible candidate and even the president of the United States at his press conference has been asked and has answered questions speculating on that particular candidacy.

It goes against the grain with many Americans to have persons in uniform debating what are plainly political questions. The feeling that those high in the armed services should set an example for their men by keeping out of party politics is rather general. In recent years the army has had a serious problem in handling the voting procedures for absentee servicemen. Officers have been instructed meticulously to avoid any conversations relating to voting.

General MacArthur is making some effective speeches. His address at Cleveland, which has been generally regarded as a favorable nod toward the candidacy of Senator Taft of Ohio, has also been interpreted by some observers as meaning that if the Ohio senator didn't make the grade, the general might inherit his strength at the Republican convention and become a candidate himself.

Judging from those who have talked at times with the general since his return to this country, there is no doubt that he is an admirer of Senator Taft. There is no doubt, also, that he does not consider himself a possible candidate for the presidency. In fact, it would not be surprising if some time between now and the political conventions next year General MacArthur made it clear that he didn't think any man who had spent the major part of his life in military service should be considered for the presidency. He is believed to concur 100 per cent in the opinion to that effect expressed by General Eisenhower in his famous letter of declination just before the 1948 conventions.

The belief is growing here that General Eisenhower, too, feels the same today as he did then and that he will wish to continue to do the job of allied commander in Europe when convention time rolls around. If, of course, both parties nominated General Eisenhower and this made a political campaign unnecessary, there is no doubt he would consider it a call to duty and would accept. But to engage in a partisan campaign is said to be abhorrent to him. For this and other reasons it is likely that General Eisenhower, who is still in uniform, will renounce any purpose of accepting a one-party nomination and let it go at that. Similarly a renunciation from General MacArthur may be expected and this lends color to the statement just made by George Gallup on his return from Europe that the Republicans had better begin thinking of new faces. And that goes, too, for the Democrats as it becomes more and more likely that for personal reasons President Truman will not choose to run.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 10—Charles E. Wilson, our director of defense mobilization, was chairman of the President's Committee on Civil Rights which conducted mysterious proceedings and brought in a "report," written mostly by a professional committee bureaucrat called Milton Stewart. This committee was packed with left-wing opinionarians, propagandists and pay-roll parasites.

Mr. Wilson is a notable exception. He is an industrialist with a long, successful record with General Electric and with the government in World War 2.

The report revives the bloody-shirt propaganda which forced the southern white men to organize the original Ku Klux Klan. It is an outcry by a few eastern pressure groups to inflame again the ferocious anti-white sentiment which was promoted in the south by Thadeus Stevens and other malignant northern hate-mongers after the Civil War. It is brazenly dishonest in its resolute avoidance of lynchings by union mobs which have done most of the lynching in the last 15 years, mostly in northern states.

The committee plainly expected that the public would pay little attention to its conduct and its findings. Mr. Wilson writes that 99 out of 100 of his friends who criticized the report had not read it.

It seems to me doubtful that one citizen in 10,000 has read it. It is a muddy, dreary, insincere document, published under a hypocritical political title, "To Secure These Rights." It received great acclaim, as it deserved to, from the Communist Daily Worker and was given a large display in the window of the Communist book-store on 13th street, New York.

There is something very mysterious about this whole devious business.

Mr. Wilson writes that the members "were largely recruited by David K. Niles, assistant to the President, acting on the latter's behalf."

By Contrast, Robert K. Carr, professor of government at Dartmouth College, who was "executive secretary" of the committee, writes that the members were "selected by President Truman."

There is no chance for an honest mistake here. Somebody is hiding the truth because Niles is one man and Truman is another.

As Wilson, Carr and every other informed person knows, Niles is an old associate of Felix Frankfurter and the late Harold Laski, the notorious English Communist professor who was Frankfurter's intimate friend. They all worked together in the Ford Lyceum in Boston. Laski took a long chance to grab some easy money by a suit against an English newspaper for calling him a Communist. The jury held that he was a Communist.

He was called an apologist for communism by the New York Times and was everywhere regarded as a Red, and Frankfurter and Niles found him congenial and gave no public indication of any radical political disagreement among them.

If it is true, as Wilson says, that Niles "largely recruited" the committee, is it possible that Professor Carr, a great brain teaching "government" in the new radical dispensation at Dartmouth didn't know it?

Charlie Wilson writes, "I am convinced that no one on the committee was a Communist or communistically inclined. They had the same attitude of antagonism to communism that I have." That may be.

Channing Tobias, a Negro member, has a record of citations in connection with notorious Communist fronts in the reports of the House Committee on Un-American Activities which is exceeded by few individuals. He is cited 41 times. He is quoted as having said in one campaign that although he was a "registered Republican" he was going to vote for Vito Marcantonio, the most notorious party-liner who ever sat in the Congress of the United States. The Communists always supported Marcantonio.

Tobias says, "I was requested by the President of the United States to serve on the committee. I assume that the other 14 members were selected in the same way."

There is no reason to concede this assumption. Tobias is no dummy. And contrary to his attempt to disarm the skeptical,

BEING BORED BY IT ALL

A person who became bored with a monotonous job, doing the same thing over and over again as on a factory assembly line, used to get sympathy and consolation on the basis of the idea that he was too intelligent for that kind of a job. Now the American Psychological Association has received a report which refutes this idea. A study by Patricia Cain Smith, professor of psychology at Cornell University, leads to the conclusion that there is no difference in intelligence between people who get bored on repetitive jobs and those who do not. Those who get bored, however, have an underlying restlessness, and become dissatisfied with their homes, families and other things, as well.

It is pleasing to find an authoritative professional statement blasting the idea that boredom is a manifestation of intelligence. But is disappointing to find the same authority concluding that intelligence is the same among those who are bored and those who are not. Perhaps not everyone has the same definition of intelligence. If we simply agree with the dictionary definition, "the faculty of understanding," then there certainly is a relation between intelligence and boredom. The person with real intelligence doesn't have to become bored. If a job or other activity of the moment does not demand the full capacities of the mind, there are plenty of other things to do with it.

The psychologists have earned wide respect, approaching awe, by their ability to penetrate and analyze the human mind and character, and to predict on the basis of their knowledge how a person will act under given circumstances. It doesn't pay to poke fun at them, or to take their findings lightly. But we'll string along, when given a choice, with the person who doesn't get bored.

TAXING THE GAMBLERS

One tax proposal which probably will have the blessing of almost everyone is the plan to dip more deeply into the profits of organized gambling. This idea, which some think might increase the federal revenues by nearly half a billion dollars a year, will be liked by all except the organized gambiers themselves. By increasing the taxes obtained from this source, the plan would reduce the load on the rest of the taxpayers.

More important than the revenue, however, would be the possible effectiveness of the proposed tax changes in providing federal law enforcement officers with new weapons against interstate gambling and crime syndicates. Although violating all manner of state and city laws, these syndicates are usually able to keep clear of federal authorities because they can often avoid violating any federal law except the income tax law. They are generally able to satisfy income tax people, under present laws and practice, by filing a fragmentary report and paying some tax. The proposed new law would require detailed reports which would reveal the nature of their operations, and also would levy special taxes on gambling income. Both should make new difficulties for illegal operators.

In the case of most special taxes on a certain kind of business or product, the cost of the tax is simply passed on to the consumer. The patrons of organized gambling would not have to worry about that angle. Organized gambling already takes its custombers for all it can get.

There has been a good deal of discussion about the need for a code of ethics for men in government and other walks of life. The idea has been promoted by revelations of questionable or downright dishonest dealings. Yet a code of behavior is available that has survived many thousands of years and is still wise and applicable to any situation today. The Ten Commandments are truths which cannot grow outdated. They are timeless statements of principle which, followed strictly, will enable any man to lead a good life.

Not everyone can be a hero, but everyone can be heroic.

'These Days'

HIDDEN CENSORSHIP

John T. Flynn is a sweet-mannered, soft-spoken Irishman with a violent sense of right. And he writes books when he is impelled to do so by moral indignation—a rare quality in these easy-going days. So, he wrote a book called "The Road Ahead," designed to warn the nation of what is actually now happening.

Karl Schriftgiesser used to work for "Newsweek." He has written a book entitled "The Lobbyists," with a chapter on Flynn's "The Road Ahead," with which I would not concern myself were it not that he includes therein a letter from Franklin D. Roosevelt to Dr. Wilbur Cross, then editor of the "Yale Review"—a letter which convicts Roosevelt of hidden censorship, of secretly interfering with the free publication of man's ideas.

The "Yale Review" apparently had published an article by Flynn, entitled "Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Roosevelt"—an article I had never seen. Roosevelt did not like Flynn's article; so he wrote a quiet, personal letter to Dr. Cross, which Schriftgiesser gives as follows:

"I love controversy—whether it be in literature, in economics, in sociology or in education. To us controversy is grand. You and I have reveled in it for many decades.

"But it is your concept and mine, I think, that controversy is not merely a question of pro and con in any field of human endeavor.

"Controversy, as I take it, concerns itself primarily with problems that call for answers. It is not controversy for one side to say in such a case, 'I propose the following solution of the problem'—and to have the other side say merely, 'I am opposed to that solution.' I have watched John T. Flynn during these many years and the net answer in my mind is that he has always, with practically no exception, been a destructive rather than a constructive force.

"Therefore, Q.E.D., John T. Flynn should be barred hereafter from the columns of any presentable daily paper, monthly magazine or national quarterly, such as the 'Yale Review.'

Yours for Construction . . ."

The tricky line, Flynn has been ". . . A destructive rather than a constructive force," is as old as Adam. Those who agree are constructive; those who disagree are destructive. Those in power always desire orthodoxy; that is, a subservient acceptance that what they do is right. That would make criticism of corruption in the RFC destructive, while praise of William M. Boyle, Dean Acheson, and the forgotton lady of the mink coat is constructive. It is a kind of intellectual harlotry from which we are suffering in which the word, democracy, becomes a religious symbol and the Bible may not be read in school in consonance with the First Amendment to the Constitution.

It is the same logic, or lack of it, that permits Averell Harriman to defend the Yalta agreement, although hundreds of millions of lives have been lost or enslaved because of it. It is constructive to speak well of Yata in spite of its horrible consequences; it is destuctive to demand an explanation for its lack of historic justice or moral value.

But Mr. Roosevelt goes further. He recommends that John T. Flynn "should be barred hereafter from the columns of any presentable daily paper, monthly magazine. . . ." Mr. Roosevelt omitted the radio in this "off with his head" dictum.

Actually Mr. Roosevet's censorship was enforced not only against Flynn but many conservative writers. The book review sections of the "New York Times," "The New York Herald Tribune," and "The Saturday Review of Literature" acted, for many years, as the principal hatchetmen in lessening the marketability of conservative (that is, anti-New Deal) books.

Recently Mrs. Irene Corbally Kuhn and Ralph De Toledano have published thoroughgoing reports on the use of book reviews for partisanship. They tell an astonishing story. In the case of Flynn, although he had been a writer for more than a quarter of a century and had an excellent reputation both as a working newspaperman and an author, he could find no publisher for "The Road Ahead," until a firm of young publishers, Devin-Adair, took the book as it had taken George Morgenstern's "Pearl Harbor," the best book on the subject.

All these so-called Liberals, who are constantly making so much noise about civil liberties and who extol Mr. Roosevelt as a Libertarian, will need to justify such a letter as this one from the President of the United States to an editor. Since when is the President constitutionally a secret censor?

That Body of Yours

WHEN MENTAL ILLNESS STRIKES FAMILY

When pneumonia or flu strikes, there may be no warning; similarly with polio (infantile paralysis). This is not usually true of mental illness. The patient himself may not be aware of any real change in his behavior but the family will notice change, small at first, from his usual habits. Some sudden occurrence may apparently be the cause but the underlying make-up of the individual was always there.

In Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 172, "When Mental Illness Strikes Your Family," by Kathleen Doyle, we read that "mental illness does not attack without warning. Tragedy, sudden change in fortune, financial reverses may bring on a breakdown. But they do not cause it. The seed from which mental illness grows is planted long before the symptoms are apparent to the untrained observer. No single crisis is ever wholly responsible for an emotional collapse. It is the trigger on a gun that is already loaded."

Now that mental illness is not considered a disgrace, it is freely discussed, as freely as pneumonia or any body ailment. Mental illness can be treated and thousands of cases cured.

The first thought is recognizing the early signs of change in the behavior of an individual formerly normal in his everyday behavior. These behavior changes occur in many of us at times but if they persist, treatment is necessary. The individual:

1. Lives in a separate world, refusing to face his problems.
2. Has a delusion that people are persecuting him.
3. Has such severe "blues" that he is unable to carry on his usual occupation.
4. Suffers agonies because he cannot make up his mind about even small matters.
5. Has moods that swing like a pendulum between exhilaration and depression.
6. Insists that he is ill although a thorough physical examination reveals nothing wrong.
7. Cannot sleep without medication.
8. Is excessively irritable, given to temper outbursts.
9. Loses interest in his appearance, his job, his family.
10. Talks feverishly, marathon-fashion, skipping from one subject to another.
11. Goes on spending sprees, far beyond his means.
12. Is incapacitated by unfounded fears.
13. Hears or sees imaginary things.

The suggestion is that if you recognize one or more of these symptoms in a member of your family, see that he gets help, starting with the family physician who can usually either give the necessary treatment or refer the individual to a psychiatrist. One or two visits may be all that is necessary to prevent serious mental illness. The pamphlet costs 20 cents. Address is Public Affairs Committee, 22 East 38th street, New York 16, N. Y.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Erle Cocke, Jr., national commander of the American Legion).

Washington—It's very seldom the American Legion gets the chance to tell its side of the story—the side some folks don't bother to determine.

Pressure group! Warmongers! Treasury raiders! Hoodlums!

We've been called all those names in our 33 years of life. But, as Al Smith used to say: "Let's look at the record."

Pressure group? To this one we plead guilty, all 4,000,000 legionnaires and auxiliarians. We pressured into being the spending of $87,165,759.18, raised by our own efforts, to help the nation's needy children.

Thought Expressed MacArthur Should Wear Civilian Clothing, if He's to Make Speeches

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 11—More and more talk is being heard here urging that General MacArthur put aside his military uniform and don civilian clothes if he makes any more speeches on controversial issues with political implications.

Some members of Congress, though not questioning the right of the general to criticize the administration, think it would be in better taste if he did not wear his uniform while making speeches involving criticisms of the administration.

Many people do not realize, of course, that General MacArthur is not a retired officer in the ordinary sense. He is a lifetime General and wears his five stars by act of Congress along with General Eisenhower, Admiral Halsey, Admiral King and General Marshall. But, while a uniform is proper on formal occasions as when addressing a state Legislature or government body, it is not considered proper for General MacArthur to have worn his uniform during his speech last week in Cleveland.

There is, of course, no rule or regulation about it—the matter is one solely of individual discretion. But the feeling here is that attacks on the administration's policies, when wearing a military uniform, opens the general to criticism such as was voiced by Senator Pastore, Democrat, of Rhode Island.

The extent to which any man in uniform may engage in political discussions is covered by regulations for those on active duty. This correspondent during the pre-convention days of 1944, when General MacArthur's name was being mentioned as a possible candidate for the presidency, argued in these dispatches that military men should resign from their posts or clear the air by a public statement as to whether they were participating in political tactics.

General Eisenhower at the moment is in somewhat the same embarrassing status. Through no act of his own his name is being mentioned as a possible candidate and even the president of the United States at his press conference has been asked and has answered questions speculating on that particular candidacy.

It goes against the grain with many Americans to have persons in uniform debating what are plainly political questions. The feeling that those high in the armed services should set an example for their men by keeping out of party politics is rather general. In recent years the army has had a serious problem in handling the voting procedures for absentee servicemen. Officers have been instructed meticulously to avoid any conversations relating to voting.

General MacArthur is making some effective speeches. His address at Cleveland, which has been generally regarded as a favorable nod toward the candidacy of Senator Taft of Ohio, has also been interpreted by some observers as meaning that if the Ohio senator didn't make the grade, the general might inherit his strength at the Republican convention and become a candidate himself.

Judging from those who have talked at times with the general since his return to this country, there is no doubt that he is an admirer of Senator Taft. There is no doubt, also, that he does not consider himself a possible candidate for the presidency. In fact, it would not be surprising if some time between now and the political conventions next year General MacArthur made it clear that he didn't think any man who had spent the major part of his life in military service should be considered for the presidency. He is believed to concur 100 per cent in the opinion to that effect expressed by General Eisenhower in his famous letter of declination just before the 1948 conventions.

The belief is growing here that General Eisenhower, too, feels the same today as he did then and that he will wish to continue to do the job of allied commander in Europe when convention time rolls around. If, of course, both parties nominated General Eisenhower and this made a political campaign unnecessary, there is no doubt he would consider it a call to duty and would accept. But to engage in a partisan campaign is said to be abhorrent to him. For this and other reasons it is likely that General Eisenhower, who is still in uniform, will renounce any purpose of accepting a one-party nomination and let it go at that. Similarly a renunciation from General MacArthur may be expected and this lends color to the statement just made by George Gallup on his return from Europe that the Republicans had better begin thinking of new faces. And that goes, too, for the Democrats as it becomes more and more likely that for personal reasons President Truman will not choose to run.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 10—Charles E. Wilson, our director of defense mobilization, was chairman of the President's Committee on Civil Rights which conducted mysterious proceedings and brought in a "report," written mostly by a professional committee bureaucrat called Milton Stewart. This committee was packed with left-wing opinionarians, propagandists and pay-roll parasites.

Mr. Wilson is a notable exception. He is an industrialist with a long, successful record with General Electric and with the government in World War 2.

The report revives the bloody-shirt propaganda which forced the southern white men to organize the original Ku Klux Klan. It is an outcry by a few eastern pressure groups to inflame again the ferocious anti-white sentiment which was promoted in the south by Thadeus Stevens and other malignant northern hate-mongers after the Civil War. It is brazenly dishonest in its resolute avoidance of lynchings by union mobs which have done most of the lynching in the last 15 years, mostly in northern states.

The committee plainly expected that the public would pay little attention to its conduct and its findings. Mr. Wilson writes that 99 out of 100 of his friends who criticized the report had not read it.

It seems to me doubtful that one citizen in 10,000 has read it. It is a muddy, dreary, insincere document, published under a hypocritical political title, "To Secure These Rights." It received great acclaim, as it deserved to, from the Communist Daily Worker and was given a large display in the window of the Communist book-store on 13th street, New York.

There is something very mysterious about this whole devious business.

Mr. Wilson writes that the members "were largely recruited by David K. Niles, assistant to the President, acting on the latter's behalf."

By Contrast, Robert K. Carr, professor of government at Dartmouth College, who was "executive secretary" of the committee, writes that the members were "selected by President Truman."

There is no chance for an honest mistake here. Somebody is hiding the truth because Niles is one man and Truman is another.

As Wilson, Carr and every other informed person knows, Niles is an old associate of Felix Frankfurter and the late Harold Laski, the notorious English Communist professor who was Frankfurter's intimate friend. They all worked together in the Ford Lyceum in Boston. Laski took a long chance to grab some easy money by a suit against an English newspaper for calling him a Communist. The jury held that he was a Communist.

He was called an apologist for communism by the New York Times and was everywhere regarded as a Red, and Frankfurter and Niles found him congenial and gave no public indication of any radical political disagreement among them.

If it is true, as Wilson says, that Niles "largely recruited" the committee, is it possible that Professor Carr, a great brain teaching "government" in the new radical dispensation at Dartmouth didn't know it?

Charlie Wilson writes, "I am convinced that no one on the committee was a Communist or communistically inclined. They had the same attitude of antagonism to communism that I have." That may be.

Channing Tobias, a Negro member, has a record of citations in connection with notorious Communist fronts in the reports of the House Committee on Un-American Activities which is exceeded by few individuals. He is cited 41 times. He is quoted as having said in one campaign that although he was a "registered Republican" he was going to vote for Vito Marcantonio, the most notorious party-liner who ever sat in the Congress of the United States. The Communists always supported Marcantonio.

Tobias says, "I was requested by the President of the United States to serve on the committee. I assume that the other 14 members were selected in the same way."

There is no reason to concede this assumption. Tobias is no dummy. And contrary to his attempt to disarm the skeptical,

BEING BORED BY IT ALL

A person who became bored with a monotonous job, doing the same thing over and over again as on a factory assembly line, used to get sympathy and consolation on the basis of the idea that he was too intelligent for that kind of a job. Now the American Psychological Association has received a report which refutes this idea. A study by Patricia Cain Smith, professor of psychology at Cornell University, leads to the conclusion that there is no difference in intelligence between people who get bored on repetitive jobs and those who do not. Those who get bored, however, have an underlying restlessness, and become dissatisfied with their homes, families and other things, as well.

It is pleasing to find an authoritative professional statement blasting the idea that boredom is a manifestation of intelligence. But is disappointing to find the same authority concluding that intelligence is the same among those who are bored and those who are not. Perhaps not everyone has the same definition of intelligence. If we simply agree with the dictionary definition, "the faculty of understanding," then there certainly is a relation between intelligence and boredom. The person with real intelligence doesn't have to become bored. If a job or other activity of the moment does not demand the full capacities of the mind, there are plenty of other things to do with it.

The psychologists have earned wide respect, approaching awe, by their ability to penetrate and analyze the human mind and character, and to predict on the basis of their knowledge how a person will act under given circumstances. It doesn't pay to poke fun at them, or to take their findings lightly. But we'll string along, when given a choice, with the person who doesn't get bored.

TAXING THE GAMBLERS

One tax proposal which probably will have the blessing of almost everyone is the plan to dip more deeply into the profits of organized gambling. This idea, which some think might increase the federal revenues by nearly half a billion dollars a year, will be liked by all except the organized gamblers themselves. By increasing the taxes obtained from this source, the plan would reduce the load on the rest of the taxpayers.

More important than the revenue, however, would be the possible effectiveness of the proposed tax changes in providing federal law enforcement officers with new weapons against interstate gambling and crime syndicates. Although violating all manner of state and city laws, these syndicates are usually able to keep clear of federal authorities because they can often avoid violating any federal law except the income tax law. They are generally able to satisfy income tax people, under present laws and practice, by filing a fragmentary report and paying some tax. The proposed new law would require detailed reports which would reveal the nature of their operations, and also would levy special taxes on gambling income. Both should make new difficulties for illegal operators.

In the case of most special taxes on a certain kind of business or product, the cost of the tax is simply passed on to the consumer. The patrons of organized gambling would not have to worry about that angle. Organized gambling already takes its custombers for all it can get.

There has been a good deal of discussion about the need for a code of ethics for men in government and other walks of life. The idea has been promoted by revelations of questionable or downright dishonest dealings. Yet a code of behavior is available that has survived many thousands of years and is still wise and applicable to any situation today. The Ten Commandments are truths which cannot grow outdated. They are timeless statements of principle which, followed strictly, will enable any man to lead a good life.

Not everyone can be a hero, but everyone can be heroic.

'These Days'

HIDDEN CENSORSHIP

John T. Flynn is a sweet-mannered, soft-spoken Irishman with a violent sense of right. And he writes books when he is impelled to do so by moral indignation—a rare quality in these easy-going days. So, he wrote a book called "The Road Ahead," designed to warn the nation of what is actually now happening.

Karl Schriftgiesser used to work for "Newsweek." He has written a book entitled "The Lobyists," with a chapter on Flynn's "The Road Ahead," with which I would not concern myself were it not that he includes therein a letter from Franklin D. Roosevelt to Dr. Wilbur Cross, then editor of the "Yale Review"—a letter which convicts Roosevelt of hidden censorship, of secretly interfering with the free publication of man's ideas.

The "Yale Review" apparently had published an article by Flynn, entitled "Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Roosevelt"—an article I had never seen. Roosevelt did not like Flynn's article; so he wrote a quiet, personal letter to Dr. Cross, which Schriftgiesser gives as follows:

"I love controversy—whether it be in literature, in economics, in sociology or in education. To us controversy is grand. You and I have reveled in it for many decades.

"But it is your concept and mine, I think, that controversy is not merely a question of pro and con in any field of human endeavor.

"Controversy, as I take it, concerns itself primarily with problems that call for answers. It is not controversy for one side to say in such a case, 'I propose the following solution of the problem'—and to have the other side say merely, 'I am opposed to that solution.' I have watched John T. Flynn during these many years and the net answer in my mind is that he has always, with practically no exception, been a destructive rather than a constructive force.

"Therefore, Q.E.D., John T. Flynn should be barred hereafter from the columns of any presentable daily paper, monthly magazine or national quarterly, such as the 'Yale Review.'

Yours for Construction . . ."

The tricky line, Flynn has been ". . . A destructive rather than a constructive force," is as old as Adam. Those who agree are constructive; those who disagree are destructive. Those in power always desire orthodoxy; that is, a subservient acceptance that what they do is right. That would make criticism of corruption in the RFC destructive, while praise of William M. Boyle, Dean Acheson, and the forgotton lady of the mink coat is constructive. It is a kind of intellectual harlotry from which we are suffering in which the word, democracy, becomes a religious symbol and the Bible may not be read in school in consonance with the First Amendment to the Constitution.

It is the same logic, or lack of it, that permits Averell Harriman to defend the Yalta agreement, although hundreds of millions of lives have been lost or enslaved because of it. It is constructive to speak well of Yata in spite of its horrible consequences; it is destuctive to demand an explanation for its lack of historic justice or moral value.

But Mr. Roosevelt goes further. He recommends that John T. Flynn "should be barred hereafter from the columns of any presentable daily paper, monthly magazine. . . ." Mr. Roosevelt omitted the radio in this "off with his head" dictum.

Actually Mr. Roosevet's censorship was enforced not only against Flynn but many conservative writers. The book review sections of the "New York Times," "The New York Herald Tribune," and "The Saturday Review of Literature" acted, for many years, as the principal hatchetmen in lessening the marketability of conservative (that is, anti-New Deal) books.

Recently Mrs. Irene Corbally Kuhn and Ralph De Toledano have published thoroughgoing reports on the use of book reviews for partisanship. They tell an astonishing story. In the case of Flynn, although he had been a writer for more than a quarter of a century and had an excellent reputation both as a working newspaperman and an author, he could find no publisher for "The Road Ahead," until a firm of young publishers, Devin-Adair, took the book as it had taken George Morgenstern's "Pearl Harbor," the best book on the subject.

All these so-called Liberals, who are constantly making so much noise about civil liberties and who extol Mr. Roosevelt as a Libertarian, will need to justify such a letter as this one from the President of the United States to an editor. Since when is the President constitutionally a secret censor?

That Body of Yours

WHEN MENTAL ILLNESS STRIKES FAMILY

When pneumonia or flu strikes, there may be no warning; similarly with polio (infantile paralysis). This is not usually true of mental illness. The patient himself may not be aware of any real change in his behavior but the family will notice change, small at first, from his usual habits. Some sudden occurrence may apparently be the cause but the underlying make-up of the individual was always there.

In Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 172, "When Mental Illness Strikes Your Family," by Kathleen Doyle, we read that "mental illness does not attack without warning. Tragedy, sudden change in fortune, financial reverses may bring on a breakdown. But they do not cause it. The seed from which mental illness grows is planted long before the symptoms are apparent to the untrained observer. No single crisis is ever wholly responsible for an emotional collapse. It is the trigger on a gun that is already loaded."

Now that mental illness is not considered a disgrace, it is freely discussed, as freely as pneumonia or any body ailment. Mental illness can be treated and thousands of cases cured.

The first thought is recognizing the early signs of change in the behavior of an individual formerly normal in his everyday behavior. These behavior changes occur in many of us at times but if they persist, treatment is necessary. The individual:

1. Lives in a separate world, refusing to face his problems.
2. Has a delusion that people are persecuting him.
3. Has such severe "blues" that he is unable to carry on his usual occupation.
4. Suffers agonies because he cannot make up his mind about even small matters.
5. Has moods that swing like a pendulum between exhilaration and depression.
6. Insists that he is ill although a thorough physical examination reveals nothing wrong.
7. Cannot sleep without medication.
8. Is excessively irritable, given to temper outbursts.
9. Loses interest in his appearance, his job, his family.
10. Talks feverishly, marathon-fashion, skipping from one subject to another.
11. Goes on spending sprees, far beyond his means.
12. Is incapacitated by unfounded fears.
13. Hears or sees imaginary things.

The suggestion is that if you recognize one or more of these symptoms in a member of your family, see that he gets help, starting with the family physician who can usually either give the necessary treatment or refer the individual to a psychiatrist. One or two visits may be all that is necessary to prevent serious mental illness. The pamphlet costs 20 cents. Address is Public Affairs Committee, 22 East 38th street, New York 16, N. Y.

From Here to Eternity?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Erle Cocke, Jr., national commander of the American Legion).

Washington—It's very seldom the American Legion gets the chance to tell its side of the story—the side some folks don't bother to determine.

Pressure group! Warmongers! Treasury raiders! Hoodlums!

We've been called all those names in our 33 years of life. But, as Al Smith used to say: "Let's look at the record."

Pressure group? To this one we plead guilty, all 4,000,000 legionnaires and auxiliarians. We pressured into being the spending of $87,165,759.18, raised by our own efforts, to help the nation's needy children.

We organized more than 16,500 junior baseball teams—teams that gave supervised recreation with citizenship-training for more than 1,000,000 teen-age boys every summer.

We sponsored nearly 4,000 Boy Scout troops.

We created a Boys' State program through 18,000 selected high school students who "learn by doing" the way our government operates.

We conduct an annual national oratorical contest in which 350,000 high school students write essays on the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Sure, we're a pressure group. Pressure against juvenile delinquency.

The vacationing Drew Pearson will know what it means to be called a "pressure" groupist. Throughout the years his pressure has caused fear and consternation in Fascist and Communist circles. And today his "friendship balloons" are piercing the Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia—into the very heart of communism.

Warmongers?

No, but like our great secretary of defense, Gen. George C. Marshall, we admit pressurizing for preparedness. We authored the universal military training bill and hope to see a thoroughly integrated program become law before another year has passed. Of course the Kremlin has its own slant on "warmongering" and we are proud to be No. 1 on their warmonger list.

The American Legion has been a great and constant force, at home and abroad, for godliness, for Christian philosophies, for moral backbone and for civic virtue. Perhaps some people call that warmongering.

It was the American Legion that brought to attention the Communist infiltration into our labor unions and farmer guilds. We exposed the Communist infiltration in our legal profession and in our courts. It was the Legion that exposed the way Communist teachers infiltrated our schools and we formed neighborhood groups of vigilant parents to defeat the Communist kiddie-klubs.

It was a commander of one of the 17,330 American Legion posts who started the longshoremen's refusal to load or unload Communist ships of supplies bound for Communist troops against our own soldiers.

Yes, we have fought communism with every means at our command and we intend to continue fighting communism until it no longer menaces the free world we live in.

For that we have been maligned "warmongers."

Treasury raiders? No, but we do demand that wounded and disabled service men and women get fair treatment. We were the authors of the GI bill of rights which has provided higher education and vocational training for 7,500,000 veterans of World War 2, the greatest stimulus to education in history. As a result you see no veterans of World War 2 selling apples on street corners.

Fair compensation for war wounds has always been our demand. Hospitalization and domiciliary care, yes. But in all fairness, is that treasury raiding?

Hoodlums? There never has been a city that housed the national convention of the American Legion that has not asked us back again and again. Miami, our host city this year, has invited us to make Miami the perennial convention city and according to their editorial writers and those of other cities, American Legionnaires are the best behaved of any national convention.

And why not? After all, the American Legion is America. Certainly no one else has a finer cross-section of citizens as members. We are proud of our membership comprising the President; 25 state governors; 55 U. S. senators and 237 of the congressmen. Along with them we have industrialists, labor leaders, army, navy, and air force commanders, doctors, lawyers, scientists, grocers, butchers, authors, publishers, engineers, mechanics, press and radio executives, sports celebrities, farmers, truck drivers, laborers, columnists and just about every other category known to our country.

Thrice we have been called upon to defend our country in war. Thrice we have given America victory over sinister forces. Thrice more shall we do the same if that is necessary.

We are proud that in the past two years we have collected and distributed more than 10,000,000 toys—distributed them to the underprivileged children of Europe and the Pacific.

We are proud that it was Legionnaire Drew Pearson who aided the American Legion in getting this program under way. We are proud that it was he and our past national commander, George Craig, who originated this program.

Extraordinary? Legion members think not. Just the normal efforts of the men and women who shouldered new convictions about the way American life should be, after they had shouldered arms.

That's the American Legion that has been called all those epithets over the years.

Pressure group? Treasury raiders? Warmongers? Hoodlums?

We rest our case and thank you, Drew Pearson.

Thought Expressed MacArthur Should Wear Civilian Clothing, if He's to Make Speeches

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 11—More and more talk is being heard here urging that General MacArthur put aside his military uniform and don civilian clothes if he makes any more speeches on controversial issues with political implications.

Some members of Congress, though not questioning the right of the general to criticize the administration, think it would be in better taste if he did not wear his uniform while making speeches involving criticisms of the administration.

General Eisenhower at the moment is in somewhat the same embarrassing status. Through no act of his own his name is being mentioned as a possible candidate and even the president of the United States at his press conference has been asked and has answered questions speculating on that particular candidacy.

It goes against the grain with many Americans to have persons in uniform debating what are plainly political questions. In recent years the army has had a serious problem in handling the voting procedures for absentee servicemen. His address at Cleveland, which has been generally regarded as a favorable nod toward the candidacy of Senator Taft of Ohio, has also been interpreted by some observers as meaning that if the Ohio senator didn't make the grade, the general might inherit his strength at the Republican convention and become a candidate himself.

Judging from those who have talked at times with the general since his return to this country, there is no doubt that he is an admirer of Senator Taft. If, of course, both parties nominated General Eisenhower and this made a political campaign unnecessary, there is no doubt he would consider it a call to duty and would accept. But to engage in a partisan campaign is said to be abhorrent to him. For this and other reasons it is likely that General Eisenhower, who is still in uniform, will renounce any purpose of accepting a one-party nomination and let it go at that. Similarly a renunciation from General MacArthur may be expected and this lends color to the statement just made by George Gallup on his return from Europe that the Republicans had better begin thinking of new faces. And that goes, too, for the Democrats as it becomes more and more likely that for personal reasons President Truman will not choose to run.

New York, Sept. 10—Charles E. Wilson, our director of defense mobilization, was chairman of the President's Committee on Civil Rights which conducted mysterious proceedings and brought in a "report," written mostly by a professional committee bureaucrat called Milton Stewart. This committee was packed with left-wing opinionarians, propagandists and pay-roll parasites.

Mr. Wilson is a notable exception. He is an industrialist with a long, successful record with General Electric and with the government in World War 2.

The report revives the bloody-shirt propaganda which forced the southern white men to organize the original Ku Klux Klan. It is an outcry by a few eastern pressure groups to inflame again the ferocious anti-white sentiment which was promoted in the south by Thadeus Stevens and other malignant northern hate-mongers after the Civil War. It is brazenly dishonest in its resolute avoidance of lynchings by union mobs which have done most of the lynching in the last 15 years, mostly in northern states.

The committee plainly expected that the public would pay little attention to its conduct and its findings. Mr. Wilson writes that 99 out of 100 of his friends who criticized the report had not read it.

It seems to me doubtful that one citizen in 10,000 has read it. It is a muddy, dreary, insincere document, published under a hypocritical political title, "To Secure These Rights." It received great acclaim, as it deserved to, from the Communist Daily Worker and was given a large display in the window of the Communist book-store on 13th street, New York.

There is something very mysterious about this whole devious business.

Mr. Wilson writes that the members "were largely recruited by David K. Niles, assistant to the President, acting on the latter's behalf."

By Contrast, Robert K. Carr, professor of government at Dartmouth College, who was "executive secretary" of the committee, writes that the members were "selected by President Truman."

There is no chance for an honest mistake here. Somebody is hiding the truth because Niles is one man and Truman is another.

As Wilson, Carr and every other informed person knows, Niles is an old associate of Felix Frankfurter and the late Harold Laski, the notorious English Communist professor who was Frankfurter's intimate friend. They all worked together in the Ford Lyceum in Boston. Laski took a long chance to grab some easy money by a suit against an English newspaper for calling him a Communist. The jury held that he was a Communist.

He was called an apologist for communism by the New York Times and was everywhere regarded as a Red, and Frankfurter and Niles found him congenial and gave no public indication of any radical political disagreement among them.

If it is true, as Wilson says, that Niles "largely recruited" the committee, is it possible that Professor Carr, a great brain teaching "government" in the new radical dispensation at Dartmouth didn't know it?

Charlie Wilson writes, "I am convinced that no one on the committee was a Communist or communistically inclined. They had the same attitude of antagonism to communism that I have." That may be.

Channing Tobias, a Negro member, has a record of citations in connection with notorious Communist fronts in the reports of the House Committee on Un-American Activities which is exceeded by few individuals. He is cited 41 times. He is quoted as having said in one campaign that although he was a "registered Republican" he was going to vote for Vito Marcantonio, the most notorious party-liner who ever sat in the Congress of the United States. The Communists always supported Marcantonio.

Tobias says, "I was requested by the President of the United States to serve on the committee, I assume that the other 14 members were selected in the same way."

There is no reason to concede this assumption. Tobias is no dummy. And contrary to his attempt to disarm the skeptical,

Final Concert Is Pleasing to All

Woodstock, Sept. 11—The final Maverick Sunday concert of the summer season, September 9, was a veritable bonanza of music which swept the audience into a high tide of enthusiasm, a fitting climax to an inspired concert series. It was an altogether masterly performance, scintillating and so perfect that it could not possibly have been wished that the two works played be done in in any other way.

In his first appearance here this summer, Luigi Silva, cellist, displayed a tremendous range of tone, playing with William Kroll, violinist and Joseph Wolman, pianist.

One of the most extraordinary aspects of the presentation of the Beethoven Trio, Opus 1, No. 3, was the fine sense of proportion and shading observed by all three musicians. Just when a pianissimo seemed to be at its softest, they played even more softly, and in reverse the nuances and contrasts of the forceful accents were equally distinctive. In the Andante cantabile con Variazioni, each variation was treated differently, and the Menuetto was definitely the pianist's movement, devoted to liquid running notes.

The concert ended in superb fashion with the Ravel Trio, the impassioned Modere and the much discussed Pantoum, in which the strings were a source of constant and surprising delight. Oriental in character, the pantoum is a form of poem Malayan in origin. The Finale—Anime was beautiful beyond conception.

Lasting Impression

At the close of the performance, compact and well-integrated, the Maverick Sunday Concert audience made its reluctant departure, carrying with it the bright memory of 10 weeks of glorious music, which will certainly not dim throughout the winter.

In bidding the audience goodbye for another year, Pierre Henrotte, whose intermission comments are always a bright moment each Sunday afternoon, gave a special word of appreciation to Mrs. Emmet Edwards, who has done so much toward making the concerts a success.

Music School Is Opened on Ohayo

Woodstock, Sept. 11—Hanus A. Schimmerling, musician, composer and teacher, has opened the New Center for Music Instruction, Harmony Hill, on Ohayo Mountain. At his studio Schimmerling will teach general music education, piano, voice, and will assit singers in preparing for professional careers in opera, concert, radio and church work. Included also will be music theory, ear training, coaching, and music applied commercially, such as manuscript proof reading.

Schimmerling will have as his associate in the school, Mrs. Louise Zemlinsky, vocal teacher, and wife of the late Alexander Zemlinsky, famous conductor, composer and teacher of Arnold Schoenberg. Zemlinsky also numbered among his better known pupils Arthur Bodansky, conductor at the Metropolitan Opera, and Eric Wolfgang Korngold, who is now in Hollywood. Zemlinsky was manager of the opera in Prague when Schimmerling conducted there.

One of the unique aspects of the new school is the extensive music library of over 6,000 items which Schimmerling will have available for the use of his students.

Mrs. Zemlinsky was also associated with the Prague opera, as the leading soprano in the company. She has sung in Vienna and other cities abroad and in this country. Last winter she was heard on station WNYC, New York, with Schimmerling on the Columbia University program, Composer's Forum, at which time she sang a number of Schimmerling's compositions.

Mrs. Zemlinsky, a resident of the Maverick Road, also maintains a vocal studio at 67 Riverside Drive, New York. She is a graduate of the Conservatory of Vienna, Austria and Schimmerling is a graduate of the Conservatory of Prague, Czechoslovakia.

In the near future they plan to teach also in Kingston, Saugerties and other nearby communities on certain designated days of the week, the year round.

Hurricanes Are Weakening

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Two hurricanes which closely approached each other near Bermuda Saturday night were blowing themselves out over the seas today, and the Weather Bureau said they posed no threat to land areas. One, called "Fox" by the Weather Bureau, was reported to be some 500 miles off the British Isles but not endangering any land. The other, "Easy," was roughly 500 miles southeast of Newfoundland, traveling to the northeast. The two hurricanes came within 450 miles of each other near Bermuda. Weather officials said the islands were saved when "Fox" swung in front of "Easy," causing it to change course.

Jet Pilot Reports Mysterious Object

Mitchel Air Force Base, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—An air force jet pilot reports sighting a mysterious round object speeding about 900 miles per hour over the New Jersey coastline.

The report came yesterday from Lt. Wilbert S. Rogers, 28, attached to the air force base at Dover, Del.

Rogers told officers here about the strange object after landing with Capt. Edward Ballard, Jr., as his passenger on a flight from Dover to Mitchel Air Force Base in a T33 jet trainer.

"I don't know whether it was a flying saucer," Rogers said. "But it sure was something I've never seen before."

The World War 2 veteran from Columbia, Pa., was reminded that various units of the armed forces have knocked down reports of "flying saucers," and that most have been explained as weather balloons.

"This couldn't have been a balloon, because it was descending," he said. "And besides, no balloon goes that fast."

Description Given

Here's Rogers' description of what he and Ballard saw:

While flying over Sandy Hook, N. J., at 450 miles per hour at an altitude of 20,000 feet at 10:35 a. m. (EST) yesterday, they spotted a white or silver circular object below them at about 12,000 feet altitude moving inland. The object appeared to be about the size of a fighter plane.

As they followed the object, it moved in an arc from Sandy Hook to Red Bank, which is inland in New Jersey, then out to Asbury Park on the coast, and out to sea in a southeasterly direction.

The object disappeared after the air force plane had followed it for about 30 miles, getting as close as 8,000 feet to it.

The object did not seem to be fleeing from the air force plane, as its speed appeared constant. It had dropped to about 2,000 feet altitude before the two men lost sight of it.

Capt. Ballard left for Dover to report on the occurrence to the 148th Fighter Interceptor Wing, Rogers said.

The plant to which he will report provides all the aeronautical charts and related materials which the United States Air Force requires to perform its mission in every quarter of the globe. Some idea of these requirements is evidenced by the fact that the distribution division of the service ships in excess of 5,000,000 charts a month.

For the past five years Major Weeks has been employed as assistant comptroller and office manager of the Forst Packing Co., Incorporated. He was born in Kingston, graduated from Kingston High School in 1939, attended the Moran School of Business in 1939 and 1940 which was followed by evening courses at the American Institute of Banking during 1940 and 1942. WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Final Concert Is Pleasing to All

Woodstock, Sept. 11—The final Maverick Sunday concert of the summer season, September 9, was a veritable bonanza of music which swept the audience into a high tide of enthusiasm, a fitting climax to an inspired concert series. It was an altogether masterly performance, scintillating and so perfect that it could not possibly have been wished that the two works played be done in in any other way.

In his first appearance here this summer, Luigi Silva, cellist, displayed a tremendous range of tone, playing with William Kroll, violinist and Joseph Wolman, pianist.

One of the most extraordinary aspects of the presentation of the Beethoven Trio, Opus 1, No. 3, was the fine sense of proportion and shading observed by all three musicians. Just when a pianissimo seemed to be at its softest, they played even more softly, and in reverse the nuances and contrasts of the forceful accents were equally distinctive. In the Andante cantabile con Variazioni, each variation was treated differently, and the Menuetto was definitely the pianist's movement, devoted to liquid running notes.

The concert ended in superb fashion with the Ravel Trio, the impassioned Modere and the much discussed Pantoum, in which the strings were a source of constant and surprising delight. Oriental in character, the pantoum is a form of poem Malayan in origin. The Finale—Anime was beautiful beyond conception.

Lasting Impression

At the close of the performance, compact and well-integrated, the Maverick Sunday Concert audience made its reluctant departure, carrying with it the bright memory of 10 weeks of glorious music, which will certainly not dim throughout the winter.

In bidding the audience goodbye for another year, Pierre Henrotte, whose intermission comments are always a bright moment each Sunday afternoon, gave a special word of appreciation to Mrs. Emmet Edwards, who has done so much toward making the concerts a success.

Mrs. Paul Perlman presided at the meeting and introduced Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, who will teach at the school. A licensed elementary school teacher, she is a graduate of Oswego State Teachers College.

Mrs. Perlman announced that there are still a few vacancies and that children between the ages of two and on-half and five may be enrolled in the school. Further information may be obtained by communicating with Mrs. A. A. Champanier, telephone Woodstock 2407.

Woodstock, Sept. 11—The contest date for artists in this area, announced on August 8, by Frederic H. Slutzman, president of the Hudson River Construction Company, Inc., the company in charge of blacktopping the Main street of Woodstock, has been extended until Friday, Sept. 14.

The prizes are as follows: first prize $100; second prize $75; third prize $25. Entries should be submitted to the company office, Woodstock Town Hall, Woodstock, N. Y., prior to midnight, Friday, Sept. 14, 1951.

The panel of judges for the contest is as follows: James S. Bixby, Eugent D. Hallock, Jr. and Kenneth Wilson. All winning entries shall become the property of the Hudson River Construction Company, Inc.

A public showing of the entries will be scheduled, in the near future, according to Slutzman, preceded by a party for the contestants and their friends.

Music School Is Opened on Ohayo

Woodstock, Sept. 11—Hanus A. Schimmerling, musician, composer and teacher, has opened the New Center for Music Instruction, Harmony Hill, on Ohayo Mountain. At his studio Schimmerling will teach general music education, piano, voice, and will assit singers in preparing for professional careers in opera, concert, radio and church work. Included also will be music theory, ear training, coaching, and music applied commercially, such as manuscript proof reading.

Schimmerling will have as his associate in the school, Mrs. Louise Zemlinsky, vocal teacher, and wife of the late Alexander Zemlinsky, famous conductor, composer and teacher of Arnold Schoenberg. Zemlinsky also numbered among his better known pupils Arthur Bodansky, conductor at the Metropolitan Opera, and Eric Wolfgang Korngold, who is now in Hollywood. Zemlinsky was manager of the opera in Prague when Schimmerling conducted there.

One of the unique aspects of the new school is the extensive music library of over 6,000 items which Schimmerling will have available for the use of his students.

Mrs. Zemlinsky was also associated with the Prague opera, as the leading soprano in the company. She has sung in Vienna and other cities abroad and in this country. Last winter she was heard on station WNYC, New York, with Schimmerling on the Columbia University program, Composer's Forum, at which time she sang a number of Schimmerling's compositions.

Mrs. Zemlinsky, a resident of the Maverick Road, also maintains a vocal studio at 67 Riverside Drive, New York. She is a graduate of the Conservatory of Vienna, Austria and Schimmerling is a graduate of the Conservatory of Prague, Czechoslovakia.

In the near future they plan to teach also in Kingston, Saugerties and other nearby communities on certain designated days of the week, the year round.

Hurricanes Are Weakening

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Two hurricanes which closely approached each other near Bermuda Saturday night were blowing themselves out over the seas today, and the Weather Bureau said they posed no threat to land areas. One, called "Fox" by the Weather Bureau, was reported to be some 500 miles off the British Isles, but not endangering any land. The other, "Easy," was roughly 500 miles southeast of Newfoundland, traveling to the northeast. The two hurricanes came within 450 miles of each other near Bermuda. Weather officials said the islands were saved when "Fox" swung in front of "Easy," causing it to change course.

Jet Pilot Reports Mysterious Object

Mitchel Air Force Base, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—An air force jet pilot reports sighting a mysterious round object speeding about 900 miles per hour over the New Jersey coastline.

The report came yesterday from Lt. Wilbert S. Rogers, 28, attached to the air force base at Dover, Del.

Rogers told officers here about the strange object after landing with Capt. Edward Ballard, Jr., as his passenger on a flight from Dover to Mitchel Air Force Base in a T33 jet trainer.

"I don't know whether it was a flying saucer," Rogers said. "But it sure was something I've never seen before."

The World War 2 veteran from Columbia, Pa., was reminded that various units of the armed forces have knocked down reports of "flying saucers," and that most have been explained as weather balloons.

"This couldn't have been a balloon, because it was descending," he said. "And besides, no balloon goes that fast."

Description Given

Here's Rogers' description of what he and Ballard saw:

While flying over Sandy Hook, N. J., at 450 miles per hour at an altitude of 20,000 feet at 10:35 a. m. (EST) yesterday, they spotted a white or silver circular object below them at about 12,000 feet altitude moving inland. The object appeared to be about the size of a fighter plane.

As they followed the object, it moved in an arc from Sandy Hook to Red Bank, which is inland in New Jersey, then out to Asbury Park on the coast, and out to sea in a southeasterly direction.

The object disappeared after the air force plane had followed it for about 30 miles, getting as close as 8,000 feet to it.

The object did not seem to be fleeing from the air force plane, as its speed appeared constant. It had dropped to about 2,000 feet altitude before the two men lost sight of it.

Capt. Ballard left for Dover to report on the occurrence to the 148th Fighter Interceptor Wing, Rogers said.

SKY LIGHTS — Aerial traffic lights are a new feature of the Boeing KB-29 and KC-97 tankers that refuel bombers in mid-air. Here, a mechanic at Renton, Wash., checks over the one green and four red lights which automatically tell the receiver plane's pilot when his ship is in and out of position to transfer fuel. The new lights enable the Air Force to train in night refueling operations.

Rubber for Subs

Akron, O. (AP)—Ten per cent of the total weight of a United States Navy submarine is rubber. Perhaps the largest amount is used in the vessel's 232 hard rubber storage batteries, a rubber company (B. F. Goodrich) estimates. The bulkheads and decks of each of the two battery rooms which house the huge cells are completely covered with rubber for protection against acids. Rubber also can be found in the gaskets that make hatch covers and compartment doors watertight, in flood and vent valves on ballast and trim tanks, in shock mountings for heavy machinery and other equipment, and in electric cables, water and oil hose.

Rubber for Subs

Akron, O. (AP)—Ten per cent of the total weight of a United States Navy submarine is rubber. Perhaps the largest amount is used in the vessel's 252 hard rubber storage batteries, a rubber company (B. F. Goodrich) estimates. The bulkheads and decks of each of the two battery rooms which house the huge cells are completely covered with rubber for protection against acids. Rubber also can be found in the gaskets that make hatch covers and compartment doors watertight, in flood and vent valves on ballast and trim tanks, in shock mountings for heavy machinery and other equipment, and in electric cables, water and oil hose.

Shirts Belonged to the Cutomers

(Walter Davenport in Collier's)

Some time ago the cops in Elkhart, Ind., raided a bookie joint. There was nobody in the place at the time. But the police did find a pair of pants. Skillful and persistent detective work disclosed that the pants belonged to a gentleman named Hiram Hanske. Mr. Hanske pleaded guilty to owning the pants and operating a gambling. Five hundred dollars and costs. In the joint cops also found several shirts. They weren't Mr. Hanske's. Yes, you guessed it. Belonged to customers.

Hazardous Journey

Kuala Lumpur (AP)—The federal government announced that 100 aged pilgrims who left Malaya for Mecca on the first sailing this year of the steamer "Tyndareus" died "owing to the climatic and living conditions of the Holy City." The pilgrimage advisory committee said it would discuss at its next session the question of introducing more rigorous medical tests for pilgrims.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Sometimes It's Okay To Bid Three Cards

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

In the folk-lore of contract bridge, the man who bids a three-card major suit is the black sheep who comes to a bad end. In actual practice, there are times when a really fine player is practically forced to commit this bridge crime; and he usually comes to a good end because of his skill.

In support of this statement I cite the celebrated case of People vs. Fishbein. The defendant was my old friend Harry Fishbein, the New York expert, and since the case had to do with bridge, the poor People didn't have a chance.

Fishbein avoided bidding as long as he could with the South hand, but when both opponents bid hearts he felt sure that his partner had good spades as the basis of his double of one club. It was a sound idea, and it had the additional merit of being quite correct. (Otherwise I probably wouldn't have heard about the hand.)

When the noise died away, there was Fishbein playing the hand at three spades from the wrong side of the table. Only, in this case it was the lucky side of the table.

If North had been playing the hand at spades, East would have opened the singleton deuce of clubs, and West would have recognized the situation at a glance.

As it was, West opened the king of clubs, and East played his deuce. West didn't realize that this was a singleton (although the bidding should have warned him) so he shifted to the seven of diamonds.

Fishbein let this ride to his ace of diamonds and returned the queen of spades. West covered with the king of spades, and dummy's ace won. The two top hearts were cleared, and declarer returned to his hand with the jack of spades to lead a low diamond towards dummy. It looked as though the defenders would take a trump, a diamond, and three clubs, but Fishbein had more than his arm up his sleeve.

West dared not trump this diamond since that would allow declarer to give up his diamond loser and his trump loser on the same trick. Dummy won with the king of diamonds and returned the suit, East winning. East led a fourth round of diamonds, and Fishbein calmly discarded a club from dummy instead of ruffing. East then had to return a heart or a diamond. In either case, Fishbein could ruff and discard dummy's last club. West could get his high trump but nothing else, and the contract was safe.

Will Carry A-Bombs

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—The navy has dropped a hint that all U. S. aircraft carriers eventually will carry atomic bombs. The information came yesterday from vice-admiral Lynde D. McCormick at recommissioning ceremonies for the 32,000-ton carrier Wasp. McCormick, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet, said the "size of the atomic bomb has been reduced and its availability increased." He added that he thought all U. S. carriers "will be equipped with atomic bombs," but wouldn't elaborate.

Mettacahonts Picnic

As Pegler Sees It

Mr. Wilson knows the facts of political life too well to believe that Niles would select an impartial, objective, non-political membership.

There was not one genuine Republican on the committee.

There was not one southern spokesman for the vital constitutional issue of states' rights which is the very heart of the controversy.

Tobias is "director" of an old parasitic but legal "foundation" called the Phelps-Stokes fund, established long ago by rich Episcopalians to teach Christianity to African Negroes. It provides soft life, good pay and an appearance of "eminence" and "distinction" to its functionaries.

I say there is something "mysterious" because from 12 members and Carr, the "executive secretary," I could not get a frank answer as to the identity of any "private organization" mentioned among the sources of information.

Boris Shishkin, "economist" for the A.F. of L., recalled that "a number of private organizations did submit their own reports" but didn't name a single one.

James E. Carey, a petty career payroller in the oligarchy of the CIO, ducked the question altogether.

Tobias named none of them.

The Rev. Charles A. Salatka, secretary to Bishop Francis J. Haas, of the diocese of Grand Rapids, wrote that the bishop refused to comment and said my inquiry seemed to contain "implied charges." Bishop Haas was an aggressive New Dealer in the union movement for years. He is not a neutral.

John S. Dickey, president of Dartmouth, a member of the committee, referred me to Carr and Carr said "the committee voted not to attempt to list individually the private organizations from whom communications were received."

Why not? What are they trying to hide and why?

These are fair questions to put to a body supported by public funds which had the audacity to recommend the complete negation of the constitution and which says in its report: "Spokesmen for interested groups made statements and were questioned."

Finally, be it noted that Carr, of Dartmouth, was the one who picked Milton Stewart to be "director of research" and that Stewart is now back on the Truman payroll in the bureau of the budget.

Pleasant Weather Ahead

Chicago, Sept. 11 (AP)—Pleasant weather was in prospect for most of the nation today. Wet spots early today were near Lake Superior and along the Appalachians northward from Chattanooga. Rain also fell over most of Montana. Other areas reported fair weather. Temperatures generally were on the mild side, with warming reported throughout the Great Plains and the New England States. It was hot yesterday in most of the southwest. Top reading was 111 at Yuma, Ariz.

Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia have tidewater frontage but no seacoasts.

Hazardous Journey

Kuala Lumpur (AP)—The federal government announced that 100 aged pilgrims who left Malaya for Mecca on the first sailing this year of the steamer "Tyndareus" died "owing to the climatic and living conditions of the Holy City." The pilgrimage advisory committee said it would discuss at its next session the question of introducing more rigorous medical tests for pilgrims.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Sometimes It's Okay To Bid Three Cards

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

In the folk-lore of contract bridge, the man who bids a three-card major suit is the black sheep who comes to a bad end. In actual practice, there are times when a really fine player is practically forced to commit this bridge crime; and he usually comes to a good end because of his skill.

In support of this statement I cite the celebrated case of People vs. Fishbein. The defendant was my old friend Harry Fishbein, the New York expert, and since the case had to do with bridge, the poor People didn't have a chance.

Fishbein avoided bidding as long as he could with the South hand, but when both opponents bid hearts he felt sure that his partner had good spades as the basis of his double of one club. It was a sound idea, and it had the additional merit of being quite correct. (Otherwise I probably wouldn't have heard about the hand.)

When the noise died away, there was Fishbein playing the hand at three spades from the wrong side of the table. Only, in this case it was the lucky side of the table.

If North had been playing the hand at spades, East would have opened the singleton deuce of clubs, and West would have recognized the situation at a glance.

Opening lead—♣ K

As it was, West opened the king of clubs, and East played his deuce. West didn't realize that this was a singleton (although the bidding should have warned him) so he shifted to the seven of diamonds.

Fishbein let this ride to his ace of diamonds and returned the queen of spades. West covered with the king of spades, and dummy's ace won. The two top hearts were cleared, and declarer returned to his hand with the jack of spades to lead a low diamond towards dummy. It looked as though the defenders would take a trump, a diamond, and three clubs, but Fishbein had more than his arm up his sleeve.

West dared not trump this diamond since that would allow declarer to give up his diamond loser and his trump loser on the same trick. Dummy won with the king of diamonds and returned the suit, East winning. East led a fourth round of diamonds, and Fishbein calmly discarded a club from dummy instead of ruffing. East then had to return a heart or a diamond. In either case, Fishbein could ruff and discard dummy's last club. West could get his high trump but nothing else, and the contract was safe.

Will Carry A-Bombs

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—The navy has dropped a hint that all U. S. aircraft carriers eventually will carry atomic bombs. The information came yesterday from vice-admiral Lynde D. McCormick at recommissioning ceremonies for the 32,000-ton carrier Wasp. McCormick, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet, said the "size of the atomic bomb has been reduced and its availability increased." He added that he thought all U. S. carriers "will be equipped with atomic bombs," but wouldn't elaborate.

Mettacahonts Picnic

Mettacahonts, Sept. 11—The Willing Workers and their families will hold a picnic at the home of Mrs. Archie Hall Davis on Thursday, Sept. 13, at 6 p. m. There will be a business meeting at 5 p. m.

As Pegler Sees It

Mr. Wilson knows the facts of political life too well to believe that Niles would select an impartial, objective, non-political membership.

There was not one genuine Republican on the committee.

There was not one southern spokesman for the vital constitutional issue of states' rights which is the very heart of the controversy.

Tobias is "director" of an old parasitic but legal "foundation" called the Phelps-Stokes fund, established long ago by rich Episcopalians to teach Christianity to African Negroes. It provides soft life, good pay and an appearance of "eminence" and "distinction" to its functionaries.

I say there is something "mysterious" because from 12 members and Carr, the "executive secretary," I could not get a frank answer as to the identity of any "private organization" mentioned among the sources of information.

Boris Shishkin, "economist" for the A.F. of L., recalled that "a number of private organizations did submit their own reports" but didn't name a single one.

James E. Carey, a petty career payroller in the oligarchy of the CIO, ducked the question altogether.

Tobias named none of them.

The Rev. Charles A. Salatka, secretary to Bishop Francis J. Haas, of the diocese of Grand Rapids, wrote that the bishop refused to comment and said my inquiry seemed to contain "implied charges." Bishop Haas was an aggressive New Dealer in the union movement for years. He is not a neutral.

John S. Dickey, president of Dartmouth, a member of the committee, referred me to Carr and Carr said "the committee voted not to attempt to list individually the private organizations from whom communications were received."

Why not? What are they trying to hide and why?

These are fair questions to put to a body supported by public funds which had the audacity to recommend the complete negation of the constitution and which says in its report: "Spokesmen for interested groups made statements and were questioned."

Finally, be it noted that Carr, of Dartmouth, was the one who picked Milton Stewart to be "director of research" and that Stewart is now back on the Truman payroll in the bureau of the budget.

Pleasant Weather Ahead

Chicago, Sept. 11 (AP)—Pleasant weather was in prospect for most of the nation today. Wet spots early today were near Lake Superior and along the Appalachians northward from Chattanooga. Rain also fell over most of Montana. Other areas reported fair weather. Temperatures generally were on the mild side, with warming reported throughout the Great Plains and the New England States. It was hot yesterday in most of the southwest. Top reading was 111 at Yuma, Ariz.

Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia have tidewater frontage but no seacoasts.

said he hoped that every Republican in the country would work for the election of every Republican on each town ticket as the strength of any political organization stemmed from the roots. Every time a Democrat was elected on a town ticket it strengthened the Democratic Federal organization and he expressed the hope that there would be a sweeping Republican victory in November.

By election of the complete Republican ticket this fall, Senator Wicks said local Republicans would set a good example and demonstrate how the people of the county feel toward the impending 1952 National election.

Senator Wicks said he was in a position to give help to the people of this Senatorial district because of his position in the state and he asked their fullest support and co-operation.

Meeting Well Attended

The meeting was very well attended by members of the Republican Central Committee.

Kenneth Wilson of Woodstock was named temporary chairman of the meeting and when nominations for permanent chairman were sought Frank Campochiaro of Glasco placed the name of Senator Wicks before the meeting. The nomination was seconded by Ben Slutsky of Ellenville and the election was unanimous.

Congressman Jay LeFever of New Paltz and John Lent of Saugerties were named a committee to escort Senator Wicks to the chair.

Following his remarks, Senator Wicks, read a letter from Mrs. Henry Cameron of Esopus in which she stated she did not care to again be named vice-chairman and it was moved that the election of a vice-chairman be deferred to a subsequent meeting.

Snyder Re-elected

Jay Heaton of Plattekill placed the name of Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties before the meeting for secretary and this nomination was seconded by Harry Lewis of Saugerties and Snyder was re-elected secretary.

Named on the Congressional committee was Prof. Matteson of New Paltz and Fabian Russell of Saugerties.

On the Senatorial committee Frank Campochiaro of Glasco and Jacob Donovan of Highland were named.

Connelly Is Renamed

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk placed the name of Vincent G. Connelly before the meeting for city chairman and Joseph Kelly, fourth ward, and Republican candidate for alderman-at-large to succeed himself, seconded the nomination.

Chairman Wicks then presented the county candidates who spoke briefly. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk was presented and also addressed the meeting briefly.

Newkirk, Kelly Speak

Mayor Newkirk said that the past two victories in the city of Kingston when he was elected mayor could not be called victories for Oscar V. Newkirk, they were victories for the Republican party.

Alderman - at - Large Joseph Kelly also spoke and asked for the continued cooperation of all Republican voters and the election of the entire Republican ticket this fall.

All members of the Central Committee, be they residents of the city or county, were asked to exert every effort to influence their friends in the city of Kingston to bring about a victory in the city with a record vote this fall and they were urged to see that every vote was cast in the county as well at the general election this fall. Cooperation of city and county voters was urged so that the victory this fall can go down as a sweeping Republican victory and as an indication of what may be expected in the presidential year of 1952.

Allies Drive Off

all against new objectives—had no particular significance. In the savage fighting among peaks 2,500 to nearly 4,000 feet high it often has taken the allies two or three or sometimes as much as 10 days to wear down sturdy Red defense.

Gains in miles have not been spectacular in the rough region—hardly more than five miles in one month of fighting—but the fighting has forced the Reds out of long-cherished positions and weakened their overall strength.

The Chinese attacks on the western front and their sudden halt puzzled observers at Eighth Army headquarters.

It was not known whether they were genuine probing attacks to feel out the allies for a major Red blow, or whether they were merely diversionary to take the sting out of the allied blows in the east.

Only minor patrol action marked the western front Tuesday.

The allies announced Tuesday that five Communist planes were damaged Monday in three jet battles over northwest Korea. There was no report of damage to allied craft. One of the fights involved 110 jets—80 Russian-type MIG-15's and 30 U. S. F-86 Sabres. It was the largest jet battle of history. In it, two MIGs were damaged.

sponsible members of the United Nations forces side, negotiations can proceed on an equal and normal basis in order to reach a just and reasonable armistice agreement only if the United Nations forces side change their arrogant and unreasonable attitude, abandon their attempt to divert attention and sincerely deal with the series of provocative incidents.

"Otherwise, the United Nations forces side will definitely bear the full responsibility for all the consequences resulting from the procrastination and obstruction of the negotiations and of breaking up the negotiations."

'Firetrap' School Empty

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 11 (AP)—An old one-room country school was empty today because picketing parents decided it was a firetrap. Instead of sending their children back to school yesterday, they drove there themselves. They demanded that Township Trustee Lester Smurr transfer the 31 pupils to the school in Garrett, one mile north. That would cost $200 a pupil, Smurr protested, and walked away. "The school is open," he said. "The teacher is there, and if they don't want to send them (the children), that's their business."

Five Men Are Inducted

The following five Kingston men were inducted into armed services on September 4, it was announced today by Local Board No. 18, Selective Service System: Donald G. Newell of 187 Elmendorf street; Thomas C. Peoples, 281 North street; James A. Parkes, 34 Franklin street; Donald P. Oulton, 149 West O'Reilly street; George R. Dyczewski, 88 Hasbrouck avenue.

U. S. to Complete Delivery of Ships

Rome, Sept. 11 (AP)—The United States will complete delivery of eight more warships to Italy within the next three weeks.

These, with three already transferred, almost double the destroyer and destroyer escort strength of the Italian fleet.

The first two of the new ships—two of the fastest full-sized American destroyers — slipped quietly into La Spezia Naval Base near Genoa yesterday.

There was no ceremony. It will be held when the next six ships arrive by the end of the month. They will be the big LSSL-type support gunboats modified for Italian naval needs.

Just a Fad

In 1905, the newly-formed Aero Club of New York could raise only $1000 to purchase the patents of the Wright brothers, because the business men of that day said aviation was merely a fad.

Two-Billion Cut Proposed by Taber

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—A new cut of as much as $2,000,000,000 in the administration's already curtailed foreign aid program was proposed today by Rep. Taber (R.-N. Y.).

As senior Republican member of the House Appropriations Committee, Taber is the GOP spokesman in the House on budget matters, and has led most past drives to cut appropriations. Many of his efforts, however, have fallen far short of his goals.

His demand for additional cuts in the aid program came as a House appropriations subcommittee prepared to start hearings today on a bill actually financing the program of military and economic aid to nations resisting communism.

The House voted an authorization of $7,498,750,000 for this purpose and the Senate voted $7,286,250,000. Differences still must be resolved, and separate legislation is required to finance the undertaking.

President Truman requested $8,500,000,000 for the arms and economic aid program and has deplored congressional action to cut it down.

Taber told a reporter he is not certain how much of the authorized funds Congress should withhold, but he said $5,000,000,000 "ought to be more than enough."

Newkirk, Kelly Speak

Mayor Newkirk said that the past two victories in the city of Kingston when he was elected mayor could not be called victories for Oscar V. Newkirk, they were victories for the Republican party.

Alderman - at - Large Joseph Kelly also spoke and asked for the continued cooperation of all Republican voters and the election of the entire Republican ticket this fall.

All members of the Central Committee, be they residents of the city or county, were asked to exert every effort to influence their friends in the city of Kingston to bring about a victory in the city with a record vote this fall and they were urged to see that every vote was cast in the county as well at the general election this fall. Cooperation of city and county voters was urged so that the victory this fall can go down as a sweeping Republican victory and as an indication of what may be expected in the presidential year of 1952.

all against new objectives—had no particular significance. In the savage fighting among peaks 2,500 to nearly 4,000 feet high it often has taken the allies two or three or sometimes as much as 10 days to wear down sturdy Red defense.

Gains in miles have not been spectacular in the rough region—hardly more than five miles in one month of fighting—but the fighting has forced the Reds out of long-cherished positions and weakened their overall strength.

The Chinese attacks on the western front and their sudden halt puzzled observers at Eighth Army headquarters.

It was not known whether they were genuine probing attacks to feel out the allies for a major Red blow, or whether they were merely diversionary to take the sting out of the allied blows in the east.

Only minor patrol action marked the western front Tuesday.

The allies announced Tuesday that five Communist planes were damaged Monday in three jet battles over northwest Korea. There was no report of damage to allied craft. One of the fights involved 110 jets—80 Russian-type MIG-15's and 30 U. S. F-86 Sabres. It was the largest jet battle of history. In it, two MIGs were damaged.

'Firetrap' School Empty

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 11 (AP)—An old one-room country school was empty today because picketing parents decided it was a firetrap. Instead of sending their children back to school yesterday, they drove there themselves. They demanded that Township Trustee Lester Smurr transfer the 31 pupils to the school in Garrett, one mile north. That would cost $200 a pupil, Smurr protested, and walked away. "The school is open," he said. "The teacher is there, and if they don't want to send them (the children), that's their business."

The following five Kingston men were inducted into armed services on September 4, it was announced today by Local Board No. 18, Selective Service System: Donald G. Newell of 187 Elmendorf street; Thomas C. Peoples, 281 North street; James A. Parkes, 34 Franklin street; Donald P. Oulton, 149 West O'Reilly street; George R. Dyczewski, 88 Hasbrouck avenue.

U. S. to Complete Delivery of Ships

Rome, Sept. 11 (AP)—The United States will complete delivery of eight more warships to Italy within the next three weeks.

These, with three already transferred, almost double the destroyer and destroyer escort strength of the Italian fleet.

The first two of the new ships—two of the fastest full-sized American destroyers — slipped quietly into La Spezia Naval Base near Genoa yesterday.

There was no ceremony. It will be held when the next six ships arrive by the end of the month. They will be the big LSSL-type support gunboats modified for Italian naval needs.

Just a Fad

In 1905, the newly-formed Aero Club of New York could raise only $1000 to purchase the patents of the Wright brothers, because the business men of that day said aviation was merely a fad.

Two-Billion Cut Proposed by Taber

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—A new cut of as much as $2,000,000,000 in the administration's already curtailed foreign aid program was proposed today by Rep. Taber (R.-N. Y.).

As senior Republican member of the House Appropriations Committee, Taber is the GOP spokesman in the House on budget matters, and has led most past drives to cut appropriations. Many of his efforts, however, have fallen far short of his goals.

His demand for additional cuts in the aid program came as a House appropriations subcommittee prepared to start hearings today on a bill actually financing the program of military and economic aid to nations resisting communism.

The House voted an authorization of $7,498,750,000 for this purpose and the Senate voted $7,286,250,000. Differences still must be resolved, and separate legislation is required to finance the undertaking.

President Truman requested $8,500,000,000 for the arms and economic aid program and has deplored congressional action to cut it down.

Taber told a reporter he is not certain how much of the authorized funds Congress should withhold, but he said $5,000,000,000 "ought to be more than enough."

said he hoped that every Republican in the country would work for the election of every Republican on each town ticket as the strength of any political organization stemmed from the roots. Every time a Democrat was elected on a town ticket it strengthened the Democratic Federal organization and he expressed the hope that there would be a sweeping Republican victory in November.

By election of the complete Republican ticket this fall, Senator Wicks said local Republicans would set a good example and demonstrate how the people of the county feel toward the impending 1952 National election.

Senator Wicks said he was in a position to give help to the people of this Senatorial district because of his position in the state and he asked their fullest support and co-operation.

Meeting Well Attended

The meeting was very well attended by members of the Republican Central Committee.

Kenneth Wilson of Woodstock was named temporary chairman of the meeting and when nominations for permanent chairman were sought Frank Campochiaro of Glasco placed the name of Senator Wicks before the meeting. The nomination was seconded by Ben Slutsky of Ellenville and the election was unanimous.

Congressman Jay LeFever of New Paltz and John Lent of Saugerties were named a committee to escort Senator Wicks to the chair.

Following his remarks, Senator Wicks, read a letter from Mrs. Henry Cameron of Esopus in which she stated she did not care to again be named vice-chairman and it was moved that the election of a vice-chairman be deferred to a subsequent meeting.

Snyder Re-elected

Jay Heaton of Plattekill placed the name of Robert A. Snyder of Saugerties before the meeting for secretary and this nomination was seconded by Harry Lewis of Saugerties and Snyder was re-elected secretary.

Named on the Congressional committee was Prof. Matteson of New Paltz and Fabian Russell of Saugerties.

On the Senatorial committee Frank Campochiaro of Glasco and Jacob Donovan of Highland were named.

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

Harry Rigby, Jr., has presented me with a wonderful gift. A book called "A History of Ulster County Under the Dominion of the Dutch" by Augustus H. Van Buren, printed in Kingston in 1923. The book is dedicated to Mrs. Van Buren in the following touching words: "To my wife: It is long, long ago since you placed your hand in mine and gave yourself to me. Many years have flown. During them all you have had but one thought, the welfare of myself and of the children who came to us. Without your love, your devotion, your self-sacrifice, your assistance, your never-failing faith in me, this work never could have been accomplished. So, I dedicate, I consecrate, this book to you. May the good Father keep and protect you. May he strew the patch you shall trod with every blessing and be with you to the very end."

It is a book of only 146 pages, without a detailed index. I have heard much about it, but this is the first time I ever saw it. Van Buren has a good chapter on the Red Men. He does not give the source of a 1628 description which follows in part: "At the end of March the Esopus Indians begin to break up the earth with mattocks, which they buy from us for the skins of beavers or otters, or for sewan.

"They make heaps like molehills, each about two and a half feet from the others, which they sow or plant in April with maize, in each heap five or six grains.

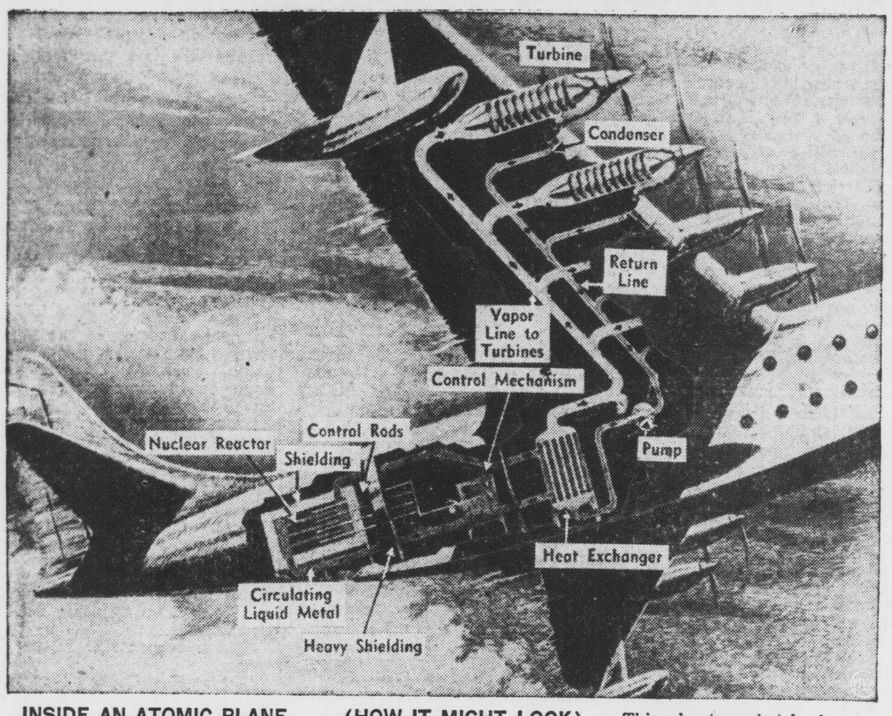
"In the middle of May, when the maize is the height of a finger or more, they plant in each heap three or four Turkish beans, which then grow up with and against the maize, which serves as props, for the maize grows on stalks similar to the sugar cane. It is a grain to which much weeding and earthing up must be done or it will not thrive, for this the Indian women had to attend closely.

"The stalks which are low and bear no ears, they pluck in August and suck out the sap, for it is as sweet as sugar-cane. When they wish to make use of the grain for bread or porridge, which they call Sappaen, they first boil it and then beat it flat upon a stone. They then put it into a wooden mortar, which they hollow out by fire; then with a stone pestle they pound it small, and sift it through a small basket. All their impliments are of their own making long before the white man came here.

"The finest meal they mix with luke warm water, and knead it into dough, then they make round, flat little cakes of it about an inch thick. These they bury in hot ashes, and so bake into Indian bread. When these are baked well they wash with fresh water while hot and good bread it is but sort of heavy. The coarsest meal they boil into porridge. The dried grain they put into woven baskets of their own makings from rushes or wild hemp, and bury in the earth.

"Then comes the hunting season and they go off with their husbands and children around the month of October to hunt deer. The old folks stay home and guard the maize. In December they return, and the flesh they have not been able to eat while fresh, they smoke on the way and bring it back with them. They come home as fat as moles."

It is said this book contains much information not found in other local histories. Will quote from it from time to time.



INSIDE AN ATOMIC PLANE . . . (HOW IT MIGHT LOOK) — This phantom sketch shows how the world's first atomic-powered plane might be built. It would be a sky giant that would dwarf the B-36. Wide, thin wings that permit great speeds will probably require the flying-boat hull. Huge size is necessary to accommodate the very heavy engine. The world's first atomic-powered plane, ordered by the U. S. Air Force, is now taking shape on the drawing boards at Consolidated Vultee Aircraft, Fort Worth, Tex. Flight-testing is not expected until 1955-56. (Sketch copyright, 1951, by Popular Science Monthly, from NEA-Acme.)

Commutation Proposed

Singapore (AP)—Many Singaporeans soon may be going to work in their downtown offices by sea. Its backers say this would do much to relieve the morning and evening motor traffic jams.

The cart, passing over a rebel-hidden landmine, had touched off an explosion. Maung Kyat was unhurt, but the bull's tail was severed.

Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., TUESDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 11, 1951. NINE

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

Harry Rigby, Jr., has presented me with a wonderful gift. A book called "A History of Ulster County Under the Dominion of the Dutch" by Augustus H. Van Buren, printed in Kingston in 1923. The book is dedicated to Mrs. Van Buren in the following touching words: "To my wife: It is long, long ago since you placed your hand in mine and gave yourself to me. Many years have flown. During them all you have had but one thought, the welfare of myself and of the children who came to us. Without your love, your devotion, your self-sacrifice, your assistance, your never-failing faith in me, this work never could have been accomplished. So, I dedicate, this book to you. May the good Father keep and protect you. May he strew the patch you shall trod with every blessing and be with you to the very end."

It is a book of only 146 pages, without a detailed index. I have heard much about it, but this is the first time I ever saw it. Van Buren has a good chapter on the Red Men. He does not give the source of a 1628 description which follows in part: "At the end of March the Esopus Indians begin to break up the earth with mattocks, which they buy from us for the skins of beavers or otters, or for sewan.

"They make heaps like molehills, each about two and a half feet from the others, which they sow or plant in April with maize, in each heap five or six grains.

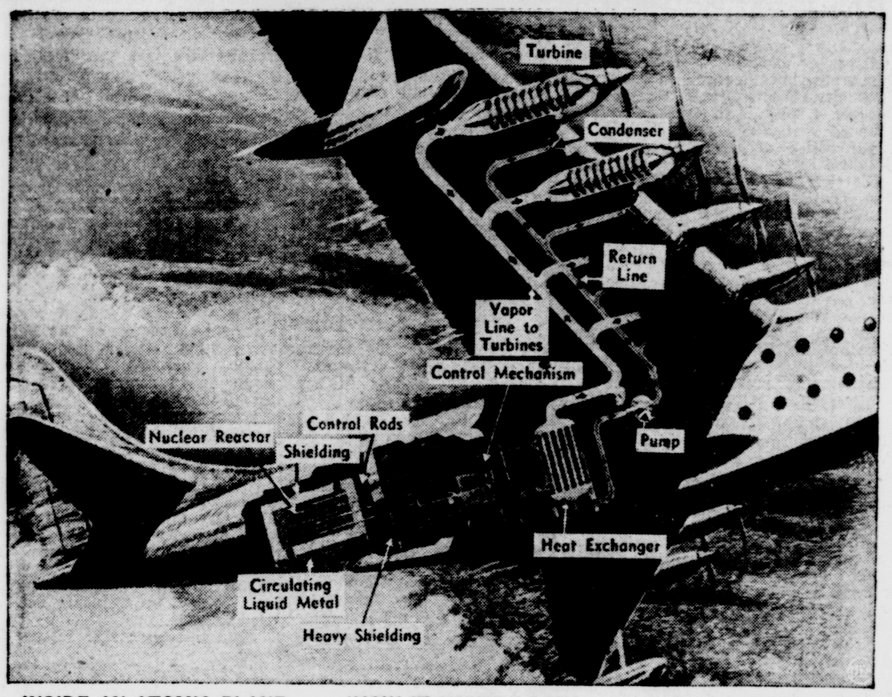
"In the middle of May, when the maize is the height of a finger or more, they plant in each heap three or four Turkish beans, which then grow up with and against the maize, which serves as props, for the maize grows on stalks similar to the sugar cane. It is a grain to which much weeding and earthing up must be done or it will not thrive, for this the Indian women had to attend closely.

"The stalks which are low and bear no ears, they pluck in August and suck out the sap, for it is as sweet as sugar-cane. When they wish to make use of the grain for bread or porridge, which they call Sappaen, they first boil it and then beat it flat upon a stone. They then put it into a wooden mortar, which they hollow out by fire; then with a stone pestle they pound it small, and sift it through a small basket. All their impliments are of their own making long before the white man came here.

"The finest meal they mix with luke warm water, and knead it into dough, then they make round, flat little cakes of it about an inch thick. These they bury in hot ashes, and so bake into Indian bread. When these are baked well they wash with fresh water while hot and good bread it is but sort of heavy. The coarsest meal they boil into porridge. The dried grain they put into woven baskets of their own makings from rushes or wild hemp, and bury in the earth.

"Then comes the hunting season and they go off with their husbands and children around the month of October to hunt deer. The old folks stay home and guard the maize. In December they return, and the flesh they have not been able to eat while fresh, they smoke on the way and bring it back with them. They come home as fat as moles."

It is said this book contains much information not found in other local histories. Will quote from it from time to time.



INSIDE AN ATOMIC PLANE . . . (HOW IT MIGHT LOOK) — This phantom sketch shows how the world's first atomic-powered plane might be built. It would be a sky giant that would dwarf the B-36. Wide, thin wings that permit great speeds will probably require the flying-boat hull. Huge size is necessary to accommodate the very heavy engine. The world's first atomic-powered plane, ordered by the U. S. Air Force, is now taking shape on the drawing boards at Consolidated Vultee Aircraft, Fort Worth, Tex. Flight-testing is not expected until 1955-56. (Sketch copyright, 1951, by Popular Science Monthly, from NEA-Acme.)

Commutation Proposed

Singapore (AP)—Many Singaporeans soon may be going to work in their downtown offices by sea. A proposal has been advanced to start a motor launch service from the suburban Katong district to Clifford Pier in the heart of Singapore. Its backers say this would do much to relieve the morning and evening motor traffic jams.

Tale of No Tail

Rangoon (AP)—This is a tale which ends literally with the end of a tail. A Burmese peasant Maung Kyat was jogging along the dusty road between Mandalay and Tada-U in his bullock-drawn cart when he shot 25 feet into air. The cart, passing over a rebel-hidden landmine, had touched off an explosion. Maung Kyat was unhurt, but the bull's tail was severed.

C. Turnesa, penalized a hole for arriving late at the start at the starting tee, never really got started as he went over par on the last three holes of the first nine and lost the first three coming back.

He's Tired of It

Charlestown, R. I., Sept. 11 (AP)—Linton L. Brown, town clerk, asked the town council last night to pay for the telephone and the heat of his office. It's come out of his pocket up to now. "There is a limit," he said, "and I've reached it." He's been paying the bills for 20 years, he said. Brown said he would give the council an estimate of what the office cost him at its next meeting. The matter was left at that.

Brannan Cites Cities' Resentment Of Farm Prices

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan told a meeting of agricultural editors yesterday there is resentment in the cities against farm prices and policies.

Brannan said he had conducted no poll, but that there is growing evidence city consumers feel farmers are interested only in policies which benefit the farmer and ignore the welfare of the city dweller.

He added that city folks believe farmers are "gouging" them on the price of farm products.

The nation's agricultural chief told the farm writers:

"The number of farmers is decreasing in proportion to the rest of the population. The farm population was proportionately greater when much of the agricultural program (price supports and farm aids) was passed. American agriculture can't just stand up and say 'this we want, and this we take...'."

Another Chapter

The secretary's speech appeared to be another chapter in a long, and sometimes bitter, feud between him and Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Kline opposes farm subsidies and price controls.

Agriculture may some day find itself unable to muster political support, Brannan said, if "some of the spokesmen of agriculture carry on (as) they are." He cited a letter he said came from a representative of three big labor organizations, quoting farm organization leaders as opposed to federal projects for city housing, to price controls and to farm crop subsidies in the place of farm price supports.

Some labor leaders have urged farm subsidies as a means of lowering retail food prices.

Wilson Rejects Steel Forecast for Winter

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, declaring himself "shocked" at this winter's steel prospects, today rejected the steel industry's production forecast and demanded at least a million-ton increase in the first quarter of 1952.

Wilson called for an extra 2,000,000 tons in the second quarter of next year — plus stepped-up scrap collection to make it possible—and asserted:

"This is simply a question of the security of America."

He told a meeting of scrap experts from industry and government that the mobilization program "cannot wait" for the steel industry to attain its goals "in some future quarter a year or two hence."

Olson Says Pay Given by Company

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—James B. Olson said before a congressional committee yesterday that he was paid by the American Lithofold Corp., of St. Louis, to solicit printing business while he was serving as an Internal Revenue official.

The testimony was given before the House Ways and Means Subcommittee which is investigating Olson's conduct as district supervisor of the Alcohol Tax Unit of the Internal Revenue Department.

Olson, who has resigned, testified that while he was on the government pay roll he made two telephone calls, to a liquor and a beer firm, trying to sell them printing from the Lithofold firm.

Olson, who was a vice-president of Lithofold, resigned his government job last Aug. 25 after being questioned by an agent for the Internal Revenue Bureau. He had held the post since January, 1947.

Olson told the congressmen that arrangements which led to his business connection with the printing firm were made by James P. Finnegan, then internal revenue collector in St. Louis. Finnegan resigned last April.

Department Informed

After Finnegan's resignation, Attorney General J. Howard McGrath said the Justice Department had been informed that Finnegan and unknown persons had violated the Internal Revenue Code. The violation, McGrath said, was "by receiving or agreeing to receive compensation for services rendered in relation to matters in which the United States is a party or indirectly interested."

Yesterday's investigation opened with a statement by Rep. Cecil R. King (D-Calif.) that Olson resigned after questioning about his connection with Lithofold.

Olson testified that he had told the agent who questioned him that he had telephoned the Ruppert Brewery and the Austin-Nichols Company in soliciting printing contracts.

Has 'Great Powers'

Congressman King commented that a district supervisor for the alcohol tax unit has "great powers" over liquor firms in his area.

Vonne V. Circele, sales representative of Lithofold, told the probers that Olson gave the firm a list of liquor companies as prospective printing customers. The witness said he later sold printing to "practically all" of about 20 firms on the list which he contacted.

Olson testified that he and Joseph D. Nunan, a former collector of internal revenue in Brooklyn, each received $750 a month salary from Lithofold from February to April, 1949. Nunan was not working for the government at that time.

Later, Olson said, he worked for Lithofold on a ten per cent commission basis.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said recently that fees totalling $18,000 once were paid by Lithofold to William N. Boyle, Jr., now Democratic national chairman, in connection with a $565,000 government loan. Boyle denied he had anything to do with the loan.

The hearing resumes at 9:30 a. m. (EST) today.

Forward Program Planned by Nurses At State Meeting

Seven delegates from District 11 of the New York State Nurses' Association, will attend the 50th anniversary biennial convention of the state organization in New York city, September 30 through October 4, Miss Ann Cassidy announced yesterday. Miss Cassidy is the editor of the District 11 Bulletin.

District 11 of the state association comprises the counties of Ulster, Orange, Sullivan and Greene.

"With the convention theme, 'New York State Nurses' Association Looks Forward with Courage — Backward with Pride,' nurses from every part of the state will participate in the observance of the Golden Anniversary of their state association," Miss Cassidy stated.

Higher Pay Needed

The nursing leader said that at the present time, when every professional career open to women offers greater economic opportunity than nursing, it is essential that nursing organizations establish higher income rates for the profession. The alternative is a "continuing loss" of nurses to other fields, and a decline in the number of young women entering the profession, Miss Cassidy declared.

"The New York State Nurses Association is making every effort to improve working conditions and to establish adequate pay scales for nurses," Miss Cassidy continued, "and it is making progress. Its members are meeting the heavy new responsibilities of the civil defense program and the association has accepted responsibility for the recruitment of nurses for the army throughout the state. Nurses today constitute the largest group in the state trained in medical defense against atomic attack. All of these important programs will be discussed at the convention, and plans will be made for carrying them forward in thhe coming two years."

Delegates From This Area

Mrs. Mabel Detmold, R. N., of New York, retiring president of the state association, will preside at all general sessions of the convention, to be held at the Hotel Statler.

Delegates to the convention from Kingston will be Miss Hazel Dean and Miss Mary Keating. Miss Anne P. Nolan, secretary of the district will attend from Goshen. Weston Ruth will represent Catskill. Miss Illena Kaemmerlin, Miss Marie Cathcart will represent Newburgh and Miss Ella Rash will be the delegate from Middletown. Other nurses from the area will attend, among them, Mrs. Millicent Aloncle and her sister, Miss Helen Mapes, both of whom are on the program committee.

Future Looks Better

Long Beach, Calif., Sept. 11 (AP)—The future looked a little brighter today for an armless Korean war veteran who charged Saturday that he was destitute because of governmental red tape. In San Francisco, where 20-year-old Michael J. Ropczycki was hospitalized after he lost both arms in a mortar barrage last November, the Veterans Administration said yesterday his claim for a $300-a-month-plus pension will be approved in about three weeks. In Washington the Army Finance Office said it was airmailing this $71.66 disability retirement checks for July and August at once.

Trial of 10 Opens

London, Sept. 11 (AP)—A Bucharest court has opened the trial of 10 men accused of spying in Romania for Britain, the United States and The Vatican, the Soviet Tass Agency said today. Tass said those named at the opening session yesterday included Augustin Paha, Roman Catholic bishop of Timisoara and Banat. According to the Tass report, Paha testified he kept in close contact with Adolf Hitler on behalf of Caesar Orsenigo, once papal nuncio in Berlin. Tass said Paha told the court his connections with the German dictator had "to remain a deep secret."

Truman Shouts 'Lies'

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—President Truman said today the United States is stronger economically than ever before. He denounced as lies claims that the government is spending its way into bankruptcy. He said those who are spreading the story of possible bankruptcy are doing it to "frighten voters — particularly as visions of elections dance through the heads of gentlemen who are politically inclined." Mr. Truman spoke at the dedication of the new seven-story limestone and granite building for the general accounting office, watchdog agency for Congress on federal spending.

Dunn Will Leave

Rome, Sept. 11 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador James C. Dunn leaves September 18 by plane for Washington to be present when Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi confers with President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

Rondout Lodge, 343, F. & A. M., will pay a fraternal visit to Mt. Tabor Lodge, 807, F. & A. M., Hunter, Saturday, Sept. 15, when the third degree will be conferred on a class of Rondout Lodge's candidates by the famous Scottish degree team of Thistle Lodge, 900, F. & A. M., Yonkers. A cordial invitation is extended to all Master Masons to attend. Those having cars are requested to meet at the Masonic Temple at 6:30 p. m. to take members desiring transportation.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—A sharply lower sweep took stock market prices down abruptly today.

The decline extended to between $2 and $3 a share with selling appearing in all corners of the market.

There was no acute pressure on the selling side, however, and offerings at lower prices were readily absorbed.

The lower movement was headed by the railroads which were closely followed by oils, steels and coppers.

All of these groups have had their day of buying popularity in recent sessions, and now they are taking their turn on the selling side.

Other sections of the market were lower but without the more pronounced activity shown in these four main areas.

The fall today was from a 21-year peak as measured by the Associated Press average and followed a sustained advance in the average that has been exceeded only once in the past 25 years.

Has Meat Oversupply

London, Sept. 11 (AP)—Rationed Britain is in trouble over meat again. Now, there is a temporary oversupply. Organized butchers announced today they will get together with Food Minister Maurice Webb Friday to tell him they can't sell all the meat they've got in their shops. They will urge Webb to take meat off the ration for the time being.

Battle Goes On Over Mrs. America

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Penny Duncan of New York city reigned as the new Mrs. America today amid irate protests from a number of contest judges who claimed she was not the "real winner."

"Me? I won't even judge horses after this," snorted screen star Wendell Corey who charged that the coveted beauty title should have gone to Mrs. Peggy E. Creel —Mrs. Central Florida—who "received the most votes." Mrs. Creel finished third in the contest. Corey said the Florida beauty actually received 23 of the judges' 24 votes.

Corey's protest was termed a publicity stunt by Bert Nevins, managing director of the beauty competition staged annually at Asbury Park, N. J. This year's event ended Sunday night when Mrs. Duncan was crowned.

From Reading, Pa., where he is accompanying Mrs. America on a personal appearance tour, Nevins said:

"There was no pre-arranging whatsoever and it's unfair to Mrs. Duncan to thus become the butt of a publicity stunt."

Meets With Newsmen

Corey who met with newsmen in his hotel room here last night was backed up by other disgruntled judges.

Said television star Eileen Wilson:

"I gave Mrs. Central Florida my first place vote and know the rest of the beauty judges did too, with the exception of one man. He gave her a second or third place vote."

A contest spokesman said the winner not only was picked on the basis of the judges' ballots but also on background and recipes submitted by the contestants.

But another T-V star, Mrs. Maggie Johnson, one of the 12 judges in the homemaking section, said:

"I voted for Mrs. Creel and so did everyone else in our section. The final decision is humiliating. We were just used as stooges."

Court Postponed For Alien Exams

An examination of aliens in preparation for naturalization court was being held in the court room today and will continue on Wednesday. Consequently County Judge John M. Cashin adjourned county court until 10 o'clock Thursday and jurors were excused until that time.

One case was announced settled when court met briefly at 10 o'clock this morning. An action for work, labor and services brought by Thomas Shone against Beatrice Donnell, was settled. Attorney Harry Gold appeared for plaintiff and Napoletano, Kelly & Saccoman for the defendant.

Criminal matters have been adjourned until Monday, September 17, when District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn will take up the criminal calendar.

Eisenhower Invited

Papagos Holds Lead in Greece

Athens, Greece, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Royalist Greek Rally party of Field Marshal Alexander Papagos continued to lead today with just a few precincts and the military vote missing in Greece's parliament election.

But there was uncertainty whether the military hero would win majority control of parliament because of the late spurt by the third-place Liberal party of Sophocles Venizelos.

With only 49 of 3,910 precincts and 200,000 military votes missing, the Interior Ministry said, the Papagos group had 34.9 per cent of the total vote for a tentative 116 seats. Gen. Nicholas Plastiras' Center Progressive Union Party had 23.7 for a tentative 69 seats; and Venizelos jumped from 17 to 19.6 for 50 seats. The Communist-backed Democratic Front comes next with 11.2 per cent.

Can Win Control

Under Greece's complicated proportional election system, Papagos can win Parliament control by getting about 35 per cent of the total vote.

Papagos, who resigned as commander-in-chief in a dispute with King Paul, needs possible 131 seats to win a Parliament majority.

The votes of the armed forces —which could possibly decide the issue—may not be counted for a week to 10 days.

Home Building Exceeds U. S. Goal

Saranac Inn, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—Home building this year will exceed the national goal of 850,000 units by approximately 175,000 units, a field representative of the National Savings and Loan League said today.

Herbert C. Smith predicted a 1951 total of about 1,025,000 starts on new homes, in an address prepared for the 63rd annual convention of the New York State Savings and Loan League.

Smith said the same official goal of 850,000 units was expected to be set for 1952. But, he added, there already was pressure from defense agencies to reduce the goal. He asserted that any such pressure would be resisted.

Turnesa Fails to Survive

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 11 (AP)—Willie Turnesa, two-time National Amateur golf champion, failed to survive his first match in the 1951 amateur championship today when he took a 3 and 2 beating from youthful Henry Picard of Charleston, S. C. Turnesa, penalized a hole for arriving late at the start at the starting tee, never really got started as he went over par on the last three holes of the first nine and lost the first three coming back.

He's Tired of It

Charlestown, R. I., Sept. 11 (AP)—Linton L. Brown, town clerk, asked the town council last night to pay for the telephone and the heat of his office. It's come out of his pocket up to now. "There is a limit," he said, "and I've reached it." He's been paying the bills for 20 years, he said. Brown said he would give the council an estimate of what the office cost him at its next meeting. The matter was left at that.

Italian nurses, doctors and volunteer personnel will staff the unit, which will give medical treatment to civilians in UN-controlled territory.

Brannan Cites Cities' Resentment Of Farm Prices

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan told a meeting of agricultural editors yesterday there is resentment in the cities against farm prices and policies.

Brannan said he had conducted no poll, but that there is growing evidence city consumers feel farmers are interested only in policies which benefit the farmer and ignore the welfare of the city dweller.

He added that city folks believe farmers are "gouging" them on the price of farm products.

The nation's agricultural chief told the farm writers:

"The number of farmers is decreasing in proportion to the rest of the population. The farm population was proportionately greater when much of the agricultural program (price supports and farm aids) was passed. American agriculture can't just stand up and say 'this we want, and this we take. . . .'"

Another Chapter

The secretary's speech appeared to be another chapter in a long, and sometimes bitter, feud between him and Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Kline opposes farm subsidies and price controls.

Agriculture may some day find itself unable to muster political support, Brannan said, if "some of the spokesmen of agriculture carry on (as) they are." He cited a letter he said came from a representative of three big labor organizations, quoting farm organization leaders as opposed to federal projects for city housing, to price controls and to farm crop subsidies in the place of farm price supports.

Some labor leaders have urged farm subsidies as a means of lowering retail food prices.

Wilson Rejects Steel Forecast for Winter

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, declaring himself "shocked" at this winter's steel prospects, today rejected the steel industry's production forecast and demanded at least a million-ton increase in the first quarter of 1952.

Wilson called for an extra 2,000,000 tons in the second quarter of next year — plus stepped-up scrap collection to make it possible—and asserted:

"This is simply a question of the security of America."

He told a meeting of scrap experts from industry and government that the mobilization program "cannot wait" for the steel industry to attain its goals "in some future quarter a year or two hence."

Olson Says Pay Given by Company

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—James B. Olson said before a congressional committee yesterday that he was paid by the American Lithofold Corp., of St. Louis, to solicit printing business while he was serving as an Internal Revenue official.

The testimony was given before the House Ways and Means Subcommittee which is investigating Olson's conduct as district supervisor of the Alcohol Tax Unit of the Internal Revenue Department.

Olson, who has resigned, testified that while he was on the government pay roll he made two telephone calls, to a liquor and a beer firm, trying to sell them printing from the Lithofold firm.

Olson, who was a vice-president of Lithofold, resigned his government job last Aug. 25 after being questioned by an agent for the Internal Revenue Bureau. He had held the post since January, 1947.

Olson told the congressmen that arrangements which led to his business connection with the printing firm were made by James P. Finnegan, then internal revenue collector in St. Louis. Finnegan resigned last April.

Department Informed

After Finnegan's resignation, Attorney General J. Howard McGrath said the Justice Department had been informed that Finnegan and unknown persons had violated the Internal Revenue Code. The violation, McGrath said, was "by receiving or agreeing to receive compensation for services rendered in relation to matters in which the United States is a party or indirectly interested."

Yesterday's investigation opened with a statement by Rep. Cecil R. King (D-Calif.) that Olson resigned after questioning about his connection with Lithofold.

Olson testified that he had told the agent who questioned him that he had telephoned the Ruppert Brewery and the Austin-Nichols Company in soliciting printing contracts.

Has 'Great Powers'

Congressman King commented that a district supervisor for the alcohol tax unit has "great powers" over liquor firms in his area.

Vonne V. Circele, sales representative of Lithofold, told the probers that Olson gave the firm a list of liquor companies as prospective printing customers. The witness said he later sold printing to "practically all" of about 20 firms on the list which he contacted.

Olson testified that he and Joseph D. Nunan, a former collector of internal revenue in Brooklyn, each received $750 a month salary from Lithofold from February to April, 1949. Nunan was not working for the government at that time.

Later, Olson said, he worked for Lithofold on a ten per cent commission basis.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said recently that fees totalling $18,000 once were paid by Lithofold to William N. Boyle, Jr., now Democratic national chairman, in connection with a $565,000 government loan. Boyle denied he had anything to do with the loan.

The hearing resumes at 9:30 a. m. (EST) today.

Forward Program Planned by Nurses At State Meeting

Seven delegates from District 11 of the New York State Nurses' Association, will attend the 50th anniversary biennial convention of the state organization in New York city, September 30 through October 4, Miss Ann Cassidy announced yesterday. Miss Cassidy is the editor of the District 11 Bulletin.

District 11 of the state association comprises the counties of Ulster, Orange, Sullivan and Greene.

"With the convention theme, 'New York State Nurses' Association Looks Forward with Courage — Backward with Pride,' nurses from every part of the state will participate in the observance of the Golden Anniversary of their state association," Miss Cassidy stated.

Higher Pay Needed

The nursing leader said that at the present time, when every professional career open to women offers greater economic opportunity than nursing, it is essential that nursing organizations establish higher income rates for the profession. The alternative is a "continuing loss" of nurses to other fields, and a decline in the number of young women entering the profession, Miss Cassidy declared.

"The New York State Nurses Association is making every effort to improve working conditions and to establish adequate pay scales for nurses," Miss Cassidy continued, "and it is making progress. Its members are meeting the heavy new responsibilities of the civil defense program and the association has accepted responsibility for the recruitment of nurses for the army throughout the state. Nurses today constitute the largest group in the state trained in medical defense against atomic attack. All of these important programs will be discussed at the convention, and plans will be made for carrying them forward in thhe coming two years."

Delegates From This Area

Mrs. Mabel Detmold, R. N., of New York, retiring president of the state association, will preside at all general sessions of the convention, to be held at the Hotel Statler.

Delegates to the convention from Kingston will be Miss Hazel Dean and Miss Mary Keating. Miss Anne P. Nolan, secretary of the district will attend from Goshen. Weston Ruth will represent Catskill. Miss Illena Kaemmerlin, Miss Marie Cathcart will represent Newburgh and Miss Ella Rash will be the delegate from Middletown. Other nurses from the area will attend, among them, Mrs. Millicent Aloncle and her sister, Miss Helen Mapes, both of whom are on the program committee.

Future Looks Better

Long Beach, Calif., Sept. 11 (AP)—The future looked a little brighter today for an armless Korean war veteran who charged Saturday that he was destitute because of governmental red tape. In San Francisco, where 20-year-old Michael J. Ropczycki was hospitalized after he lost both arms in a mortar barrage last November, the Veterans Administration said yesterday his claim for a $300-a-month-plus pension will be approved in about three weeks. In Washington the Army Finance Office said it was airmailing this $71.66 disability retirement checks for July and August at once.

Trial of 10 Opens

London, Sept. 11 (AP)—A Bucharest court has opened the trial of 10 men accused of spying in Romania for Britain, the United States and The Vatican, the Soviet Tass Agency said today. Tass said those named at the opening session yesterday included Augustin Paha, Roman Catholic bishop of Timisoara and Banat. According to the Tass report, Paha testified he kept in close contact with Adolf Hitler on behalf of Caesar Orsenigo, once papal nuncio in Berlin. Tass said Paha told the court his connections with the German dictator had "to remain a deep secret."

Truman Shouts 'Lies'

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—President Truman said today the United States is stronger economically than ever before. He denounced as lies claims that the government is spending its way into bankruptcy. He said those who are spreading the story of possible bankruptcy are doing it to "frighten voters — particularly as visions of elections dance through the heads of gentlemen who are politically inclined." Mr. Truman spoke at the dedication of the new seven-story limestone and granite building for the general accounting office, watchdog agency for Congress on federal spending.

Dunn Will Leave

Rome, Sept. 11 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador James C. Dunn leaves September 18 by plane for Washington to be present when Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi confers with President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

Rondout Lodge, 343, F. & A. M., will pay a fraternal visit to Mt. Tabor Lodge, 807, F. & A. M., Hunter, Saturday, Sept. 15, when the third degree will be conferred on a class of Rondout Lodge's candidates by the famous Scottish degree team of Thistle Lodge, 900, F. & A. M., Yonkers. A cordial invitation is extended to all Master Masons to attend. Those having cars are requested to meet at the Masonic Temple at 6:30 p. m. to take members desiring transportation.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—A sharply lower sweep took stock market prices down abruptly today.

The decline extended to between $2 and $3 a share with selling appearing in all corners of the market.

There was no acute pressure on the selling side, however, and offerings at lower prices were readily absorbed.

The lower movement was headed by the railroads which were closely followed by oils, steels and coppers.

All of these groups have had their day of buying popularity in recent sessions, and now they are taking their turn on the selling side.

Other sections of the market were lower but without the more pronounced activity shown in these four main areas.

The fall today was from a 21-year peak as measured by the Associated Press average and followed a sustained advance in the average that has been exceeded only once in the past 25 years.

Has Meat Oversupply

London, Sept. 11 (AP)—Rationed Britain is in trouble over meat again. Now, there is a temporary oversupply. Organized butchers announced today they will get together with Food Minister Maurice Webb Friday to tell him they can't sell all the meat they've got in their shops. They will urge Webb to take meat off the ration for the time being.

Battle Goes On Over Mrs. America

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Penny Duncan of New York city reigned as the new Mrs. America today amid irate protests from a number of contest judges who claimed she was not the "real winner."

"Me? I won't even judge horses after this," snorted screen star Wendell Corey who charged that the coveted beauty title should have gone to Mrs. Peggy E. Creel —Mrs. Central Florida—who "received the most votes." Mrs. Creel finished third in the contest. Corey said the Florida beauty actually received 23 of the judges' 24 votes.

Corey's protest was termed a publicity stunt by Bert Nevins, managing director of the beauty competition staged annually at Asbury Park, N. J. This year's event ended Sunday night when Mrs. Duncan was crowned.

From Reading, Pa., where he is accompanying Mrs. America on a personal appearance tour, Nevins said:

"There was no pre-arranging whatsoever and it's unfair to Mrs. Duncan to thus become the butt of a publicity stunt."

Meets With Newsmen

Corey who met with newsmen in his hotel room here last night was backed up by other disgruntled judges.

Said television star Eileen Wilson:

"I gave Mrs. Central Florida my first place vote and know the rest of the beauty judges did too, with the exception of one man. He gave her a second or third place vote."

A contest spokesman said the winner not only was picked on the basis of the judges' ballots but also on background and recipes submitted by the contestants.

But another T-V star, Mrs. Maggie Johnson, one of the 12 judges in the homemaking section, said:

"I voted for Mrs. Creel and so did everyone else in our section. The final decision is humiliating. We were just used as stooges."

Court Postponed For Alien Exams

An examination of aliens in preparation for naturalization court was being held in the court room today and will continue on Wednesday. Consequently County Judge John M. Cashin adjourned county court until 10 o'clock Thursday and jurors were excused until that time.

One case was announced settled when court met briefly at 10 o'clock this morning. An action for work, labor and services brought by Thomas Shone against Beatrice Donnell, was settled. Attorney Harry Gold appeared for plaintiff and Napoletano, Kelly & Saccoman for the defendant.

Criminal matters have been adjourned until Monday, September 17, when District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn will take up the criminal calendar.

Eisenhower Invited

Papagos Holds Lead in Greece

Athens, Greece, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Royalist Greek Rally party of Field Marshal Alexander Papagos continued to lead today with just a few precincts and the military vote missing in Greece's parliament election.

But there was uncertainty whether the military hero would win majority control of parliament because of the late spurt by the third-place Liberal party of Sophocles Venizelos.

With only 49 of 3,910 precincts and 200,000 military votes missing, the Interior Ministry said, the Papagos group had 34.9 per cent of the total vote for a tentative 116 seats. Gen. Nicholas Plastiras' Center Progressive Union Party had 23.7 for a tentative 69 seats; and Venizelos jumped from 17 to 19.6 for 50 seats. The Communist-backed Democratic Front comes next with 11.2 per cent.

Can Win Control

Under Greece's complicated proportional election system, Papagos can win Parliament control by getting about 35 per cent of the total vote.

Papagos, who resigned as commander-in-chief in a dispute with King Paul, needs possible 131 seats to win a Parliament majority.

The votes of the armed forces —which could possibly decide the issue—may not be counted for a week to 10 days.

Home Building Exceeds U. S. Goal

Saranac Inn, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—Home building this year will exceed the national goal of 850,000 units by approximately 175,000 units, a field representative of the National Savings and Loan League said today.

Herbert C. Smith predicted a 1951 total of about 1,025,000 starts on new homes, in an address prepared for the 63rd annual convention of the New York State Savings and Loan League.

Smith said the same official goal of 850,000 units was expected to be set for 1952. But, he added, there already was pressure from defense agencies to reduce the goal. He asserted that any such pressure would be resisted.

Turnesa Fails to Survive

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 11 (AP)—Willie Turnesa, two-time National Amateur golf champion, failed to survive his first match in the 1951 amateur championship today when he took a 3 and 2 beating from youthful Henry Picard of Charleston, S. C. Turnesa, penalized a hole for arriving late at the start at the starting tee, never really got started as he went over par on the last three holes of the first nine and lost the first three coming back.

He's Tired of It

Charlestown, R. I., Sept. 11 (AP)—Linton L. Brown, town clerk, asked the town council last night to pay for the telephone and the heat of his office. It's come out of his pocket up to now. "There is a limit," he said, "and I've reached it." He's been paying the bills for 20 years, he said. Brown said he would give the council an estimate of what the office cost him at its next meeting. The matter was left at that.

Will Send Field Unit

Rome, Sept. 11 (AP)—Italy's Red Cross will send a field hospital unit to Korea early in October in a move regarded here as "token participation" in the Korean conflict by a country still not a member of the United Nations. Italian nurses, doctors and volunteer personnel will staff the unit, which will give medical treatment to civilians in UN-controlled territory.

Brannan Cites Cities' Resentment Of Farm Prices

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan told a meeting of agricultural editors yesterday there is resentment in the cities against farm prices and policies.

Brannan said he had conducted no poll, but that there is growing evidence city consumers feel farmers are interested only in policies which benefit the farmer and ignore the welfare of the city dweller.

He added that city folks believe farmers are "gouging" them on the price of farm products.

The nation's agricultural chief told the farm writers:

"The number of farmers is decreasing in proportion to the rest of the population. The farm population was proportionately greater when much of the agricultural program (price supports and farm aids) was passed. American agriculture can't just stand up and say 'this we want, and this we take...'."

Another Chapter

The secretary's speech appeared to be another chapter in a long, and sometimes bitter, feud between him and Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Kline opposes farm subsidies and price controls.

Agriculture may some day find itself unable to muster political support, Brannan said, if "some of the spokesmen of agriculture carry on (as) they are." He cited a letter he said came from a representative of three big labor organizations, quoting farm organization leaders as opposed to federal projects for city housing, to price controls and to farm crop subsidies in the place of farm price supports.

Some labor leaders have urged farm subsidies as a means of lowering retail food prices.

Womap Is Stabbed

Des Moines, Sept. 11 (AP)—Terry O'Connor, 24, attractive Des Moines woman, was stabbed in the back today while attending 7:30 Mass at St. Ambrose Cathedral and police were holding her boy friend in the case. Miss O'Connor was taken to Broadlawns Hospital where it was reported she may die. Detective Chief Jack Brophy said John A. Masterson, 25, stabbed the young woman with a hunting knife while she was in her pew attending the morning service. The big Catholic cathedral is located in downtown Des Moines.

The body of Raymond Nathaniel Lewis of (75 Downing street) Brooklyn was retrieved from the Atlantic ocean about 30 miles off Montauk Point. The Pelican, a party fishing craft, capsized during a storm Sept. 1.

Mountain Is Dedicated

Murphy, N. C., Sept. 11 (AP)—The Ten Commandments Mountain was dedicated in ceremonies near here today. Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson, general overseer of the Church of God Evangelical sect and a candidate for president of the United States, led the ceremonies at nearby Burger Mountain. The church owns the mountain area, and has erected the Ten Commandments in large letters of stone on the side of the mountain.

Wilson Rejects Steel Forecast for Winter

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, declaring himself "shocked" at this winter's steel prospects, today rejected the steel industry's production forecast and demanded at least a million-ton increase in the first quarter of 1952.

Wilson called for an extra 2,000,000 tons in the second quarter of next year — plus stepped-up scrap collection to make it possible—and asserted:

"This is simply a question of the security of America."

He told a meeting of scrap experts from industry and government that the mobilization program "cannot wait" for the steel industry to attain its goals "in some future quarter a year or two hence."

Olson Says Pay Given by Company

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—James B. Olson said before a congressional committee yesterday that he was paid by the American Lithofold Corp., of St. Louis, to solicit printing business while he was serving as an Internal Revenue official.

The testimony was given before the House Ways and Means Subcommittee which is investigating Olson's conduct as district supervisor of the Alcohol Tax Unit of the Internal Revenue Department.

Olson, who has resigned, testified that while he was on the government pay roll he made two telephone calls, to a liquor and a beer firm, trying to sell them printing from the Lithofold firm.

Olson, who was a vice-president of Lithofold, resigned his government job last Aug. 25 after being questioned by an agent for the Internal Revenue Bureau. He had held the post since January, 1947.

Olson told the congressmen that arrangements which led to his business connection with the printing firm were made by James P. Finnegan, then internal revenue collector in St. Louis. Finnegan resigned last April.

Department Informed

After Finnegan's resignation, Attorney General J. Howard McGrath said the Justice Department had been informed that Finnegan and unknown persons had violated the Internal Revenue Code. The violation, McGrath said, was "by receiving or agreeing to receive compensation for services rendered in relation to matters in which the United States is a party or indirectly interested."

Yesterday's investigation opened with a statement by Rep. Cecil R. King (D-Calif.) that Olson resigned after questioning about his connection with Lithofold.

Olson testified that he had told the agent who questioned him that he had telephoned the Ruppert Brewery and the Austin-Nichols Company in soliciting printing contracts.

Has 'Great Powers'

Congressman King commented that a district supervisor for the alcohol tax unit has "great powers" over liquor firms in his area.

Vonne V. Circele, sales representative of Lithofold, told the probers that Olson gave the firm a list of liquor companies as prospective printing customers. The witness said he later sold printing to "practically all" of about 20 firms on the list which he contacted.

Olson testified that he and Joseph D. Nunan, a former collector of internal revenue in Brooklyn, each received $750 a month salary from Lithofold from February to April, 1949. Nunan was not working for the government at that time.

Later, Olson said, he worked for Lithofold on a ten per cent commission basis.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said recently that fees totalling $18,000 once were paid by Lithofold to William N. Boyle, Jr., now Democratic national chairman, in connection with a $565,000 government loan. Boyle denied he had anything to do with the loan.

The hearing resumes at 9:30 a. m. (EST) today.

Forward Program Planned by Nurses At State Meeting

Seven delegates from District 11 of the New York State Nurses' Association, will attend the 50th anniversary biennial convention of the state organization in New York city, September 30 through October 4, Miss Ann Cassidy announced yesterday. Miss Cassidy is the editor of the District 11 Bulletin.

District 11 of the state association comprises the counties of Ulster, Orange, Sullivan and Greene.

"With the convention theme, 'New York State Nurses' Association Looks Forward with Courage — Backward with Pride,' nurses from every part of the state will participate in the observance of the Golden Anniversary of their state association," Miss Cassidy stated.

Higher Pay Needed

The nursing leader said that at the present time, when every professional career open to women offers greater economic opportunity than nursing, it is essential that nursing organizations establish higher income rates for the profession. The alternative is a "continuing loss" of nurses to other fields, and a decline in the number of young women entering the profession, Miss Cassidy declared.

"The New York State Nurses Association is making every effort to improve working conditions and to establish adequate pay scales for nurses," Miss Cassidy continued, "and it is making progress. Its members are meeting the heavy new responsibilities of the civil defense program and the association has accepted responsibility for the recruitment of nurses for the army throughout the state. Nurses today constitute the largest group in the state trained in medical defense against atomic attack. All of these important programs will be discussed at the convention, and plans will be made for carrying them forward in thhe coming two years."

Delegates From This Area

Mrs. Mabel Detmold, R. N., of New York, retiring president of the state association, will preside at all general sessions of the convention, to be held at the Hotel Statler.

Delegates to the convention from Kingston will be Miss Hazel Dean and Miss Mary Keating. Miss Anne P. Nolan, secretary of the district will attend from Goshen. Weston Ruth will represent Catskill. Miss Illena Kaemmerlin, Miss Marie Cathcart will represent Newburgh and Miss Ella Rash will be the delegate from Middletown. Other nurses from the area will attend, among them, Mrs. Millicent Aloncle and her sister, Miss Helen Mapes, both of whom are on the program committee.

Future Looks Better

Long Beach, Calif., Sept. 11 (AP)—The future looked a little brighter today for an armless Korean war veteran who charged Saturday that he was destitute because of governmental red tape. In San Francisco, where 20-year-old Michael J. Ropczycki was hospitalized after he lost both arms in a mortar barrage last November, the Veterans Administration said yesterday his claim for a $300-a-month-plus pension will be approved in about three weeks. In Washington the Army Finance Office said it was airmailing this $71.66 disability retirement checks for July and August at once.

Trial of 10 Opens

London, Sept. 11 (AP)—A Bucharest court has opened the trial of 10 men accused of spying in Romania for Britain, the United States and The Vatican, the Soviet Tass Agency said today. Tass said those named at the opening session yesterday included Augustin Paha, Roman Catholic bishop of Timisoara and Banat. According to the Tass report, Paha testified he kept in close contact with Adolf Hitler on behalf of Caesar Orsenigo, once papal nuncio in Berlin. Tass said Paha told the court his connections with the German dictator had "to remain a deep secret."

Truman Shouts 'Lies'

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—President Truman said today the United States is stronger economically than ever before. He denounced as lies claims that the government is spending its way into bankruptcy. He said those who are spreading the story of possible bankruptcy are doing it to "frighten voters — particularly as visions of elections dance through the heads of gentlemen who are politically inclined." Mr. Truman spoke at the dedication of the new seven-story limestone and granite building for the general accounting office, watchdog agency for Congress on federal spending.

Dunn Will Leave

Rome, Sept. 11 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador James C. Dunn leaves September 18 by plane for Washington to be present when Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi confers with President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

Rondout Lodge, 343, F. & A. M., will pay a fraternal visit to Mt. Tabor Lodge, 807, F. & A. M., Hunter, Saturday, Sept. 15, when the third degree will be conferred on a class of Rondout Lodge's candidates by the famous Scottish degree team of Thistle Lodge, 900, F. & A. M., Yonkers. A cordial invitation is extended to all Master Masons to attend. Those having cars are requested to meet at the Masonic Temple at 6:30 p. m. to take members desiring transportation.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—A sharply lower sweep took stock market prices down abruptly today.

The decline extended to between $2 and $3 a share with selling appearing in all corners of the market.

There was no acute pressure on the selling side, however, and offerings at lower prices were readily absorbed.

The lower movement was headed by the railroads which were closely followed by oils, steels and coppers.

All of these groups have had their day of buying popularity in recent sessions, and now they are taking their turn on the selling side.

Other sections of the market were lower but without the more pronounced activity shown in these four main areas.

The fall today was from a 21-year peak as measured by the Associated Press average and followed a sustained advance in the average that has been exceeded only once in the past 25 years.

Has Meat Oversupply

London, Sept. 11 (AP)—Rationed Britain is in trouble over meat again. Now, there is a temporary oversupply. Organized butchers announced today they will get together with Food Minister Maurice Webb Friday to tell him they can't sell all the meat they've got in their shops. They will urge Webb to take meat off the ration for the time being.

Battle Goes On Over Mrs. America

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Penny Duncan of New York city reigned as the new Mrs. America today amid irate protests from a number of contest judges who claimed she was not the "real winner."

"Me? I won't even judge horses after this," snorted screen star Wendell Corey who charged that the coveted beauty title should have gone to Mrs. Peggy E. Creel —Mrs. Central Florida—who "received the most votes." Mrs. Creel finished third in the contest. Corey said the Florida beauty actually received 23 of the judges' 24 votes.

Corey's protest was termed a publicity stunt by Bert Nevins, managing director of the beauty competition staged annually at Asbury Park, N. J. This year's event ended Sunday night when Mrs. Duncan was crowned.

From Reading, Pa., where he is accompanying Mrs. America on a personal appearance tour, Nevins said:

"There was no pre-arranging whatsoever and it's unfair to Mrs. Duncan to thus become the butt of a publicity stunt."

Meets With Newsmen

Corey who met with newsmen in his hotel room here last night was backed up by other disgruntled judges.

Said television star Eileen Wilson:

"I gave Mrs. Central Florida my first place vote and know the rest of the beauty judges did too, with the exception of one man. He gave her a second or third place vote."

A contest spokesman said the winner not only was picked on the basis of the judges' ballots but also on background and recipes submitted by the contestants.

But another T-V star, Mrs. Maggie Johnson, one of the 12 judges in the homemaking section, said:

"I voted for Mrs. Creel and so did everyone else in our section. The final decision is humiliating. We were just used as stooges."

Court Postponed For Alien Exams

An examination of aliens in preparation for naturalization court was being held in the court room today and will continue on Wednesday. Consequently County Judge John M. Cashin adjourned county court until 10 o'clock Thursday and jurors were excused until that time.

One case was announced settled when court met briefly at 10 o'clock this morning. An action for work, labor and services brought by Thomas Shone against Beatrice Donnell, was settled. Attorney Harry Gold appeared for plaintiff and Napoletano, Kelly & Saccoman for the defendant.

Criminal matters have been adjourned until Monday, September 17, when District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn will take up the criminal calendar.

Eisenhower Invited

Papagos Holds Lead in Greece

Athens, Greece, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Royalist Greek Rally party of Field Marshal Alexander Papagos continued to lead today with just a few precincts and the military vote missing in Greece's parliament election.

But there was uncertainty whether the military hero would win majority control of parliament because of the late spurt by the third-place Liberal party of Sophocles Venizelos.

With only 49 of 3,910 precincts and 200,000 military votes missing, the Interior Ministry said, the Papagos group had 34.9 per cent of the total vote for a tentative 116 seats. Gen. Nicholas Plastiras' Center Progressive Union Party had 23.7 for a tentative 69 seats; and Venizelos jumped from 17 to 19.6 for 50 seats. The Communist-backed Democratic Front comes next with 11.2 per cent.

Can Win Control

Under Greece's complicated proportional election system, Papagos can win Parliament control by getting about 35 per cent of the total vote.

Papagos, who resigned as commander-in-chief in a dispute with King Paul, needs possible 131 seats to win a Parliament majority.

The votes of the armed forces —which could possibly decide the issue—may not be counted for a week to 10 days.

Home Building Exceeds U. S. Goal

Saranac Inn, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—Home building this year will exceed the national goal of 850,000 units by approximately 175,000 units, a field representative of the National Savings and Loan League said today.

Herbert C. Smith predicted a 1951 total of about 1,025,000 starts on new homes, in an address prepared for the 63rd annual convention of the New York State Savings and Loan League.

Smith said the same official goal of 850,000 units was expected to be set for 1952. But, he added, there already was pressure from defense agencies to reduce the goal. He asserted that any such pressure would be resisted.

Garden Club Hears Of Tropical Flowers At Meeting Friday

A paper on tropical flowers given by Miss Ruth Waterbury highlighted a meeting of the Little Gardens Club, held Friday at the Nieuw Dorp in Hurley, with Mrs. Iven S. Freer as hostess.

Miss Waterbury explained that her first introduction to tropical flowers came in 1920 when she peered out of a porthole on board the SS Guiana, a small Quebec steamship plying the waterways between New York and British Guiana. Before her lay the island of St. Thomas, government seat of the Virgin Islands, which was purchased from Denmark in 1917.

"The harbor of St. Thomas," she explained, "is the most picturesque of any of the 12 islands I have visited in the Caribbean. Here were pink, yellow or white washed houses made of conch cement located on the hillsides with varied colors of tropical flowers in bloom."

Miss Waterbury's second introduction to tropical blooms came in the winter of '29 when on a month's cruise she visited Nassau, Cuba, Jamaica, Curacoa, the Panama Canal Zone, Trinidad, Martinique, Bermuda, and other Caribbean ports. Later, in 1945 and 1949 she visited Florida.

Flowers Are Similar

"In all the tropical places visited," Miss Waterbury told club members, "the predominating flowers and shrubs were practically the same . . . hibiscus, oleanders, royal poincianna, bougainvilla vines."

She described the poincianna, which comes from Madagascar as one of the best known and most beautiful. She said in the Caribbean oleanders are raised in wash tubs, and moved from place to place, while in St. Thomas every known color of the species is grown.

Miss Waterbury then went on to describe yellow elder, a shrub six to 10 feet in height which comes originally from Mexico and the Argentine. The shrub bears clusters of canary yellow bells in both the spring and fall, and thrives in a dry, sunny location.

Mentions Other Species

Other species the speaker mentioned included cassia or Jamaican candlelight, a spreading, rapid growing shrub with large light green leaves and long golden spikes which bloom from Thanksgiving through the holidays.

Hibiscus she described as a probable native of China introduced here from Hawaii, and perfectly at home in southern Florida.

"I have seen hibuscus blooms in the West Indies" she explained, "which are very beautiful . . . a different variety of color than those I have seen in Florida. When picked, they will last about 24 hours without being placed in water."

The speaker also mentioned the hot houses on the Pierre S. duPont estate in Pennsylvania where every well-known flower is grown and suggested that garden clubs should both visit the estate and read an article describing it in the National Geographic.

During the refreshment hour which followed, Mrs. John H. Saxe poured.

Fair Street School Doubles Facilities

The Fair Street Nursery School, 209 Fair street, an affiliate of the Fair Street Reformed Church, opened its doors this week to a capacity number of three and four-year-olds. John B. Sterley Is Announced Honorary YW Drive Chairman

Judge John B. Sterley of the Surrogate Court has been named honorary chairman of the YWCA's annual fund-raising campaign, Mrs. John Kelly, general chairman, announced today.

This year's drive, scheduled to end October 22, will open with the annual campaign dinner October 1. The organization, which serves all groups from teen-agers through the elderly members of the Golden Age Club, and strives to build both friendship and understanding, has announced this year's goal is $9,500.

"In these days," a YW spokesman explained recently, "since it is even more important for such a character building organization to maintain its high standards in the community, it is hoped all will help to make the goal a reality."

Serving on the campaign committee with Mrs. Kelly are Mrs. William E. Gaffken, vice-chairman; Mrs. Theron L. Culver, initial gifts; Mrs. Dale W. Swartzmiller, campaign office; Mrs. Fred Port, hospitality; Mrs. Morgan Ryan, records; Mrs. Peter D. Corsones, Mrs. Harold Davis and Miss Beatrice Bogert.

Mrs. William Anderson, Port Ewen, Wins West Park Flower Show Sweepstakes Award

Bright, clear weather marked the 22nd annual West Park flower show held last Saturday and Sunday in Ascension Church parish hall, which was crowded with flower enthusiasts both days.

Mrs. William Anderson of Port Ewen copped the show's Sweepstakes Award, a lovely silver bowl, which must be won three times to be retained. Mrs. Anderson reached the highest number of points with awards in both horticulture and artistic arrangement classes.

Although the previous week's heavy rains marred some of the flowers, the massed effect was impressive. Horticulture classes provided competition in dahlias, gladioli, zinnias, marigolds, petunias and other late summer and fall flowers. Outstanding in the artistic arrangement classes were gladioli, white flowers in a white container, foliage arrangements and miniature gardens.

Miss Helena Olds of New Paltz won the tri-color ribbon for the most outstanding artistic arrangement, a combination of miniature roses and artemisia displayed in a wall niche.

Harry Briggs of Poughkeepsie won a tri-color ribbon for the best dahlia exhibited, a handsome yellow bloom, Theuodus. A third tricolor ribbon winner was John Bell of Milton for the finest gladioli shown, the Montpelier. Mr. Briggs also won a $5 prize for the highest number of points in horticulture exclusive of the cup winner, and Miss Olds won a similar prize in artistic arrangements.

Prizes of $1 each were won by Robert Drake, Miss Judy Drake, Miss Katrina van Benschoten and Miss Jean Burger, all of West Park, for their displays in the children's classes which featured dish gardens and arrangements of flowers in a salt shaker.

Especially Interesting

Of special interest each year is an artistic arrangement class judged by popular vote. The theme of this year's arrangement was My Choice, which allowed any type of flower to be used in an antique container. Voters awarded a $5 prize to Mrs. Anderson for her arrangement of roses in an antique rose bowl. A tasteful arrangement of cacti and succulents by Mohonk gardens entered in the educational exhibits class also attracted much attention.

In connection with the flower show an illustrated lecture on native wild flowers was given Saturday night by Julian Burroughs. There was also an accompanying exhibit of paintings by a group of West Park artists. Two of the paintings were still lifes of flowers displayed at the 1950 show. They were painted by Ursula Love and Elizabeth Burroughs Kelly.

Mrs. William Anderson of Port Ewen copped the show's Sweepstakes Award, a lovely silver bowl, which must be won three times to be retained. Mrs. Anderson reached the highest number of points with awards in both horticulture and artistic arrangement classes.

Although the previous week's heavy rains marred some of the flowers, the massed effect was impressive. Horticulture classes provided competition in dahlias, gladioli, zinnias, marigolds, petunias and other late summer and fall flowers. Outstanding in the artistic arrangement classes were gladioli, white flowers in a white container, foliage arrangements and miniature gardens.

Miss Helena Olds of New Paltz won the tri-color ribbon for the most outstanding artistic arrangement, a combination of miniature roses and artemisia displayed in a wall niche.

Harry Briggs of Poughkeepsie won a tri-color ribbon for the best dahlia exhibited, a handsome yellow bloom, Theuodus. A third tri-color ribbon winner was John Bell of Milton for the finest gladioli shown, the Montpelier. Mr. Briggs also won a $5 prize for the highest number of points in horticulture exclusive of the cup winner, and Miss Olds won a similar prize in artistic arrangements.

Prizes of $1 each were won by Robert Drake, Miss Judy Drake, Miss Katrina van Benschoten and Miss Jean Burger, all of West Park, for their displays in the children's classes which featured dish gardens and arrangements of flowers in a salt shaker.

Especially Interesting

Of special interest each year is an artistic arrangement class judged by popular vote. The theme of this year's arrangement was My Choice, which allowed any type of flower to be used in an antique container. Voters awarded a $5 prize to Mrs. Anderson for her arrangement of roses in an antique rose bowl. A tasteful arrangement of cacti and succulents by Mohonk gardens entered in the educational exhibits class also attracted much attention.

In connection with the flower show an illustrated lecture on native wild flowers was given Saturday night by Julian Burroughs. There was also an accompanying exhibit of paintings by a group of West Park artists. Two of the paintings were still lifes of flowers displayed at the 1950 show. They were painted by Ursula Love and Elizabeth Burroughs Kelly.

Garden Club Hears Of Tropical Flowers At Meeting Friday

A paper on tropical flowers given by Miss Ruth Waterbury highlighted a meeting of the Little Gardens Club, held Friday at the Nieuw Dorp in Hurley, with Mrs. Iven S. Freer as hostess.

Miss Waterbury explained that her first introduction to tropical flowers came in 1920 when she peered out of a porthole on board the SS Guiana, a small Quebec steamship plying the waterways between New York and British Guiana. Before her lay the island of St. Thomas, government seat of the Virgin Islands, which was purchased from Denmark in 1917.

"The harbor of St. Thomas," she explained, "is the most picturesque of any of the 12 islands I have visited in the Caribbean. Here were pink, yellow or white washed houses made of conch cement located on the hillsides with varied colors of tropical flowers in bloom."

Miss Waterbury's second introduction to tropical blooms came in the winter of '29 when on a month's cruise she visited Nassau, Cuba, Jamaica, Curacoa, the Panama Canal Zone, Trinidad, Martinique, Bermuda, and other Caribbean ports. Later, in 1945 and 1949 she visited Florida.

Flowers Are Similar

"In all the tropical places visited," Miss Waterbury told club members, "the predominating flowers and shrubs were practically the same . . . hibiscus, oleanders, royal poincianna, bougainvilla vines."

She described the poincianna, which comes from Madagascar as one of the best known and most beautiful. She said in the Caribbean oleanders are raised in wash tubs, and moved from place to place, while in St. Thomas every known color of the species is grown.

Miss Waterbury then went on to describe yellow elder, a shrub six to 10 feet in height which comes originally from Mexico and the Argentine. The shrub bears clusters of canary yellow bells in both the spring and fall, and thrives in a dry, sunny location.

Mentions Other Species

Other species the speaker mentioned included cassia or Jamaican candlelight, a spreading, rapid growing shrub with large light green leaves and long golden spikes which bloom from Thanksgiving through the holidays.

Hibiscus she described as a probable native of China introduced here from Hawaii, and perfectly at home in southern Florida.

"I have seen hibuscus blooms in the West Indies" she explained, "which are very beautiful . . . a different variety of color than those I have seen in Florida. When picked, they will last about 24 hours without being placed in water."

The speaker also mentioned the hot houses on the Pierre S. duPont estate in Pennsylvania where every well-known flower is grown and suggested that garden clubs should both visit the estate and read an article describing it in the National Geographic.

During the refreshment hour which followed, Mrs. John H. Saxe poured.

Mrs. William Anderson, Port Ewen, Wins West Park Flower Show Sweepstakes Award

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

SENDING ANNOUNCEMENTS

A letter today says: "My daughter was married quietly, only the immediate families were present. We are now ready to mail the announcements of the marriage but are confused about this: Should they be sent to people who, having heard of her wedding, are already sending her gifts?"

The announcements should be sent out to all as promptly as possible. In thanking each sender of a present an explanation should be given as to why the wedding had to be so small.

Parents of Attendants Included

Dear Mrs. Post: Do the parents of the wedding attendants have to be invited to the wedding reception? Even when they are strangers?

Answer: Definitely yes—unless the wedding is to be so small that the "witnesses" are to include none but the immediate members of the two families. In this case even the parents of the best man and the bride's maid of honor would not be included unless they themselves were nearest friends.

Presents Returned

Dear Mrs. Post: My son was engaged to be married. At the time the engagement was announced I gave his fiancee a party and many people gave her showers. She received many lovely presents. When the engagement was broken my son had a hard time recovering his ring from her and we understand the girl has returned none of the presents given her at showers as well as the engagement party. I think she ought to send back those things given by our friends and relatives. Is there anything I can do to influence their return?

Answer: They should, of course, be returned If she is so lacking in a sense of honor to insist upon keeping them, there isn't anything you can do but be thankful for your son's lucky escape!

Socially "Mrs." Correct

Dear Mrs. Post: A young woman has recently obtained a divorce but insists upon calling herself Miss. It was my opinion that even after a divorce she should remain Mrs. Am I wrong?

Answer: You are right. In private life "Mrs." can never become "Miss." In business or professional life she can call herself by whatever name she pleases.

Grange News

Farm cooperative tax proposal by Senate Finance Committee is stirring up a hornets' nest among farm organizations such as Grange and Farm Bureau. National Master Newson has labeled them "iniquitous" and "unsound." It should be understood that these proposals have nothing to do with the earlier fight on whether co-ops should be taxed. Taxable co-ops are taxed on the same basis as other corporations today, and have already given up their federal income tax exemption. This new proposal would be a deadly blow at the farmer's best marketing outlet. Granges would do well to get in touch with Deputy State Masters, who have a copy of the new tax proposals, study them, and let their voices be heard by their Congressmen. This may well increase food cost and ripple marketing facilities which benefit farmer and consumer.

Grange Sunday is a pleasant custom in many communities, where union services sometimes are held in church to bring together, in grateful recognition of harvest time, farm and town people alike. This is definitely the time to make plans for such services, either this month or in October. The Rural Church Institute at Ithaca will cooperate by sending plans for a Harvest Festival Sunday (not to be confused with the earlier (Rural Life Sunday). An attractively printed program in color is available, together with suggestions for making this fine occasion one of worship and gratitude. Write the RCI at Barnes Hall, Ithaca, for details.

State sessions at Syracuse are in the minds of New York State Grange members everywhere, as election of delegates are being currently held in the 895 Subordinate Granges over the state. This, the 79th to be held since the first provisional organization, also at Syracuse, in November 6, 1873, again brings the membership together to decide many important issues affecting farm and community not only in the state but nationally. Wise deliberation by rural America is ever an efficient and necessary yardstick.

Grandparent Move Asked by Doctor

St. Louis, Sept. 11 (AP)—A New York doctor suggested today that communities start a "foster grandparent movement" — providing a grandma or grandpop for kids whose own are dead or far away.

Dr. Frank Fremont Smith said such a system—carried on very informally — would yield such benefits as:

(1) Instilling early in the child a warm regard for the elderly—an "attitude that is likely to remain with him throughout life."

(2) Counteracting, in many elderly people, the "deprivation of affection and sense of loneliness which constitutes one of the most serious problems among the aged and is bad for their health."

"In the long run," said the doctor in an interview, "such a movement would have an influence on the total problem of an aging population in which we tend to reject our older people."

The doctor, medical director of the Josiah Macy, Jr. Foundation—a charitable organization which supports medical research—is attending the second international gerontological congress here.

He told a reporter the "adopted grandparents" idea is particularly applicable at the present time "when families are moving around so much more and more frequently young people become separated from their own grandparents."

Grange News

Farm cooperative tax proposal by Senate Finance Committee is stirring up a hornets' nest among farm organizations such as Grange and Farm Bureau. National Master Newson has labeled them "iniquitous" and "unsound." It should be understood that these proposals have nothing to do with the earlier fight on whether co-ops should be taxed. Taxable co-ops are taxed on the same basis as other corporations today, and have already given up their federal income tax exemption. This new proposal would be a deadly blow at the farmer's best marketing outlet. Grances would do well to get in touch with Deputy State Masters, who have a copy of the new tax proposals, study them, and let their voices be heard by their Congressmen. This may well increase food cost and ripple marketing facilities which benefit farmer and consumer.

Grange Sunday is a pleasant custom in many communities, where union services sometimes are held in church to bring together, in grateful recognition of harvest time, farm and town people alike. This is definitely the time to make plans for such services, either this month or in October. The Rural Church Institute at Ithaca will cooperate by sending plans for a Harvest Festival Sunday (not to be confused with the earlier (Rural Life Sunday). An attractively printed program in color is available, together with suggestions for making this fine occasion one of worship and gratitude. Write the RCI at Barnes Hall, Ithaca, for details.

State sessions at Syracuse are in the minds of New York State Grange members everywhere, as election of delegates are being currently held in the 895 Subordinate Granges over the state. This, the 79th to be held since the first provisional organization, also at Syracuse, in November 6, 1873, again brings the membership together to decide many important issues affecting farm and community not only in the state but nationally. Wise deliberation by rural America is ever an efficient and necessary yardstick.

Grandparent Move Asked by Doctor

St. Louis, Sept. 11 (AP)—A New York doctor suggested today that communities start a "foster grandparent movement" — providing a grandma or grandpop for kids whose own are dead or far away.

Dr. Frank Fremont Smith said such a system—carried on very informally — would yield such benefits as:

(1) Instilling early in the child a warm regard for the elderly—an "attitude that is likely to remain with him throughout life."

(2) Counteracting, in many elderly people, the "deprivation of affection and sense of loneliness which constitutes one of the most serious problems among the aged and is bad for their health."

"In the long run," said the doctor in an interview, "such a movement would have an influence on the total problem of an aging population in which we tend to reject our older people."

The doctor, medical director of the Josiah Macy, Jr. Foundation—a charitable organization which supports medical research—is attending the second international gerontological congress here.

He told a reporter the "adopted grandparents" idea is particularly applicable at the present time "when families are moving around so much more and more frequently young people become separated from their own grandparents."

Grandparent Move Asked by Doctor

St. Louis, Sept. 11 (AP)—A New York doctor suggested today that communities start a "foster grandparent movement"—providing a grandma or grandpop for kids whose own are dead or far away.

Dr. Frank Fremont Smith said such a system—carried on very informally—would yield such benefits as:

(1) Instilling early in the child a warm regard for the elderly—an "attitude that is likely to remain with him throughout life."

(2) Counteracting, in many elderly people, the "deprivation of affection and sense of loneliness which constitutes one of the most serious problems among the aged and is bad for their health."

"In the long run," said the doctor in an interview, "such a movement would have an influence on the total problem of an aging population in which we tend to reject our older people."

The doctor, medical director of the Josiah Macy, Jr. Foundation—a charitable organization which supports medical research—is attending the second international gerontological congress here.

He told a reporter the "adopted grandparents" idea is particularly applicable at the present time "when families are moving around so much more and more frequently young people become separated from their own grandparents."

Jones Dairy Forfeits Playoff Contest to Boulevard Gulf

Have Only Eight Players on Hand

Jones Dairy will try to field nine men for the renewal of the City Baseball League Shaughnessy playoff with Boulevard Gulf on Wednesday evening, after having experienced the extreme embarrassment of a forfeit to the Gulfmen on Monday.

Nobody can recall if anything like that ever happened to the Dairymen during their 10-year regime as champions and a league power.

At game time yesterday, the Dairymen had only eight men on the field and nary a pitcher. Tommy Fisher, who was slated to oppose Bullet Bill Tierney, had a sore arm and Clark Donlon, the other pitching choice, was reported sick.

Lead By Two

The Gulfmen's 9-0 forfeit victory gave them a two-game lead in the best-of-five series and put them in a strong position to sweep the finals when the series is resumed Wednesday.

Bullet Bill Tierney is fully rested and eager for a shot at the Dairymen, while Fisher's arm hardly figures to improve and there is no guarantee that Donlon will be sufficiently improved to take his turn on the mound.

The forfeit was a blow not only to Manager Johnny Schatzel and his crew but to the City League coffers as well. There had been a surprising pickup in the collections at the games since the Shaughnessy playoffs started and there was high hope that a rousing five-game finals between Joneses and Boulevards would go far toward erasing a large part of the operational deficit incurred during the regular season.

Messinger Stunned

Secretary Joe Messinger's reaction to the Jones Dairy forfeit was typical of that expressed by many City League fans.

"The one thing I never expected to live to see happened in the City League last night...the forfeit of a Shaughnessy finals playoff... and Jones Dairy at that!"

"If, by any chance," continued Messinger, "you happen to meet the guy that said everything that can happen to baseball in Kingston is happening this year, tell him that goes double for me."

If Jones Dairy has a complete roster on hand Wednesday and squeezes by the Gulfmen, the fourth game will be played on Thursday at 6 p. m.

If a fifth and final contest is necessary, it will be staged on Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

By CHARLES J. TIANO

● A Fabulous Competitor Passes On:

The late Joe Falcaro, whose sudden death a few days ago came as a shock to the bowling world, had a slogan that earned him the nickname of "Chesty Joe" and elicited derision in some quarters of big time bowling.

It went something like this: "I'm the greatest bowler I ever saw." His fans and supporters loved it. His critics and rivals sneered at it.

But Chesty Joe's rating among the all-time great match game shooters is secure. He came from that fabulous era of Jimmy Smith, Billy Knox, Jimmy Blouin, Joe Scribner and other tenpin titans.

Falcaro's colorful, hectic career spanned the old head-to-head match game days to the modern elimination methods. Of the latter he would have none. He was reared in the colorful atmosphere of home-and-home matches for huge purses and his accomplishments as an exhibition bowler have never been equalled.

He was part of that fabulous Golden Era of Sports of Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Babe Ruth, Bill Tilden, Jack Dempsey; the era that sports historians have called the age of wonderful nonsense.

We got to know Joe Falcaro very well in his later years. We met him for the first time in 1932 when he was touring this neck of the woods and accompanied on a couple of trips to Liberty and Monticello.

The trip to Liberty always stands out because on that night of a swirling snowstorm in the mountain stronghold, Falcaro had the mountaineers gasping at the manner in which he assaulted their No. 4 alley. This was supposed to be a toughie which nobody could solve. Chesty Joe cracked it for strikes 14 straight times and racked up an average for seven games that will stand for all-time in Liberty.

Falcaro's on-and-off feud with Andy Varipapa forms one of the legends of the game. Joe reached his peak long before Varipapa, who blossomed out as two-time match game champion in his early 50s. We always felt that Falcaro never gave Varipapa the credit due him, but it was a strange twist of fate that Varipapa was to vault to national fame when Falcaro was lingering in virtual obscurity.

The heated rivalry between these old pals who grew up together fanned into the open with a phenomenal 30-game match test at the old Capitol alleys in New York. Bowling has never seen its equal.

In 30 games on the famed No. 21 and No. 22 alleys at the Capitol, Falcaro dealt Varipapa an unmerciful lacing with a sensational 255 average for the 30-game route. He knocked off two perfect scores of "300" and Andy had one.

There was considerable popping off and challenging in subsequent years but Falcaro and Varipapa never came together again in a showdown test. Falcaro typified the great match game players and there were many observers who always felt that Varipapa could never lick Joe when the chips were down. Varipapa went on to achieve national acclaim as an exhibition bowler and trick shot artist and his two triumphs as national match game champion insured him a niche in the Hall of Fame with Falcaro.

Falcaro and Varipapa were not always enemies. On the contrary, they were teammates on perhaps the most amazing five-man match game squad in the history of bowling. It was a unique aggregation. It rolled and won one $2,000 match and then had to disband because no other tenpin aggregation in the country would dare challenge it.

On that immortal combine were four members of bowling's Hall of Fame and a fifth, Chester Arnhorst, who, although not so prominent nationally, was one of the great pinmen of his day. The other four? Only Joe Falcaro, Andy Varipapa, Barney Spinella and Mort Lindsey.

In later years, Chesty Joe fondly referred to that murderous tenpin crew as "burglars." They walloped a famous Cleveland combine that featured all-time Ohio greats like Walter Ward, Skang Mercurio and Joe Bodis by several thousand pins, took the $2,000 and that was the last time they ever appeared as a unit.

Many other incidents and anecdotes in Joe's illustrious career stand out but those we'll save until a later date.

Joe Falcaro may not have been "the greatest bowler I ever saw," but he was far and away the most colorful character the game has ever produced. And he rolled only 69 perfect scores of "300."

Stranahan Ousted; Urzetta Wins, 4-3

Campbell and Bishop Major Casualties

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 11 (AP)—It doesn't pay to be a favorite in the 51st annual National Amateur golf championship.

If you don't believe it, ask handsome Frank Stranahan, Toledo strongboy, Big Bill Campbell, former West Virginia legislator, or Bobby Knowles, French Amateur champion from Boston.

They were all mentioned as possible 1951 amateur kings. Today they're on the sidelines.

The big question among the 128 contestants left in the field at beautiful Saucon Valley Country Club is: What famous golf head will roll in today's second round?

It could be defending champion Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., Walker Cuppers, Willie Turnesa, Charley Coe, Jim McHale, Dick Chapman or Harold Paddock.

Biggest Surprise

Unquestionably the elimination of Stranahan was the opening day's most astounding event. The spark plug heir, who lost the 1950 amateur to Urzetta in a sudden death playoff, was ushered out of the competition by, of all things, a week-end golfer. It was Frank's ninth futile attempt to win a National Amateur championship.

Boz Kuntz, a 29-year-old marketing administrator for a chemical firm, rallied from a two-hole deficit with two holes to play to tie the match in regulation play, and then outgamed the bewildered Stranahan in the second of two extra holes. Kuntz, of Larchmont, N. Y., admitted to having played only 11 weekday games of golf since the first of the year. He plays only on week-ends.

Campbell didn't know it at the time, but he practically predicted his own downfall. Sitting at lunch, Bill remarked that this was the kind of tournament and type of course that might see the top boys falling like tenpins. Then he walked out the door and was almost slaughtered by Lloyd D. Ribner, White Plains, N. Y., 4 and 2. At one point Ribner was five up.

Bob Eckis, Jr., Kenmore, N. Y., a 27-year-old New York insurance salesman whose only claim to fame is a 10-year-old New York junior title, uprooted Knowles, like Stranahan and Campbell, a Walker Cupper. Eckis' one up victory earned him a second-round crack at Francis J. Allan, West Pittston, Pa., who had a first-round bye.

Bishop Falls

Another veteran to fall victim in the wave of upsets was Stanley (Ted) Bishop, white haired Weston, Mass., golfer. Bishop, 1946 amateur champion, received his comeuppance from Billy Joe Patton, 29-year-old lumber salesman from Morganton, N. C., Patton's one up win sends him against Mike Dudik, Johnson City, N. Y. Dudik also had a first round bye.

The hex hanging over favorites didn't bother Urzetta, who turned in the most workmanlike job of the day in disposing of Eugene Zuspann, 36-year-old lawyer from Goodland, Kan.

He rammed home a pair of 25 footers and a 30-footer in playing 15 holes in two under par and won 4 and 3. The opinion here is that it will take a good golfer, having a good day to stop Urzetta's rush toward a second straight amateur crown, a trick unturned since Lawson Little won in 1934 and 1935. Urzetta's second round opponent, who fittingly rested through the first round, is John H. Selby, Dallas, Tex.

Turnesa, Coe, McHale, Chapman and Paddock all had first round byes and are making their tourney trip around the 6,979 yard par 71 course today.

Blaik at Colorado

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 11 (AP)—Bob Blaik, son of Army football coach Earl Blaik, has enrolled at Colorado College, President William H. Gill announced today. Young Blaik, quarterback on his father's great team last season, is one of the cadets ousted in the Army cribbing scandal. Blaik, a senior majoring in physics, will not be eligible for varsity sports here this year.

Braves Sign Tiger

Boston, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Boston Braves yesterday signed Jim Fairchild, former Princeton University outfielder. He will be assigned to the Braves' Evansville farm in the Three-I League. Fairchild played with the Liverpool club in Nova Scotia last summer. A native of Manhasset, Long Island, N. Y., he is 22, weighs 165 pounds and is 5-11.

Manager Should Have Faith in Pitchers, Build Confidence by Showing It — Al Lopez

First of six dispatches by managers of leading major league clubs written for NEA Service

By AL LOPEZ
Indians' Manager

Connie Mack and other pundits long have held that pitching is from 75 to 90 per cent of baseball.

I wouldn't attempt to say just what portion it is of the game, but's a mighty big one.

Look at the Indians.

Once a manager is blessed with a capable staff, he should take great care to handle it properly.

This is the most important thing in connection with managing.

Once a manager has faith in his pitchers he should build their confidence by showing it.

A manager should build his staff gradually. Three starters are sufficient in the spring. Add a fourth as the weather gets better. During the hot months, with double-headers piling up, you add a fifth, perhaps a sixth.

The Indians were like a right-hand zany fighter when the race began, so had to make the deal for southpaw Lou Brissie.

Mixing pitching arms baffles the rival manager. He can't adjust his batting order.

When bull pen action is required, it should be furnished by a right and a left-hander.

Let each man take his regular turn.

Some need longer rests than others. Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon of the Cleveland club, for example, take their regular turns and chip in with some late-inning relief duty as well. They thrive on extra work. It keeps them sharp. Bob Feller, on the other hand, occasionally likes an extra day off.

Such variances generally balance themselves and a regular schedule can be patterned.

You can ruin a pitcher's control using him out of turn.

It's dangerous to the pitcher and the club.

Al Lopez

CHIEF — Here is Caricaturist George Scarbo's pic on Al Lopez. (NEA)

Once a game starts, a manager should keep his eyes open for signs of wildness or weakening.

If a pitcher is wild, get him out of there early, unless you are far enough ahead to go along with him hoping he will settle down. Usually, he won't.

A manager can blow a game in the last two innings by not realizing that the pitcher is tired.

If the opposition jumps on him for a couple of runs, they're hard to get back that late. Time runs out.

Even with a substantial lead, it isn't smart to let a tired pitcher finish. Put your relief man to work. That's what you're paying him for.

A tired pitcher experiences difficulty finding the plate. His stuff is gone. His fast ball isn't hard enough to hurt a rabbit. They'll drill holes through him.

Ask your catcher when you are undecided whether a pitcher is losing his stuff.

He's first to notice it.

Pitchers must be good fielders, able to handle bunts and balls hit right back or just to one side of them.

They must be able to cover any base.

They must be able to pull the pick-off play. Many a game has been won or saved by nailing a napping runner off first or second base.

A mediocre club at the plate can attain greatness if it has superior pitching.

The White Sox of 1906 illustrated that.

That's why they still live as the Hitless Wonders.

NEXT: Charley Dressen of the Dodgers.

Limited Schedule For Garden Cagers

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—There will be a small menu for college basketball fans at Madison Square Garden this winter.

Not only will such local favorites as C.C.N.Y. and Long Island University be among the missing but such out-of-town standbys as Kentucky, Kansas State, Bradley, Bowling Green, San Francisco, UCLA, Stanford and Washington State will be absent.

There will be only 18 regular scheduled doubleheaders at Madison Square Garden, the fewest in years. Last year 28 twin bills were scheduled but only 26 were held. C.C.N.Y. and L.I.U. cancelled out of the final two when some of their players were disclosed to have been involved in the widespread fixing scandals.

The 18 college dates are the lowest for the Garden since the 1944-45 seasons when 18 also were played.

Kentucky, which has been coming here off and on since the 1934-35 season, has its own field house now and arranged a home-and-home series with St. John's of Brooklyn before the fix cases broke. This is the year they are to play in Lexington.

St. John's, New York University and Manhattan College will carry the load for the local schools, according to the Garden schedule released yesterday. N.Y.U. will have 15 dates, St. John's 12 and Manhattan nine. Seton Hall University of South Orange, N. J., will make two appearances, against Iona and Western Kentucky.

LIU dropped varsity basketball altogether when its players became involved in the scandal and New York's Board of Higher Education ordered C.C.N.Y. out of the Garden.

Chicoutimi, Quebec — Fernando Gagnon, 117, Quebec, knocked out Merril Olmstead, 118, Springfield, Mass. (5).

Oneonta and Glovers In Can-Am Finals

Homers Feature Decisive Wins

(By The Associated Press)

The champion Oneonta Red Sox and the fourth-place Gloversville Glovers will open the showdown series for the Canadian-American League playoff championship tonight at Oneonta.

The Sox moved into the finals by downing the third-place Amsterdam Rugmakers, 5-3 at Amsterdam last night. The win, Oneonta's third straight in the playoffs, gave the Sox the series, three games to one.

The Glovers eliminated the Pittsfield Electrics, three games to two, with a 5-3 victory at Gloversville.

Paul Aylward of Oneonta hurled a four-hitter in defeating the Ruggers. Gene Hearing hit a two-run homer off the Ruggers' Lou Paz in the fourth, and Archie Getzin of the Sox belted one with the bases empty in the fifth.

Homers also spiced the contest at Gloversville. Pittsfield's Dick Zack hit over the 350-foot mark with Charlie Ruddock aboard in the first inning. The Glovers came back with three runs in their half when Pedro Arroyo doubled, Bill McMillan singled him home and Lawson Williams walloped a 340-foot homer.

The Glovers scored the winning runs in the third when Sal Stampiglia, who had walked, scored on a double steal and Bill Long doubled home Williams, who also had walked.

The Electrics picked up their final run in the ninth on Ruddock's single and a double by Tom Cicento.

The line scores:

Oneonta	011 210 000	5	10 3
Amsterdam	110 010 000	3	4 1

Aylward and Atwood; Paz and Miastkowski.
(Oneonta wins semi-final series, 3-2)

Pittsfield	200 000 001	3	5
Gloversville	302 000 00x	5	9

McPhail (L), Glendenning (3), Sinsley (6) and Fitzgibbons; James, Wargo (1) (W), Barkus (6) and Vogt.
(Gloversville wins semi-final series 3-2)

Musial's .370 Tops National League

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—It's no longer a question of who will capture the National League batting championship but by how big a margin Stan Musial will win it.

Apparently getting better as the season progresses, Musial currently holds a 30-point bulge over his nearest competitor. Through games of Sunday, the St. Louis Cardinal's outfielder and first baseman is hitting .370.

Far behind in the runnerup spot is Richie Ashburn, of the Philadelphia Phillies. He is batting .340. Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn is third with .338.

Gun Club Meets

The first fall meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club will be held at the clubhouse tonight at 8 o'clock. Prizes for the first annual fishing contest will be awarded and refreshments will be served. All members are urged to attend.

Platoon System Appears Doomed

Los Angeles, Sept. 11 (AP)—On the ground that the platoon system is injurious to football, the NCAA's 17-man council will recommend revision of the free substitution rule to the rules committee at the January meeting in Cincinnati.

Prof. Hugh C. Willett of the University of Southern California, NCAA president, told football writers yesterday that the Council itself is unanimously opposed to the platoon system and will urge its reconsideration "to eliminate pressure elements but still protect the physical well-being of the players."

Major Opening

The 8-team Central Rec Major Bowling League will start its season on Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the Central Rec alleys on Railroad avenue.

Jones Dairy Forfeits Playoff Contest to Boulevard Gulf

Have Only Eight Players on Hand

Jones Dairy will try to field nine men for the renewal of the City Baseball League Shaughnessy playoff with Boulevard Gulf on Wednesday evening, after having experienced the extreme embarrassment of a forfeit to the Gulfmen on Monday.

Nobody can recall if anything like that ever happened to the Dairymen during their 10-year regime as champions and a league power.

At game time yesterday, the Dairymen had only eight men on the field and nary a pitcher. Tommy Fisher, who was slated to oppose Bullet Bill Tierney, had a sore arm and Clark Donlon, the other pitching choice, was reported sick.

Lead By Two

The Gulfmen's 9-0 forfeit victory gave them a two-game lead in the best-of-five series and put them in a strong position to sweep the finals when the series is resumed Wednesday.

Bullet Bill Tierney is fully rested and eager for a shot at the Dairymen, while Fisher's arm hardly figures to improve and there is no guarantee that Donlon will be sufficiently improved to take his turn on the mound.

The forfeit was a blow not only to Manager Johnny Schatzel and his crew but to the City League coffers as well. There had been a surprising pickup in the collections at the games since the Shaughnessy playoffs started and there was high hope that a rousing five-game finals between Joneses and Boulevards would go far toward erasing a large part of the operational deficit incurred during the regular season.

Messinger Stunned

Secretary Joe Messinger's reaction to the Jones Dairy forfeit was typical of that expressed by many City League fans.

"The one thing I never expected to live to see happened in the City League last night...the forfeit of a Shaughnessy finals playoff... and Jones Dairy at that!"

"If, by any chance," continued Messinger, "you happen to meet the guy that said everything that can happen to baseball in Kingston is happening this year, tell him that goes double for me."

If Jones Dairy has a complete roster on hand Wednesday and squeezes by the Gulfmen, the fourth game will be played on Thursday at 6 p. m.

If a fifth and final contest is necessary, it will be staged on Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

• A Fabulous Competitor Passes On:

The late Joe Falcaro, whose sudden death a few days ago came as a shock to the bowling world, had a slogan that earned him the nickname of "Chesty Joe" and elicited derision in some quarters of big time bowling.

It went something like this: "I'm the greatest bowler I ever saw." His fans and supporters loved it. His critics and rivals sneered at it.

But Chesty Joe's rating among the all-time great match game shooters is secure. He came from that fabulous era of Jimmy Smith, Billy Knox, Jimmy Blouin, Joe Scribner and other tenpin titans.

Falcaro's colorful, hectic career spanned the old head-to-head match game days to the modern elimination methods. Of the latter he would have none. He was reared in the colorful atmosphere of home-and-home matches for huge purses and his accomplishments as an exhibition bowler have never been equalled.

He was part of that fabulous Golden Era of Sports of Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Babe Ruth, Bill Tilden, Jack Dempsey; the era that sports historians have called the age of wonderful nonsense.

We got to know Joe Falcaro very well in his later years. We met him for the first time in 1932 when he was touring this neck of the woods and accompanied on a couple of trips to Liberty and Monticello.

The trip to Liberty always stands out because on that night of a swirling snowstorm in the mountain stronghold, Falcaro had the mountaineers gasping at the manner in which he assaulted their No. 4 alley. This was supposed to be a toughie which nobody could solve. Chesty Joe cracked it for strikes 14 straight times and racked up an average for seven games that will stand for all-time in Liberty.

Falcaro's on-and-off feud with Andy Varipapa forms one of the legends of the game. Joe reached his peak long before Varipapa, who blossomed out as two-time match game champion in his early 50s. We always felt that Falcaro never gave Varipapa the credit due him, but it was a strange twist of fate that Varipapa was to vault to national fame when Falcaro was lingering in virtual obscurity.

The heated rivalry between these old pals who grew up together fanned into the open with a phenomenal 30-game match test at the old Capitol alleys in New York. Bowling has never seen its equal.

In 30 games on the famed No. 21 and No. 22 alleys at the Capitol, Falcaro dealt Varipapa an unmerciful lacing with a sensational 255 average for the 30-game route. He knocked off two perfect scores of "300" and Andy had one.

There was considerable popping off and challenging in subsequent years but Falcaro and Varipapa never came together again in a showdown test. Falcaro typified the great match game players and there were many observers who always felt that Varipapa could never lick Joe when the chips were down. Varipapa went on to achieve national acclaim as an exhibition bowler and trick shot artist and his two triumphs as national match game champion insured him a niche in the Hall of Fame with Falcaro.

Falcaro and Varipapa were not always enemies. On the contrary, they were teammates on perhaps the most amazing five-man match game squad in the history of bowling. It was a unique aggregation. It rolled and won one $2,000 match and then had to disband because no other tenpin aggregation in the country would dare challenge it.

On that immortal combine were four members of bowling's Hall of Fame and a fifth, Chester Arnhorst, who, although not so prominent nationally, was one of the great pinmen of his day. The other four? Only Joe Falcaro, Andy Varipapa, Barney Spinella and Mort Lindsey.

In later years, Chesty Joe fondly referred to that murderous tenpin crew as "burglars." They walloped a famous Cleveland combine that featured all-time Ohio greats like Walter Ward, Skang Mercurio and Joe Bodis by several thousand pins, took the $2,000 and that was the last time they ever appeared as a unit.

Many other incidents and anecdotes in Joe's illustrious career stand out but those we'll save until a later date.

Joe Falcaro may not have been "the greatest bowler I ever saw," but he was far and away the most colorful character the game has ever produced. And he rolled only 69 perfect scores of "300."

Stranahan Ousted; Urzetta Wins, 4-3

Campbell and Bishop Major Casualties

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 11 (AP)—It doesn't pay to be a favorite in the 51st annual National Amateur golf championship.

If you don't believe it, ask handsome Frank Stranahan, Toledo strongboy, Big Bill Campbell, former West Virginia legislator, or Bobby Knowles, French Amateur champion from Boston.

They were all mentioned as possible 1951 amateur kings. Today they're on the sidelines.

The big question among the 128 contestants left in the field at beautiful Saucon Valley Country Club is: What famous golf head will roll in today's second round?

It could be defending champion Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., Walker Cuppers, Willie Turnesa, Charley Coe, Jim McHale, Dick Chapman or Harold Paddock.

Biggest Surprise

Unquestionably the elimination of Stranahan was the opening day's most astounding event. The spark plug heir, who lost the 1950 amateur to Urzetta in a sudden death playoff, was ushered out of the competition by, of all things, a week-end golfer. It was Frank's ninth futile attempt to win a National Amateur championship.

Boz Kuntz, a 29-year-old marketing administrator for a chemical firm, rallied from a two-hole deficit with two holes to play to tie the match in regulation play, and then outgamed the bewildered Stranahan in the second of two extra holes. Kuntz, of Larchmont, N. Y., admitted to having played only 11 weekday games of golf since the first of the year. He plays only on week-ends.

Campbell didn't know it at the time, but he practically predicted his own downfall. Sitting at lunch, Bill remarked that this was the kind of tournament and type of course that might see the top boys falling like tenpins. Then he walked out the door and was almost slaughtered by Lloyd D. Ribner, White Plains, N. Y., 4 and 2. At one point Ribner was five up.

Bob Eckis, Jr., Kenmore, N. Y., a 27-year-old New York insurance salesman whose only claim to fame is a 10-year-old New York junior title, uprooted Knowles, like Stranahan and Campbell, a Walker Cupper. Eckis' one up victory earned him a second-round crack at Francis J. Allan, West Pittston, Pa., who had a first-round bye.

Bishop Falls

Another veteran to fall victim in the wave of upsets was Stanley (Ted) Bishop, white haired Weston, Mass., golfer. Bishop, 1946 amateur champion, received his comeuppance from Billy Joe Patton, 29-year-old lumber salesman from Morganton, N. C., Patton's one up win sends him against Mike Dudik, Johnson City, N. Y. Dudik also had a first round bye.

The hex hanging over favorites didn't bother Urzetta, who turned in the most workmanlike job of the day in disposing of Eugene Zuspann, 36-year-old lawyer from Goodland, Kan.

He rammed home a pair of 25 footers and a 30-footer in playing 15 holes in two under par and won 4 and 3. The opinion here is that it will take a good golfer, having a good day to stop Urzetta's rush toward a second straight amateur crown, a trick unturned since Lawson Little won in 1934 and 1935. Urzetta's second round opponent, who fittingly rested through the first round, is John H. Selby, Dallas, Tex.

Turnesa, Coe, McHale, Chapman and Paddock all had first round byes and are making their tourney trip around the 6,979 yard par 71 course today.

Blaik at Colorado

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 11 (AP)—Bob Blaik, son of Army football coach Earl Blaik, has enrolled at Colorado College, President William H. Gill announced today. Young Blaik, quarterback on his father's great team last season, is one of the cadets ousted in the Army cribbing scandal. Blaik, a senior majoring in physics, will not be eligible for varsity sports here this year.

Braves Sign Tiger

Boston, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Boston Braves yesterday signed Jim Fairchild, former Princeton University outfielder. He will be assigned to the Braves' Evansville farm in the Three-I League. Fairchild played with the Liverpool club in Nova Scotia last summer. A native of Manhasset, Long Island, N. Y., he is 22, weighs 165 pounds and is 5-11.

Manager Should Have Faith in Pitchers, Build Confidence by Showing It — Al Lopez

First of six dispatches by managers of leading major league clubs written for NEA Service

By AL LOPEZ
Indians' Manager

Connie Mack and other pundits long have held that pitching is from 75 to 90 per cent of baseball.

I wouldn't attempt to say just what portion it is of the game, but's a mighty big one.

Look at the Indians.

Once a manager is blessed with a capable staff, he should take great care to handle it properly.

This is the most important thing in connection with managing.

Once a manager has faith in his pitchers he should build their confidence by showing it.

A manager should build his staff gradually. Three starters are sufficient in the spring. Add a fourth as the weather gets better. During the hot months, with double-headers piling up, you add a fifth, perhaps a sixth.

The Indians were like a right-hand zany fighter when the race began, so had to make the deal for southpaw Lou Brissie.

Mixing pitching arms baffles the rival manager. He can't adjust his batting order.

When bull pen action is required, it should be furnished by a right and a left-hander.

Let each man take his regular turn.

Some need longer rests than others. Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon of the Cleveland club, for example, take their regular turns and chip in with some late-inning relief duty as well. They thrive on extra work. It keeps them sharp. Bob Feller, on the other hand, occasionally likes an extra day off.

Such variances generally balance themselves and a regular schedule can be patterned.

You can ruin a pitcher's control using him out of turn.

It's dangerous to the pitcher and the club.

Al Lopez

CHIEF — Here is Caricaturist George Scarbo's pen on Al Lopez. (NEA)

Once a game starts, a manager should keep his eyes open for signs of wildness or weakening.

If a pitcher is wild, get him out of there early, unless you are far enough ahead to go along with him hoping he will settle down. Usually, he won't.

A manager can blow a game in the last two innings by not realizing that the pitcher is tired.

If the opposition jumps on him for a couple of runs, they're hard to get back that late. Time runs out.

Even with a substantial lead, it isn't smart to let a tired pitcher finish. Put your relief man to work. That's what you're paying him for.

A tired pitcher experiences difficulty finding the plate. His stuff is gone. His fast ball isn't hard enough to hurt a rabbit. They'll drill holes through him.

Ask your catcher when you are undecided whether a pitcher is losing his stuff.

He's first to notice it.

Pitchers must be good fielders, able to handle bunts and balls hit right back or just to one side of them.

They must be able to cover any base.

They must be able to pull the pick-off play. Many a game has been won or saved by nailing a napping runner off first or second base.

A mediocre club at the plate can attain greatness if it has superior pitching.

The White Sox of 1906 illustrated that.

That's why they still live as the Hitless Wonders.

NEXT: Charley Dressen of the Dodgers.

Moving into a three-way tie for second place at .323 are Minnie Minoso of Chicago, Ted Williams of Boston and George Kell of Detroit. The averages were computed through Sunday's games.

Limited Schedule For Garden Cagers

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—There will be a small menu for college basketball fans at Madison Square Garden this winter.

Not only will such local favorites as C.C.N.Y. and Long Island University be among the missing but such out-of-town standbys as Kentucky, Kansas State, Bradley, Bowling Green, San Francisco, UCLA, Stanford and Washington State will be absent.

There will be only 18 regular scheduled doubleheaders at Madison Square Garden, the fewest in years. Last year 28 twin bills were scheduled but only 26 were held. C.C.N.Y. and L.I.U. cancelled out of the final two when some of their players were disclosed to have been involved in the widespread fixing scandals.

The 18 college dates are the lowest for the Garden since the 1944-45 seasons when 18 also were played.

Kentucky, which has been coming here off and on since the 1934-35 season, has its own field house now and arranged a home-and-home series with St. John's of Brooklyn before the fix cases broke. This is the year they are to play in Lexington.

St. John's, New York University and Manhattan College will carry the load for the local schools, according to the Garden schedule released yesterday. N.Y.U. will have 15 dates, St. John's 12 and Manhattan nine. Seton Hall University of South Orange, N. J., will make two appearances, against Iona and Western Kentucky.

LIU dropped varsity basketball altogether when its players became involved in the scandal and New York's Board of Higher Education ordered C.C.N.Y. out of the Garden.

Chicoutimi, Quebec — Fernando Gagnon, 117, Quebec, knocked out Merril Olmstead, 118, Springfield, Mass. (5).

Oneonta and Glovers In Can-Am Finals

Homers Feature Decisive Wins

(By The Associated Press)

The champion Oneonta Red Sox and the fourth-place Gloversville Glovers will open the showdown series for the Canadian-American League playoff championship tonight at Oneonta.

The Sox moved into the finals by downing the third-place Amsterdam Rugmakers, 5-3, at Amsterdam last night. The win, Oneonta's third straight in the playoffs, gave the Sox the series, three games to one.

The Glovers eliminated the Pittsfield Electrics, three games to two, with a 5-3 victory at Gloversville.

Paul Aylward of Oneonta hurled a four-hitter in defeating the Ruggers. Gene Hearing hit a two-run homer off the Ruggers' Lou Paz in the fourth, and Archie Geron of the Sox belted one with the bases empty in the fifth.

Homers also spiced the contest at Gloversville. Pittsfield's Dick Zack hit over the 350-foot mark with Charlie Ruddock aboard in the first inning. The Glovers came back with three runs in their half when Pedro Arroyo doubled, Bill McMillan singled him home and Lawson Williams walloped a 340-foot homer.

The Glovers scored the winning runs in the third when Sal Stompiglia, who had walked, scored on a double steal and Bill Long doubled home Williams, who also had walked.

The Electrics picked up their final run in the ninth on Ruddock's single and a double by Tom Ciento.

The line scores:

Oneonta	011 210 000	5	10 3
Amsterdam	110 010 000	3	4 1

Aylward and Atwood; Paz and Miastkowski.
(Oneonta wins semi-final series, 3-0)

Pittsfield	200 000 001	3	5
Gloversville	302 000 00x	5	9

McPhail (L), Glendenning (3), Singley (6) and Fitzgibbons; James, Wargo (1) (W), Barkus (6) and Vogt.
(Gloversville wins semi-final series 3-2)

Musial's .370 Tops National League

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—It's no longer a question of who will capture the National League batting championship but by how big a margin Stan Musial will win it.

Apparently getting better as the season progresses, Musial currently holds a 30-point bulge over his nearest competitor. Through games of Sunday, the St. Louis Cardinal's outfielder and first baseman is hitting .370.

Far behind in the runnerup spot is Richie Ashburn, of the Philadelphia Phillies. He is batting .340. Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn is third with .338.

Gun Club Meets

The first fall meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club will be held at the clubhouse tonight at 8 o'clock. Prizes for the first annual fishing contest will be awarded and refreshments will be served. All members are urged to attend.

Platoon System Appears Doomed

Los Angeles, Sept. 11 (AP)—On the ground that the platoon system is injurious to football, the NCAA's 17-man council will recommend revision of the free substitution rule to the rules committee at the January meeting in Cincinnati.

Prof. Hugh C. Willett of the University of Southern California, NCAA president, told football writers yesterday that the Council itself is unanimously opposed to the platoon system and will urge its reconsideration "to eliminate pressure elements but still protect the physical well-being of the players."

Major Opening

The 8-team Central Rec Major Bowling League will start its season on Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the Central Rec alleys on Railroad avenue.

Jones Dairy Forfeits Playoff Contest to Boulevard Gulf

Have Only Eight Players on Hand

Jones Dairy will try to field nine men for the renewal of the City Baseball League Shaughnessy playoff with Boulevard Gulf on Wednesday evening, after having experienced the extreme embarrassment of a forfeit to the Gulfmen on Monday.

Nobody can recall if anything like that ever happened to the Dairymen during their 10-year regime as champions and a league power.

At game time yesterday, the Dairymen had only eight men on the field and nary a pitcher. Tommy Fisher, who was slated to oppose Bullet Bill Tierney, had a sore arm and Clark Donlon, the other pitching choice, was reported sick.

Lead By Two

The Gulfmen's 9-0 forfeit victory gave them a two-game lead in the best-of-five series and put them in a strong position to sweep the finals when the series is resumed Wednesday.

Bullet Bill Tierney is fully rested and eager for a shot at the Dairymen, while Fisher's arm hardly figures to improve and there is no guarantee that Donlon will be sufficiently improved to take his turn on the mound.

The forfeit was a blow not only to Manager Johnny Schatzel and his crew but to the City League coffers as well. There had been a surprising pickup in the collections at the games since the Shaughnessy playoffs started and there was high hope that a rousing five-game finals between Joneses and Boulevards would go far toward erasing a large part of the operational deficit incurred during the regular season.

Messinger Stunned

Secretary Joe Messinger's reaction to the Jones Dairy forfeit was typical of that expressed by many City League fans.

"The one thing I never expected to live to see happened in the City League last night...the forfeit of a Shaughnessy finals playoff... and Jones Dairy at that!"

"If, by any chance," continued Messinger, "you happen to meet the guy that said everything that can happen to baseball in Kingston is happening this year, tell him that goes double for me."

If Jones Dairy has a complete roster on hand Wednesday and squeezes by the Gulfmen, the fourth game will be played on Thursday at 6 p. m.

If a fifth and final contest is necessary, it will be staged on Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

• A Fabulous Competitor Passes On:

The late Joe Falcaro, whose sudden death a few days ago came as a shock to the bowling world, had a slogan that earned him the nickname of "Chesty Joe" and elicited derision in some quarters of big time bowling.

It went something like this: "I'm the greatest bowler I ever saw." His fans and supporters loved it. His critics and rivals sneered at it.

But Chesty Joe's rating among the all-time great match game shooters is secure. He came from that fabulous era of Jimmy Smith, Billy Knox, Jimmy Blouin, Joe Scribner and other tenpin titans.

Falcaro's colorful, hectic career spanned the old head-to-head match game days to the modern elimination methods. Of the latter he would have none. He was reared in the colorful atmosphere of home-and-home matches for huge purses and his accomplishments as an exhibition bowler have never been equalled.

He was part of that fabulous Golden Era of Sports of Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Babe Ruth, Bill Tilden, Jack Dempsey; the era that sports historians have called the age of wonderful nonsense.

We got to know Joe Falcaro very well in his later years. We met him for the first time in 1932 when he was touring this neck of the woods and accompanied on a couple of trips to Liberty and Monticello.

The trip to Liberty always stands out because on that night of a swirling snowstorm in the mountain stronghold, Falcaro had the mountaineers gasping at the manner in which he assaulted their No. 4 alley. This was supposed to be a toughie which nobody could solve. Chesty Joe cracked it for strikes 14 straight times and racked up an average for seven games that will stand for all-time in Liberty.

Falcaro's on-and-off feud with Andy Varipapa forms one of the legends of the game. Joe reached his peak long before Varipapa, who blossomed out as two-time match game champion in his early 50s. We always felt that Falcaro never gave Varipapa the credit due him, but it was a strange twist of fate that Varipapa was to vault to national fame when Falcaro was lingering in virtual obscurity.

The heated rivalry between these old pals who grew up together fanned into the open with a phenomenal 30-game match test at the old Capitol alleys in New York. Bowling has never seen its equal.

In 30 games on the famed No. 21 and No. 22 alleys at the Capitol, Falcaro dealt Varipapa an unmerciful lacing with a sensational 255 average for the 30-game route. He knocked off two perfect scores of "300" and Andy had one.

There was considerable popping off and challenging in subsequent years but Falcaro and Varipapa never came together again in a showdown test. Falcaro typified the great match game players and there were many observers who always felt that Varipapa could never lick Joe when the chips were down. Varipapa went on to achieve national acclaim as an exhibition bowler and trick shot artist and his two triumphs as national match game champion insured him a niche in the Hall of Fame with Falcaro.

Falcaro and Varipapa were not always enemies. On the contrary, they were teammates on perhaps the most amazing five-man match game squad in the history of bowling. It was a unique aggregation. It rolled and won one $2,000 match and then had to disband because no other tenpin aggregation in the country would dare challenge it.

On that immortal combine were four members of bowling's Hall of Fame and a fifth, Chester Arnhorst, who, although not so prominent nationally, was one of the great pinmen of his day. The others four? Only Joe Falcaro, Andy Varipapa, Barney Spinella and Mort Lindsey.

In later years, Chesty Joe fondly referred to that murderous tenpin crew as "burglars." They walloped a famous Cleveland combine that featured all-time Ohio greats like Walter Ward, Skang Mercurio and Joe Bodis by several thousand pins, took the $2,000 and that was the last time they ever appeared as a unit.

Many other incidents and anecdotes in Joe's illustrious career stand out but those we'll save until a later date.

Joe Falcaro may not have been "the greatest bowler I ever saw," but he was far and away the most colorful character the game has ever produced. And he rolled only 69 perfect scores of "300."

Stranahan Ousted; Urzetta Wins, 4-3

Campbell and Bishop Major Casualties

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 11 (AP)—It doesn't pay to be a favorite in the 51st annual National Amateur golf championship.

If you don't believe it, ask handsome Frank Stranahan, Toledo strongboy, Big Bill Campbell, former West Virginia legislator, or Bobby Knowles, French Amateur champion from Boston.

They were all mentioned as possible 1951 amateur kings. Today they're on the sidelines.

It could be defending champion Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., Walker Cuppers, Willie Turnesa, Charley Coe, Jim McHale, Dick Chapman or Harold Paddock.

Biggest Surprise

Unquestionably the elimination of Stranahan was the opening day's most astounding event. The spark plug heir, who lost the 1950 amateur to Urzetta in a sudden death playoff, was ushered out of the competition by, of all things, a week-end golfer. It was Frank's ninth futile attempt to win a National Amateur championship.

Boz Kuntz, a 29-year-old marketing administrator for a chemical firm, rallied from a two-hole deficit with two holes to play to tie the match in regulation play, and then outgamed the bewildered Stranahan in the second of two extra holes. Kuntz, of Larchmont, N. Y., admitted to having played only 11 weekday games of golf since the first of the year. He plays only on week-ends.

Campbell didn't know it at the time, but he practically predicted his own downfall. Sitting at lunch, Bill remarked that this was the kind of tournament and type of course that might see the top boys falling like tenpins. Then he walked out the door and was almost slaughtered by Lloyd D. Ribner, White Plains, N. Y., 4 and 2. At one point Ribner was five up.

Bob Eckis, Jr., Kenmore, N. Y., a 27-year-old New York insurance salesman whose only claim to fame is a 10-year-old New York junior title, uprooted Knowles, like Stranahan and Campbell, a Walker Cupper. Eckis' one up victory earned him a second-round crack at Francis J. Allan, West Pittston, Pa., who had a first-round bye.

Bishop Falls

Another veteran to fall victim in the wave of upsets was Stanley (Ted) Bishop, white haired Weston, Mass., golfer. Bishop, 1946 amateur champion, received his comeuppance from Billy Joe Patton, 29-year-old lumber salesman from Morganton, N. C., Patton's one up win sends him against Mike Dudik, Johnson City, N. Y. Dudik also had a first round bye.

The hex hanging over favorites didn't bother Urzetta, who turned in the most workmanlike job of the day in disposing of Eugene Zuspann, 36-year-old lawyer from Goodland, Kan.

He rammed home a pair of 25 footers and a 30-footer in playing 15 holes in two under par and won 4 and 3. The opinion here is that it will take a good golfer, having a good day to stop Urzetta's rush toward a second straight amateur crown, a trick unturned since Lawson Little won in 1934 and 1935. Urzetta's second round opponent, who fittingly rested through the first round, is John H. Selby, Dallas, Tex.

Turnesa, Coe, McHale, Chapman and Paddock all had first round byes and are making their tourney trip around the 6,979 yard par 71 course today.

Blaik at Colorado

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 11 (AP)—Bob Blaik, son of Army football coach Earl Blaik, has enrolled at Colorado College, President William H. Gill announced today. Young Blaik, quarterback on his father's great team last season, is one of the cadets ousted in the Army cribbing scandal. Blaik, a senior majoring in physics, will not be eligible for varsity sports here this year.

Braves Sign Tiger

Boston, Sept. 11 (AP)—The Boston Braves yesterday signed Jim Fairchild, former Princeton University outfielder. He will be assigned to the Braves' Evansville farm in the Three-I League. Fairchild played with the Liverpool club in Nova Scotia last summer. A native of Manhasset, Long Island, N. Y., he is 22, weighs 165 pounds and is 5-11.

Manager Should Have Faith in Pitchers, Build Confidence by Showing It — Al Lopez

First of six dispatches by managers of leading major league clubs written for NEA Service

By AL LOPEZ
Indians' Manager

Connie Mack and other pundits long have held that pitching is from 75 to 90 per cent of baseball.

I wouldn't attempt to say just what portion it is of the game, but's a mighty big one.

Look at the Indians.

Once a manager is blessed with a capable staff, he should take great care to handle it properly.

This is the most important thing in connection with managing.

Once a manager has faith in his pitchers he should build their confidence by showing it.

The Indians were like a right-hand zany fighter when the race began, so had to make the deal for southpaw Lou Brissie.

Some need longer rests than others. Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon of the Cleveland club, for example, take their regular turns and chip in with some late-inning relief duty as well. They thrive on extra work. It keeps them sharp. Bob Feller, on the other hand, occasionally likes an extra day off.

Such variances generally balance themselves and a regular schedule can be patterned.

You can ruin a pitcher's control using him out of turn.

It's dangerous to the pitcher and the club.

Al Lopez

CHIEF — Here is Caricaturist George Scarbo's pen on Al Lopez. (NEA)

Once a game starts, a manager should keep his eyes open for signs of wildness or weakening.

If a pitcher is wild, get him out of there early, unless you are far enough ahead to go along with him hoping he will settle down. Usually, he won't.

A manager can blow a game in the last two innings by not realizing that the pitcher is tired.

If the opposition jumps on him for a couple of runs, they're hard to get back that late. Time runs out.

Even with a substantial lead, it isn't smart to let a tired pitcher finish. Put your relief man to work. That's what you're paying him for.

A tired pitcher experiences difficulty finding the plate. His stuff is gone. His fast ball isn't hard enough to hurt a rabbit. They'll drill holes through him.

Ask your catcher when you are undecided whether a pitcher is losing his stuff.

He's first to notice it.

Pitchers must be good fielders, able to handle bunts and balls hit right back or just to one side of them.

They must be able to cover any base.

They must be able to pull the pick-off play. Many a game has been won or saved by nailing a napping runner off first or second base.

A mediocre club at the plate can attain greatness if it has superior pitching.

The White Sox of 1906 illustrated that.

That's why they still live as the Hitless Wonders.

NEXT: Charley Dressen of the Dodgers.

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—There will be a small menu for college basketball fans at Madison Square Garden this winter.

Not only will such local favorites as C.C.N.Y. and Long Island University be among the missing but such out-of-town standbys as Kentucky, Kansas State, Bradley, Bowling Green, San Francisco, UCLA, Stanford and Washington State will be absent.

There will be only 18 regular scheduled doubleheaders at Madison Square Garden, the fewest in years. Last year 28 twin bills were scheduled but only 26 were held. C.C.N.Y. and L.I.U. cancelled out of the final two when some of their players were disclosed to have been involved in the widespread fixing scandals.

The 18 college dates are the lowest for the Garden since the 1944-45 seasons when 18 also were played.

Kentucky, which has been coming here off and on since the 1934-35 season, has its own field house now and arranged a home-and-home series with St. John's of Brooklyn before the fix cases broke. This is the year they are to play in Lexington.

St. John's, New York University and Manhattan College will carry the load for the local schools, according to the Garden schedule released yesterday. N.Y.U. will have 15 dates, St. John's 12 and Manhattan nine. Seton Hall University of South Orange, N. J., will make two appearances, against Iona and Western Kentucky.

LIU dropped varsity basketball altogether when its players became involved in the scandal and New York's Board of Higher Education ordered C.C.N.Y. out of the Garden.

Chicoutimi, Quebec — Fernando Gagnon, 117, Quebec, knocked out Merril Olmstead, 118, Springfield, Mass. (5).

Oneonta and Glovers In Can-Am Finals

Homers Feature Decisive Wins

(By The Associated Press)

The champion Oneonta Red Sox and the fourth-place Gloversville Glovers will open the showdown series for the Canadian-American League playoff championship tonight at Oneonta.

The Sox moved into the finals by downing the third-place Amsterdam Rugmakers, 5-3 at Amsterdam last night. The win, Oneonta's third straight in the playoffs, gave the Sox the series, three games to one.

The Glovers eliminated the Pittsfield Electrics, three games to two, with a 5-3 victory at Gloversville.

Paul Aylward of Oneonta hurled a four-hitter in defeating the Ruggers. Gene Hearing hit a two-run homer off the Ruggers' Lou Paz in the fourth, and Archie Geron of the Sox belted one with the bases empty in the fifth.

Homers also spiced the contest at Gloversville. Pittsfield's Dick Zack hit over the 350-foot mark with Charlie Ruddock aboard in the first inning. The Glovers came back with three runs in their half when Pedro Arroyo doubled, Bill McMillan singled him home and Lawson Williams walloped a 340-foot homer.

The Glovers scored the winning runs in the third when Sal Stampiglia, who had walked, scored on a double steal and Bill Long doubled home Williams, who also had walked.

The line scores:

Oneonta	011 210 000	5	10 3
Amsterdam	110 010 000	3	4 1

Aylward and Atwood; Paz and Miastkowski.
(Oneonta wins semi-final series, 3-1)

Gloversville	302 000 00x	5	9

McPhail (L), Glendenning (3), Sinsley (6) and Fitzgibbons; James, Wargo (1) (W), Barkus (6) and Vogt.
(Gloversville wins semi-final series, 3-2)

Musial's .370 Tops National League

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—It's no longer a question of who will capture the National League batting championship but by how big a margin Stan Musial will win it.

Apparently getting better as the season progresses, Musial currently holds a 30-point bulge over his nearest competitor. Through games of Sunday, the St. Louis Cardinal's outfielder and first baseman is hitting .370.

Far behind in the runnerup spot is Richie Ashburn, of the Philadelphia Phillies. He is batting .340. Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn is third with .338.

Gun Club Meets

The first fall meeting of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club will be held at the clubhouse tonight at 8 o'clock. Prizes for the first annual fishing contest will be awarded and refreshments will be served. All members are urged to attend.

Platoon System Appears Doomed

Los Angeles, Sept. 11 (AP)—On the ground that the platoon system is injurious to football, the NCAA's 17-man council will recommend revision of the free substitution rule to the rules committee at the January meeting in Cincinnati.

Prof. Hugh C. Willett of the University of Southern California, NCAA president, told football writers yesterday that the Council itself is unanimously opposed to the platoon system and will urge its reconsideration "to eliminate pressure elements but still protect the physical well-being of the players."

Major Opening

The 8-team Central Rec Major Bowling League will start its season on Wednesday at 7 p. m. at the Central Rec alleys on Railroad avenue.

Leo Bechtold of the City Minor League and Mitzie Arlensky of the Good Neighbor circuit were the top bowlers in the city last night.

Bechtold fired a 582, with solos of 186, 181 and 215, while Arlensky's 191-177-207-575 string was the best score posted in the Good Neighbor wheel.

Other high shooters in a typical early season scoring range were Bill Murray with 216-548 in the City Minor; Lou Kantrowitz 551 in the Good Neighbor and Pete Tiano and Big Joe Mahar with 538s in the City Minor. Knute Beichert pounded 200-543 in the Independent.

Don Vogel had a 520 in the Independent circuit where Charlie Grunenwald rapped 512; Frank Roe 508; Ray Roux 507 and L. Studt 500.

DeBerry Dies

Savannah, Tenn, Sept. 11 (AP)—One-time Brooklyn Dodger star James Herman (Hank) DeBerry died at his home here yesterday at the age of 56. He was a scout for the New York Giants at the time of his death. His playing career covered 14 years, from the time he broke into organized ball with Paducah, Ky., of the Kitty League, until 1931, when he spent part of the 1931 season with Oakland of the Pacific Coast League.

Odds on Sugar Drop to 9-5

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Strong betting support for middleweight champion Randy Turpin has dropped the odds favoring Ray Robinson down to 9 to 5 today in a very brisk betting market. The price may even fall to 7 to 5.

But if you ask the guys in the fight mob—boxers, trainers and managers—you'll find them split wide apart on the outcome. And most of them believe the 23-year-old Briton should be no worse than even money against Sugar Ray in their 15-round return title bout at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night.

The arguments for both the champ and the ex-champ range through the night when the boys gather over their coffee in the Broadway spots.

But there seems to be a general opinion on one thing—that the 31-year-old "Harlem Dandy had better nail Randy within the first six rounds. Even the pro-Robinson crowd concedes that the unorthodox invader is apt to climb all over Sugar Ray if the bout goes beyond six heats.

The International Boxing Club already has taken in over $425,000 and the fight shapes up as a $600,000 sellout. The Polo Grounds can seat 55,000 for the fight with 15,000 of the chairs in the $30 field ringside sections.

Choice seats in the first ten ringside rows are being peddled for $75 and $100 a copy by some speculators.

Elstons Capture Two in Opener

Elston's Sport Shop opened its Hudson Valley Bowling League season with a 2-1 victory over Middletown Bennetts, Sunday at the Central Recreation.

Rapp's Furniture Express, formerly the Adirondack Trailways, dropped their usual pair to the Saugerties Recs on the upriver village lanes.

Dick Howard's 208—571 led the Elstons who showed a revamped lineup of Larry Weishaupt and Charlie Manfro, formerly of Miron Lumber, and Andy Ferraro, late of the Trailways. The two holdovers are Captain Tom Amato and Howard. Manfro furnished 536 and Weishaupt had 525. "Skip" Congolosi pounded 200-233—616 for the Bennetts.

Clifton Quick's 508 triple was best in the drab Rapp's-Saugerties clash in which three of the team game totals were under 800 and only B. M. Rinaldi crashed the 500-bracket besides Quick. Rinaldi posted 504.

Old Timers Contest Scheduled Sept. 23

Saugerties-Kingston Rivalry to Resume

The date for the second annual Old Timers baseball game between Saugerties and Kingston has been set for Sunday, Sept. 23, at the Athletic Field, it was announced today by co-managers, Joe Hoffman and Tom Davitt.

The contest gets under way at 2:30 p. m. and will feature a host of pre-war baseball stars.

Saugerties won the opener of the series last year at Cantine Field but Messrs. Hoffman and Davitt said nobody could recall the exact score. Both agreed, however, that Saugerties won the game.

The Saugerties ancients have been practicing diligently for several weeks under the guidance of Les Brink, one of the "young old timers" in the game and have high hopes of making it two straight.

Practice Sunday

First practice for the Kingston squad has been scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 16 at the Athletic Field, if the City League's Shaughnessy finals have been completed by that time.

The local post of the American Legion will make available to the teams the locker room and shower facilities of the building and the Kingston team will be host to the Saugerties players at a reception at the Lawton Park pavilion after the game.

William Reynolds, 88 Noted Harness Figure

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 11 (AP)—A career in American harness horse racing that spanned almost a half-century came to an end here yesterday with the death of William Neal Reynolds, 88.

Reynolds, one-time president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., took up harness horse racing shortly after the turn of the century.

As a two-year old, his Tar Heel was the all-time money-winning pacer.

In 1909-1910, his My Shady Bell recorded 15 first and two seconds in 17 starts. The Hambletonian, harness racing's Kentucky Derby, was won by the tobacco magnate's filly Mary Reynolds in 1933.

Reynolds named the great filly for his niece, now Mrs. Charles Babcock of Winston-Salem who in 1943 donated the first $100,000 toward building the $2,500,000 coliseum at North Carolina State College. The building is known as the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum.

Odds on Sugar Drop to 9-5

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Strong betting support for middleweight champion Randy Turpin has dropped the odds favoring Ray Robinson down to 9 to 5 today in a very brisk betting market. The price may even fall to 7 to 5.

But if you ask the guys in the fight mob—boxers, trainers and managers—you'll find them split wide apart on the outcome. And most of them believe the 23-year-old Briton should be no worse than even money against Sugar Ray in their 15-round return title bout at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night.

The arguments for both the champ and the ex-champ range through the night when the boys gather over their coffee in the Broadway spots.

But there seems to be a general opinion on one thing—that the 31-year-old "Harlem Dandy had better nail Randy within the first six rounds. Even the pro-Robinson crowd concedes that the unorthodox invader is apt to climb all over Sugar Ray if the bout goes beyond six heats.

The International Boxing Club already has taken in over $425,000 and the fight shapes up as a $600,000 sellout. The Polo Grounds can seat 55,000 for the fight with 15,000 of the chairs in the $30 field ringside sections.

Choice seats in the first ten ringside rows are being peddled for $75 and $100 a copy by some speculators.

Elstons Capture Two in Opener

Elston's Sport Shop opened its Hudson Valley Bowling League season with a 2-1 victory over Middletown Bennetts, Sunday at the Central Recreation.

Rapp's Furniture Express, formerly the Adirondack Trailways, dropped their usual pair to the Saugerties Recs on the upriver village lanes.

Dick Howard's 208—571 led the Elstons who showed a revamped lineup of Larry Weishaupt and Charlie Manfro, formerly of Miron Lumber, and Andy Ferraro, late of the Trailways. The two holdovers are Captain Tom Amato and Howard. Manfro furnished 536 and Weishaupt had 525. "Skip" Congolosi pounded 200-233—616 for the Bennetts.

Clifton Quick's 508 triple was best in the drab Rapp's-Saugerties clash in which three of the team game totals were under 800 and only B. M. Rinaldi crashed the 500-bracket besides Quick. Rinaldi posted 504.

Old Timers Contest Scheduled Sept. 23

Saugerties-Kingston Rivalry to Resume

The date for the second annual Old Timers baseball game between Saugerties and Kingston has been set for Sunday, Sept. 23, at the Athletic Field, it was announced today by co-managers, Joe Hoffman and Tom Davitt.

The contest gets under way at 2:30 p. m. and will feature a host of pre-war baseball stars.

Saugerties won the opener of the series last year at Cantine Field but Messrs. Hoffman and Davitt said nobody could recall the exact score. Both agreed, however, that Saugerties won the game.

The Saugerties ancients have been practicing diligently for several weeks under the guidance of Les Brink, one of the "young old timers" in the game and have high hopes of making it two straight.

Practice Sunday

First practice for the Kingston squad has been scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 16 at the Athletic Field, if the City League's Shaughnessy finals have been completed by that time.

The local post of the American Legion will make available to the teams the locker room and shower facilities of the building and the Kingston team will be host to the Saugerties players at a reception at the Lawton Park pavilion after the game.

The Kingston lineup is expected to be the same as last year when such old time notables as Bud Culloton, Dutch Glaser, Hank Cragan, Jimmy Merritt, Pres Knight, Charlie Lay, Tommy Davitt, Bill Schwab, Joe Hoffman, Dewey Van Buren, Jimmy Volker, Dick Dulin, Kid Moore and a host of others will be on hand. The complete roster will be released in a couple of days.

John McCardle, who piloted the Kingston All Stars to pre-war prominence has been designated as honorary manager for the Kingston squad.

Odds on Sugar Drop to 9-5

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Strong betting support for middleweight champion Randy Turpin has dropped the odds favoring Ray Robinson down to 9 to 5 today in a very brisk betting market. The price may even fall to 7 to 5.

But if you ask the guys in the fight mob—boxers, trainers and managers—you'll find them split wide apart on the outcome. And most of them believe the 23-year-old Briton should be no worse than even money against Sugar Ray in their 15-round return title bout at the Polo Grounds tomorrow night.

The arguments for both the champ and the ex-champ range through the night when the boys gather over their coffee in the Broadway spots.

But there seems to be a general opinion on one thing—that the 31-year-old Harlem Dandy had better nail Randy within the first six rounds. Even the pro-Robinson crowd concedes that the unorthodox invader is apt to climb all over Sugar Ray if the bout goes beyond six heats.

The International Boxing Club already has taken in over $425,000 and the fight shapes up as a $600,000 sellout. The Polo Grounds can seat 55,000 for the fight with 15,000 of the chairs in the $30 field ringside sections.

Choice seats in the first ten ringside rows are being peddled for $75 and $100 a copy by some speculators.

Elstons Capture Two in Opener

Elston's Sport Shop opened its Hudson Valley Bowling League season with a 2-1 victory over Middletown Bennetts, Sunday at the Central Recreation.

Rapp's Furniture Express, formerly the Adirondack Trailways, dropped their usual pair to the Saugerties Recs on the upriver village lanes.

Dick Howard's 208—571 led the Elstons who showed a revamped lineup of Larry Weishaupt and Charlie Manfro, formerly of Miron Lumber, and Andy Ferraro, late of the Trailways. The two holdovers are Captain Tom Amato and Howard. Manfro furnished 536 and Weishaupt had 525. "Skip" Congolosi pounded 200-233—616 for the Bennetts.

Clifton Quick's 508 triple was best in the drab Rapp's-Saugerties clash in which three of the team game totals were under 800 and only B. M. Rinaldi crashed the 500-bracket besides Quick. Rinaldi posted 504.

Old Timers Contest Scheduled Sept. 23

Saugerties-Kingston Rivalry to Resume

The date for the second annual Old Timers baseball game between Saugerties and Kingston has been set for Sunday, Sept. 23, at the Athletic Field, it was announced today by co-managers, Joe Hoffman and Tom Davitt.

The contest gets under way at 2:30 p. m. and will feature a host of pre-war baseball stars.

Saugerties won the opener of the series last year at Cantine Field but Messrs. Hoffman and Davitt said nobody could recall the exact score. Both agreed, however, that Saugerties won the game.

The Saugerties ancients have been practicing diligently for several weeks under the guidance of Les Brink, one of the "young old timers" in the game and have high hopes of making it two straight.

Practice Sunday

First practice for the Kingston squad has been scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 16 at the Athletic Field, if the City League's Shaughnessy finals have been completed by that time.

The local post of the American Legion will make available to the teams the locker room and shower facilities of the building and the Kingston team will be host to the Saugerties players at a reception at the Lawton Park pavilion after the game.

The Kingston lineup is expected to be the same as last year when such old time notables as Bud Culloton, Dutch Glaser, Hank Cragan, Jimmy Merritt, Pres Knight, Charlie Lay, Tommy Davitt, Bill Schwab, Joe Hoffman, Dewey Van Buren, Jimmy Volker, Dick Dulin, Kid Moore and a host of others will be on hand. The complete roster will be released in a couple of days.

John McCardle, who piloted the Kingston All Stars to pre-war prominence has been designated as honorary manager for the Kingston squad.

No Kidding

Chicago, Sept. 11 (AP)—The National Boxing Association will vote on a resolution at its closing session of a three-day convention today to make a boxing champion defend his crown within six months or forfeit it. The NBA seeks legislation with teeth in it to require champions to face NBA-specified logical contenders within the six-month limit or have their title recognition withdrawn.

William Reynolds, 88 Noted Harness Figure

Winston-Salem, N. C., Sept. 11 (AP)—A career in American harness horse racing that spanned almost a half-century came to an end here yesterday with the death of William Neal Reynolds, 88.

Reynolds, one-time president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., took up harness horse racing shortly after the turn of the century.

As a two-year old, his Tar Heel was the all-time money-winning pacer.

In 1909-1910, his My Shady Bell recorded 15 first and two seconds in 17 starts. The Hambletonian, harness racing's Kentucky Derby, was won by the tobacco magnate's filly Mary Reynolds in 1933.

Reynolds named the great filly for his niece, now Mrs. Charles Babcock of Winston-Salem who in 1943 donated the first $100,000 toward building the $2,500,000 coliseum at North Carolina State College. The building is known as the William Neal Reynolds Coliseum.

Ford and Chrysler File for Increases

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Ford and Chrysler filed requests for increased prices yesterday with the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS).

The office announced last Friday it would let auto makers raise new car prices by three to seven per cent, in view of increased production costs.

Ford's proposed increases were based on wholesale prices, to dealers. They were reported to be:

Fords—A 4.31 increase, ranging from $41.35 to $65.91.

Lincoln Cosmopolitans—2.50 per cent, ranging from $56.90 to $70.77.

Other Lincolns—3.87 per cent, ranging from $69.57 to $75.06.

Chrysler Bases

Chrysler based its percentage increases on retail prices at the factory. The company said it boosts averaged 6.5 per cent. As announced, they included:

Chrysler Windsor—$156.

De Soto Custom—$147.

Dodge Coronet 4-door sedan—$117.

Plymouth Cranbrook 4-door sedan—$108.

General Motors is expected to file proposed new prices on its line soon.

The new prices go into effect five days after OPS approval.

"WHA HOPPEN?"—Whatever is happening off to the left seems to have sparked startled stares from crooner Frank Sinatra and his girl friend, Ava Gardner. Frankie is appearing at a Las Vegas, night club while arranging for a quickie divorce from his wife, Nancy, that will free him to marry Ava.

Miss America Has Advice for Beauty; Has 7 Boy Friends

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—"Be yourself, get lots of rest and don't live a fast life."

That was the advice Miss America 1952 gave today to American women on how to be beautiful.

Miss Colleen Kay Hutchins, 25, of Salt Lake City, Utah, who won the Atlantic City, N. J., beauty contest, expressed her theories on how to be beautiful at a breakfast news conference.

She revealed, too, that she did not drink coffee, smoke cigarettes or drink intoxicating beverages. And she has "seven boy friends."

Miss Hutchins, who is five feet ten inches tall in her stocking feet, towered over her interviewers. She was wearing blue calf pumps with four inch heels.

Her costume consisted of a white turtle-neck sheer wool sweater which she admitted she was advised to wear, a navy blue skirt and a gold and white knitted stole.

Claims New Record

Brescia, Italy, Sept. 11 (AP)—Enzo Basile, 34, of Taranto, claimed a new world dancing record of 1,226 hours—51 days and two hours—today. Basile said he danced 16 hours more than a previous record set by Guido Amato, of Naples. He danced with rests of 15 minutes every hour under control of a local committee. Doctors checked Basile's condition after he ended his performance. They said he gained two pounds since he started dancing July 21.

Braden Accuses Peron

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Spruille Braden, U. S. ambassador in Argentina for five months in 1945, accuses Juan Peron of threatening to have him and American newsmen there assassinated. Peron then was vice president and headed the war and labor ministries. Now he is president. Peron said American writers in Buenos Aires were beaten by Peron's Nationalist hoodlums and others were threatened with physical mistreatment.

DePalma Taken to City

Frank DePalma, 36, arrested Saturday at Wallkill where federal men, deputy sheriffs and state troopers raided a still, was taken Monday afternoon to New York city by federal men where he will be held in $2,000 bail for federal court. Prior to leaving the Ulster county jail, DePalma was questioned regarding other activities in the illicit liquor trade. Having been arrested several times previously in connection with illegal liquor operations, officials believe DePalma may be associated with a ring operating over a wide area.

Four Persons Killed

Westcliff, Eng., Sept. 11 (AP)—Four persons were killed after a Royal Air Force Jet Meteor plane exploded in the air over this resort town yesterday. The blast killed the plane's pilot. The plane's engines set one house afire, killing a man and two women occupants, and demolished part of another house.

Foreign Ministers Meet at Capital

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman meet Secretary of State Acheson separately today with these problems in their little black bags:

What to do in Korea if ceasefire talks collapse for good (with a query from Acheson if the British, French and others can't contribute more troops)?

How to keep mounting world prices from stifling the west's arms buildup?

How to deal with anti-French independence movements in Morocco and Indo-China (both strategic spots in the fight against communism)?

First to Visit Acheson

Morrison was first to visit Acheson. It was his second day of official talks. Diplomats said he was prepared to tell Acheson swelling prices have made the arms budget a crushing burden on Britain and other North Atlantic allies.

British Treasury Chief Hugh Gaitskell, who has been telling other U. S. officials the same story in economic conferences in recent days, was expected to be called in. He has sought reassurances that Britain can get needed steel from the United States, estimated by the British at some 800,000 tons in the next year.

What further economic measures are proposed has not been indicated, beyond some means of strengthening the effort already being made by the international materials conference to divide scarce raw materials among the principal western consumers without boosting prices. Gaitskell has indicated Britain will not ask new American financial aid at this time. Some sort of international price stabilization appears to be the British aim.

Big Question

What the United Nations allies should do if full scale fighting starts up again in Korea was a standout question in a scheduled review of Far East problems. Acheson, officials said, was ready to ask for larger contributions by other UN allies to halt any Communist onslaught. During Senate debate yesterday, U. S. forces in Korea were put at 443,000.

Acheson was to meet with French Foreign Minister Schuman in the afternoon.

The Big Three meeting opened yesterday with a three hour conference between Acheson and Morrison devoted in part to the Iranian oil crisis and the breakdown of efforts to find a solution. If any decisions were reached they were undisclosed.

Tomorrow, all three foreign ministers will get together in their first such three-power meeting since last year, with the primary aim of ironing out remaining details of a proposed new partnership deal to be offered western Germany.

One Killed, Six Hurt

Anchorage, Alaska, Sept. 11 (AP)—A B-17 bomber crash landed 100 miles north of Anchorage yesterday, killing one man and injuring six others. An engine exploded while the craft was flying at 11,000 feet, causing the landing. The accident was the 14th in a string of Alaska air disasters which, in the last seven weeks, claimed a toll of 95 dead or missing. Only one of the injured in yesterday's crash was hurt seriously, but he is expected to recover.

Calls It Quits

Hollywood, Sept. 11 (AP)—Lana Turner is calling it quits after three years of marriage with millionaire sportsman Henry J. (Bob) Topping. They quarreled several weeks ago. Topping left home, ostensiblhy on a fishing trip. Miss Turner said she has no definite plans "at the moment" about instituting a divorce action.

WORRIED MIND—A man with plenty of troubles is Iranian Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh, seen resting in his hospital bed at Tehran. Mossadegh bucks opposition from many quarters as his oil nationalization plan breeds new crises for Iran.

Czech Engineer Takes Train, 107 Into West Zone

Hof, Germany, Sept. 11 (AP)—A Czech locomotive engineer made a successful dash today across the border to the freedom of west Germany, bringing with him 107 passengers in three train cars.

The train was en route from Eger in Czechoslovakia to Asch near the west German border.

Port Ewen Collision

Two cars were damaged in a collision on Main street, Port Ewen, Monday afternoon about 4:20 o'clock but no one was injured. A car operated by John H. Benton, 22, of Catskill R.D. 2, an employe of Hercules Powder Company was proceeding northerly on 9W in a line of cars coming from the plant when his car was in collision with the parked car of Mrs. Viva Johnson, 43, of 17 East Genesee street of Perry, who is now staying at 9 Andrew street. Mrs. Johnson's son, Melvin, who was in the car was uninjured. Both cars received minor damage. The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff W. R. Churchill. Mrs. Johnson was in the Doyle home at the time of the accident.

Seven Plead Innocent

Mays Landing, N. J., Sept. 11 (AP)—Atlantic City Police Chief Harry Saunders and six members of his department pleaded innocent yesterday to charges of tolerating gambling. They were indicted for misconduct in office in the aftermath of a U. S. Senate crime report which held that the resort city was in the hands of a well-oiled machine that protected gambling.

Ultimatum Is Sent via Capital

Tehran, Iran, Sept. 11 (AP)—Iran's ultimatum giving Britain two weeks to resume talks about their oil dispute is being forwarded by way of Washington today, a government spokesman said.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was unable to get Parliament approval of his move. But the premier went ahead with his plan in the face of outspoken opposition by 14 deputies who braved assassination threats to defy his policy and despite British moves to cripple Iran's finances.

The plan calls for Britain to resume negotiations on Mossadegh's oil nationalization policies or see the 300 British technicians remaining at the old Anglo-Iranian Company's Abadan refinery thrown out of the country.

The ultimatum was routed to Nasrollah Entezam, Iran's ambassador in Washington, to turn over to W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's special envoy who tried to mediate the quarrel.

The government spokesman said Harriman promised when he left Iran that he would do anything further to help settle the dispute. Harriman will be asked to relay the ultimatum to London.

Communique Signed

The opposition deputies signed a communique accusing the premier of making enemies of Britain and the U. S.

It charged him with failing to carry out promises of riches he made when he pushed through a law nationalizing the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company installations four months ago.

Fanatic Nationalist front supporters of the premier last week threatened assassination for those who opposed Mossadegh's policies. His followers denounced the communique signers as pro-British—a term synonymous with "traitor" to the Nationalists.

Some opponents talked of trying to unseat the premier in the next two weeks.

(Britain's move to cut off Iran's dollar sources was interpreted as a clear bid to force out Mossadegh and get some one more amenable to deal with).

Britain had guaranteed Iran foreign currency, including dollars, in return for oil concessions. Deputy Premier Hossein Fatimi said the British treasury order was a violation of the British-Iranian currency agreement which has two months to run.

The British said that the measures can be revoked if the Iranian government comes to terms on the oil dispute.

Cyclists to Get Chance

Spotswood, N. J., Sept. 11 (AP)—Teen-age bicyclists in this borough are going to get the chance to police themselves. After numerous complaints, Police Chief Vincent Woodmansee called a special powwow with the youngsters. They decided they should enforce bicycle regulations. Woodmansee promptly agreed and the youngsters formed a club from which they will select a judge and four jurors to try violators who will get summonses from juvenile "policemen."

Port Ewen Scouts

Boy Scout Troop No. 26 of Port Ewen will meet at the Boy Scout rooms there tonight at 7:30. This is their first meeting of the fall season, and all Scouts are requested to attend.

Barry Day Proclaimed

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—Governor Dewey today proclaimed Thursday as Commodore John Barry Day in New York state. Dewey said Barry was the first regularly commissioned American officer to capture an enemy vessel in the Revolution and also "served brilliantly" against the pirates of Algiers. The governor said it was "fitting" that Barry's work be commemorated.

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—The first group of parking meters to be installed in the city on a trial basis will be placed in operation Sept. 19 in 125th street, Manhattan, the department of traffic announced yesterday. By the end of October, 1,427 meters will be installed at five selected locations in Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx and Queens.

De Soto Custom—$147.

Dodge Coronet 4-door sedan—$117.

Plymouth Cranbrook 4-door sedan—$108.

Need Engineers

A new examination for filling positions in all branches of engineering was announced today by the United States Civil Service Commission. The positions, carrying salaries ranging from $3,100 to $10,000 a year, are located in Washington, D. C. and vicinity. Sanitary engineer positions in the United States Public Health Service located throughout the country will also be filled. Full information and applications may be obtained from William P. Barry, the commission's local secretary, at the Postoffice building in Kingston. The applications will be accepted in the commission's central office in Washington until further notice.

Miss America Has Advice for Beauty; Has 7 Boy Friends

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—"Be yourself, get lots of rest and don't live a fast life."

That was the advice Miss America 1952 gave today to American women on how to be beautiful.

Miss Colleen Kay Hutchins, 25, of Salt Lake City, Utah, who won the Atlantic City, N. J., beauty contest, expressed her theories on how to be beautiful at a breakfast news conference.

She revealed, too, that she did not drink coffee, smoke cigarettes or drink intoxicating beverages. And she has "seven boy friends."

Miss Hutchins, who is five feet ten inches tall in her stocking feet, towered over her interviewers. She was wearing blue calf pumps with four inch heels.

Her costume consisted of a white turtle-neck sheer wool sweater which she admitted she was advised to wear, a navy blue skirt and a gold and white knitted stole.

Claims New Record

Brescia, Italy, Sept. 11 (AP)—Enzo Basile, 34, of Taranto, claimed a new world dancing record of 1,226 hours—51 days and two hours—today. Basile said he danced 16 hours more than a previous record set by Guido Amato, of Naples. He danced with rests of 15 minutes every hour under control of a local committee. Doctors checked Basile's condition after he ended his performance. They said he gained two pounds since he started dancing July 21.

Braden Accuses Peron

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Spruille Braden, U. S. ambassador in Argentina for five months in 1945, accuses Juan Peron of threatening to have him and American newsmen there assassinated. Peron then was vice president and headed the war and labor ministries. Now he is president. Peron said American writers in Buenos Aires were beaten by Peron's Nationalist hoodlums and others were threatened with physical mistreatment.

DePalma Taken to City

Frank DePalma, 36, arrested Saturday at Wallkill where federal men, deputy sheriffs and state troopers raided a still, was taken Monday afternoon to New York city by federal men where he will be held in $2,000 bail for federal court. Prior to leaving the Ulster county jail, DePalma was questioned regarding other activities in the illicit liquor trade. Having been arrested several times previously in connection with illegal liquor operations, officials believe DePalma may be associated with a ring operating over a wide area.

Four Persons Killed

Westcliff, Eng., Sept. 11 (AP)—Four persons were killed after a Royal Air Force Jet Meteor plane exploded in the air over this resort town yesterday. The blast killed the plane's pilot. The plane's engines set one house afire, killing a man and two women occupants, and demolished part of another house.

Foreign Ministers Meet at Capital

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman meet Secretary of State Acheson separately today with these problems in their little black bags:

What to do in Korea if cease-fire talks collapse for good (with a query from Acheson if the British, French and others can't contribute more troops)?

How to keep mounting world prices from stifling the west's arms buildup?

How to deal with anti-French independence movements in Morocco and Indo-China (both strategic spots in the fight against communism)?

First to Visit Acheson

Morrison was first to visit Acheson. It was his second day of official talks. Diplomats said he was prepared to tell Acheson swelling prices have made the arms budget a crushing burden on Britain and other North Atlantic allies.

British Treasury Chief Hugh Gaitskell, who has been telling other U. S. officials the same story in economic conferences in recent days, was expected to be called in. He has sought reassurances that Britain can get needed steel from the United States, estimated by the British at some 800,000 tons in the next year.

What further economic measures are proposed has not been indicated, beyond some means of strengthening the effort already being made by the international materials conference to divide scarce raw materials among the principal western consumers without boosting prices. Gaitskell has indicated Britain will not ask new American financial aid at this time. Some sort of international price stabilization appears to be the British aim.

Claims New Record

Brescia, Italy, Sept. 11 (AP)—Enzo Basile, 34, of Taranto, claimed a new world dancing record of 1,226 hours—51 days and two hours—today. Basile said he danced 16 hours more than a previous record set by Guido Amato, of Naples. He danced with rests of 15 minutes every hour under control of a local committee. Doctors checked Basile's condition after he ended his performance. They said he gained two pounds since he started dancing July 21.

Braden Accuses Peron

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Spruille Braden, U. S. ambassador in Argentina for five months in 1945, accuses Juan Peron of threatening to have him and American newsmen there assassinated. Peron then was vice president and headed the war and labor ministries. Now he is president. Peron said American writers in Buenos Aires were beaten by Peron's Nationalist hoodlums and others were threatened with physical mistreatment.

DePalma Taken to City

Frank DePalma, 36, arrested Saturday at Wallkill where federal men, deputy sheriffs and state troopers raided a still, was taken Monday afternoon to New York city by federal men where he will be held in $2,000 bail for federal court. Prior to leaving the Ulster county jail, DePalma was questioned regarding other activities in the illicit liquor trade. Having been arrested several times previously in connection with illegal liquor operations, officials believe DePalma may be associated with a ring operating over a wide area.

Four Persons Killed

Westcliff, Eng., Sept. 11 (AP)—Four persons were killed after a Royal Air Force Jet Meteor plane exploded in the air over this resort town yesterday. The blast killed the plane's pilot. The plane's engines set one house afire, killing a man and two women occupants, and demolished part of another house.

Foreign Ministers Meet at Capital

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman meet Secretary of State Acheson separately today with these problems in their little black bags:

What to do in Korea if ceasefire talks collapse for good (with a query from Acheson if the British, French and others can't contribute more troops)?

How to keep mounting world prices from stifling the west's arms buildup?

How to deal with anti-French independence movements in Morocco and Indo-China (both strategic spots in the fight against communism)?

First to Visit Acheson

Morrison was first to visit Acheson. It was his second day of official talks. Diplomats said he was prepared to tell Acheson swelling prices have made the arms budget a crushing burden on Britain and other North Atlantic allies.

British Treasury Chief Hugh Gaitskell, who has been telling other U. S. officials the same story in economic conferences in recent days, was expected to be called in. He has sought reassurances that Britain can get needed steel from the United States, estimated by the British at some 800,000 tons in the next year.

What further economic measures are proposed has not been indicated, beyond some means of strengthening the effort already being made by the international materials conference to divide scarce raw materials among the principal western consumers without boosting prices. Gaitskell has indicated Britain will not ask new American financial aid at this time. Some sort of international price stabilization appears to be the British aim.

Big Question

What the United Nations allies should do if full scale fighting starts up again in Korea was a standout question in a scheduled review of Far East problems. Acheson, officials said, was ready to ask for larger contributions by other UN allies to halt any Communist onslaught. During Senate debate yesterday, U. S. forces in Korea were put at 443,000.

Acheson was to meet with French Foreign Minister Schuman in the afternoon.

The Big Three meeting opened yesterday with a three hour conference between Acheson and Morrison devoted in part to the Iranian oil crisis and the breakdown of efforts to find a solution. If any decisions were reached they were undisclosed.

Tomorrow, all three foreign ministers will get together in their first such three-power meeting since last year, with the primary aim of ironing out remaining details of a proposed new partnership deal to be offered western Germany.

One Killed, Six Hurt

Anchorage, Alaska, Sept. 11 (AP)—A B-17 bomber crash landed 100 miles north of Anchorage yesterday, killing one man and injuring six others. An engine exploded while the craft was flying at 11,000 feet, causing the landing. The accident was the 14th in a string of Alaska air disasters which, in the last seven weeks, claimed a toll of 95 dead or missing. Only one of the injured in yesterday's crash was hurt seriously, but he is expected to recover.

Calls It Quits

Hollywood, Sept. 11 (AP)—Lana Turner is calling it quits after three years of marriage with millionaire sportsman Henry J. (Bob) Topping. They quarreled several weeks ago. Topping left home, ostensiblhy on a fishing trip. Miss Turner said she has no definite plans "at the moment" about instituting a divorce action.

Czech Engineer Takes Train, 107 Into West Zone

Hof, Germany, Sept. 11 (AP)—A Czech locomotive engineer made a successful dash today across the border to the freedom of west Germany, bringing with him 107 passengers in three train cars.

The train was en route from Eger in Czechoslovakia to Asch near the west German border.

When the train neared Asch, it detoured on another track so that it could continue to Selb-Ploeszberg, west German border station.

Port Ewen Collision

Two cars were damaged in a collision on Main street, Port Ewen, Monday afternoon about 4:20 o'clock but no one was injured. A car operated by John H. Benton, 22, of Catskill R.D. 2, an employe of Hercules Powder Company was proceeding northerly on 9W in a line of cars coming from the plant when his car was in collision with the parked car of Mrs. Viva Johnson, 43, of 17 East Genesee street of Perry, who is now staying at 9 Andrew street. Mrs. Johnson's son, Melvin, who was in the car was uninjured. Both cars received minor damage. The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff W. R. Churchill. Mrs. Johnson was in the Doyle home at the time of the accident.

Seven Plead Innocent

Mays Landing, N. J., Sept. 11 (AP)—Atlantic City Police Chief Harry Saunders and six members of his department pleaded innocent yesterday to charges of tolerating gambling. They were indicted for misconduct in office in the aftermath of a U. S. Senate crime report which held that the resort city was in the hands of a well-oiled machine that protected gambling.

Ultimatum Is Sent via Capital

Tehran, Iran, Sept. 11 (AP)—Iran's ultimatum giving Britain two weeks to resume talks about their oil dispute is being forwarded by way of Washington today, a government spokesman said.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was unable to get Parliament approval of his move. But the premier went ahead with his plan in the face of outspoken opposition by 14 deputies who braved assassination threats to defy his policy and despite British moves to cripple Iran's finances.

The plan calls for Britain to resume negotiations on Mossadegh's oil nationalization policies or see the 300 British technicians remaining at the old Anglo-Iranian Company's Abadan refinery thrown out of the country.

The ultimatum was routed to Nasrollah Entezam, Iran's ambassador in Washington, to turn over to W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's special envoy who tried to mediate the quarrel.

The government spokesman said Harriman promised when he left Iran that he would do anything further to help settle the dispute. Harriman will be asked to relay the ultimatum to London.

Communique Signed

The opposition deputies signed a communique accusing the premier of making enemies of Britain and the U. S.

It charged him with failing to carry out promises of riches he made when he pushed through a law nationalizing the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company installations four months ago.

Fanatic Nationalist front supporters of the premier last week threatened assassination for those who opposed Mossadegh's policies. His followers denounced the communique signers as pro-British—a term synonymous with "traitor" to the Nationalists.

Some opponents talked of trying to unseat the premier in the next two weeks.

(Britain's move to cut off Iran's dollar sources was interpreted as a clear bid to force out Mossadegh and get some one more amenable to deal with).

Britain had guaranteed Iran foreign currency, including dollars, in return for oil concessions. Deputy Premier Hossein Fatimi said the British treasury order was a violation of the British-Iranian currency agreement which has two months to run.

The British said that the measures can be revoked if the Iranian government comes to terms on the oil dispute.

Cyclists to Get Chance

Spotswood, N. J., Sept. 11 (AP)—Teen-age bicyclists in this borough are going to get the chance to police themselves. After numerous complaints, Police Chief Vincent Woodmansee called a special powwow with the youngsters. They decided they should enforce bicycle regulations. Woodmansee promptly agreed and the youngsters formed a club from which they will select a judge and four jurors to try violators who will get summonses from juvenile "policemen."

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—Governor Dewey today proclaimed Thursday as Commodore John Barry Day in New York state. Dewey said Barry was the first regularly commissioned American officer to capture an enemy vessel in the Revolution and also "served brilliantly" against the pirates of Algiers. The governor said it was "fitting" that Barry's work be commemorated.

Donaldson Called 'Stupidest Person God Ever Created'

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—William C. Doherty of Cincinnati, Ohio, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, says the postmaster general is, "from an administrative standpoint, the stupidest person God ever created."

Doherty lashed out at Jesse M. Donaldson at yesterday's session of the Biennial Convention of the New York State Letter Carriers Association.

He charged that Donaldson had consistently blocked all legislative which would benefit letter carriers. He added:

"This is a man who has been receiving 26 days of annual leave ever since the Democrats took over. The same man who once took a $4,000 check from U. S. Treasury in lieu of the accumulated leave and who stated publicly that 15 days annual leave is enough for any man."

Says Increase Ahead

Doherty told the mail carriers they can expect a salary increase before the adjournment of the present congress. He said it would range between $320 and $400 annually and would be granted "in spite of, and not because of, the postmaster general."

The association head's speech came after delegates had stamped their approval on a resolution rapping the administration's action in reducing annual leave for postal employes.

Donaldson, informed in Washington of Doherty's statements, commented:

"I do not care to get into a quarrel with a postal employe and I will refrain from doing it."

The state convention here ends today.

Local K. of C. Plans 'Day of Recollection'

At a recent meeting of the Knights of Columbus, it was announced by Harold W. O'Connor, Catholic action chairman, that plans have been completed for the third annual "day of recollection," which will be held on Sunday, October 7, at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus. The program will begin with a high Mass at 8 a. m. and close with solemn benediction at 3 p. m.

Chairman O'Connor stated that as in the past, this very popular activity by the local Knights should have a record attendance. Anyone desiring tickets may obtain them from the Catholic action committee, comprised of John McManus, Joseph Saccoman, W. Kenneth Geary, James V. Geary, Joseph Sullivan, Ralph Carpino, Frank Lynch and Kenneth Clark. In addition to the committee members, tickets may also be procured from Arthur Madden, custodian at the council home, Raymond Long, Andrew McDermott, Francis Carroll, Frank Reis, Harold Reis, John Whitaker, Victor Mahoney and Grand Knight Charles Trice.

O'Connor stated that the full program for the day of recollection would be announced during the next week and again stressed the importance of getting tickets now in order to avoid disappointment.

Donaldson Called 'Stupidest Person God Ever Created'

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—William C. Doherty of Cincinnati, Ohio, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, says the postmaster general is, "from an administrative standpoint, the stupidest person God ever created."

Doherty lashed out at Jesse M. Donaldson at yesterday's session of the Biennial Convention of the New York State Letter Carriers Association.

He charged that Donaldson had consistently blocked all legislative which would benefit letter carriers. He added:

"This is a man who has been receiving 26 days of annual leave ever since the Democrats took over. The same man who once took a $4,000 check from U. S. Treasury in lieu of the accumulated leave and who stated publicly that 15 days annual leave is enough for any man."

Says Increase Ahead

Doherty told the mail carriers they can expect a salary increase before the adjournment of the present congress. He said it would range between $320 and $400 annually and would be granted "in spite of, and not because of, the postmaster general."

The association head's speech came after delegates had stamped their approval on a resolution rapping the administration's action in reducing annual leave for postal employes.

Donaldson, informed in Washington of Doherty's statements, commented:

"I do not care to get into a quarrel with a postal employe and I will refrain from doing it."

The state convention here ends today.

Local K. of C. Plans 'Day of Recollection'

At a recent meeting of the Knights of Columbus, it was announced by Harold W. O'Connor, Catholic action chairman, that plans have been completed for the third annual "day of recollection," which will be held on Sunday, October 7, at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus. The program will begin with a high Mass at 8 a. m. and close with solemn benediction at 3 p. m.

Chairman O'Connor stated that as in the past, this very popular activity by the local Knights should have a record attendance. Anyone desiring tickets may obtain them from the Catholic action committee, comprised of John McManus, Joseph Saccoman, W. Kenneth Geary, James V. Geary, Joseph Sullivan, Ralph Carpino, Frank Lynch and Kenneth Clark. In addition to the committee members, tickets may also be procured from Arthur Madden, custodian at the council home, Raymond Long, Andrew McDermott, Francis Carroll, Frank Reis, Harold Reis, John Whitaker, Victor Mahoney and Grand Knight Charles Trice.

O'Connor stated that the full program for the day of recollection would be announced during the next week and again stressed the importance of getting tickets now in order to avoid disappointment.

Donaldson Called 'Stupidest Person God Ever Created'

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 11 (AP)—William C. Doherty of Cincinnati, Ohio, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, says the postmaster general is, "from an administrative standpoint, the stupidest person God ever created."

Doherty lashed out at Jesse M. Donaldson at yesterday's session of the Biennial Convention of the New York State Letter Carriers Association.

He charged that Donaldson had consistently blocked all legislative which would benefit letter carriers. He added:

"This is a man who has been receiving 26 days of annual leave ever since the Democrats took over. The same man who once took a $4,000 check from U. S. Treasury in lieu of the accumulated leave and who stated publicly that 15 days annual leave is enough for any man."

Says Increase Ahead

Doherty told the mail carriers they can expect a salary increase before the adjournment of the present congress. He said it would range between $320 and $400 annually and would be granted "in spite of, and not because of, the postmaster general."

The association head's speech came after delegates had stamped their approval on a resolution rapping the administration's action in reducing annual leave for postal employes.

Donaldson, informed in Washington of Doherty's statements, commented:

"I do not care to get into a quarrel with a postal employe and I will refrain from doing it."

The state convention here ends today.

Local K. of C. Plans 'Day of Recollection'

At a recent meeting of the Knights of Columbus, it was announced by Harold W. O'Connor, Catholic action chairman, that plans have been completed for the third annual "day of recollection," which will be held on Sunday, October 7, at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus. The program will begin with a high Mass at 8 a. m. and close with solemn benediction at 3 p. m.

Chairman O'Connor stated that as in the past, this very popular activity by the local Knights should have a record attendance. Anyone desiring tickets may obtain them from the Catholic action committee, comprised of John McManus, Joseph Saccoman, W. Kenneth Geary, James V. Geary, Joseph Sullivan, Ralph Carpino, Frank Lynch and Kenneth Clark. In addition to the committee members, tickets may also be procured from Arthur Madden, custodian at the council home, Raymond Long, Andrew McDermott, Francis Carroll, Frank Reis, Harold Reis, John Whitaker, Victor Mahoney and Grand Knight Charles Trice.

O'Connor stated that the full program for the day of recollection would be announced during the next week and again stressed the importance of getting tickets now in order to avoid disappointment.

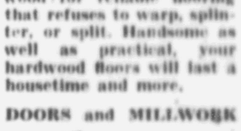
TEST of TIMBER

Seasoned Lumber Weathers The Storm Like An "Old Salt"

When those old "Windjammers" set out to sea, all hands pinned their hopes for safety on the strength of the masts. They were constructed of the soundest oak—carefully selected and seasoned to stand up under the strain of blustery blows. Before sailing into the teeth of the wind, a skipper worth his salt knew of the strength and flexibility of his masts.

LUMBER FOR LANDLUBBERS

We're every bit as fussy as those "Ancient Mariners". All lumber in our yard must pass rigid specifications before it is offered to our customers. As the average layman is pretty green about the various grades of lumber and its uses, we'll gladly set you on the right beam by recommending the best grade for framing, for woodwork, for any project you have in mind. Stop in and inspect our stocks of air dried and kiln dried lumber — See the "difference".



We'll recommend hardwood for reliable flooring that refuses to warp, splinter, or split. Handsome as well as practical, your hardwood floors will last a housetime and more.

DOORS and MILLWORK

See us for custom-built doors and windows that fit like a glove. Made to order in our own mill from fine seasoned lumber that defies shrinkage.
